"When It's Over It's Time To: Find The Lost

Scripture: Luke 15:4-7

It was a typical Saturday morning in the little Galilean town. Everything was at a standstill because it was the Sabbath. The people had assembled in the Synagogue to worship God. The Shema had been recited and the a portion of the Jewish Law from Moses had been read according to custom so that the entire Law was read completely through once every three years. Now it was time for the reading from one of the prophets. A young man EREXE who had been invited to read and speak that morning arose and asked for the scroll of the prophet Isaiah. He opened the scroll and began to read from chapter 61, vers 1, (read Luke 4:18-19). He rolled up the scroll and handed it to the synagogue attendant and sat down. Now it was time for this guest to preach. Everyone in attendance anxiously awaited to hear what he would say. His first words were, "This day is this Scripture fulfilled in your ears." The young man of course was Jesus; the town was Nazareth and since He was a local boy whose fame had preceeded Him, He was invited to speak when He came back to His hometown. The words He read defined what His ministry was to be. line for Jesus' earthly ministry: to preach the Gospel to the poor; to heal the brokenhearted; to preach deliverance to the captives! the recovering of dight to the blind; to set at liberty those who are bruised; and to preach th acceptable year of the Lord.

A man named Howard Thurman perhaps writing along these lines in a paralell manner writes:

When the song of the angels is silent When the star in the sky is gone When the kings and the princes are home When the shepherds are again tending their sheep When the manger is darkened and still The work of Christmas begins To find the lost To heal the broken To feed the hungry To rebuild the nations To bring peace among people To befriend the lonely To release the prisoner To make music in the heart.

In the next succeeding weeks we are going to look at these directives as they are reflected in the ministry of Jesus and also as these subjects are found throughout God's Word.

When Christmas is over and all of the misfitting presents have been exchanged and the tree is down, the ornaments put away for another year; the children are back in school; the college bowl games have been played and life takes on its usual unjoyous and unglamourous dimensions, then, it is time to begin the work of Christmas. It is time to go out and share that Good News which we have received with those who have not heard it and do not know of the joy which can be had through Jesus Christ.

In the last months of Jesus' life He was teaching in Perea and this is where our Scripture for this morning took place. In the 1st verse of this 15th chapter we read, "Then drew near unto Him all the publicans and sinners for to hear Him."

The publicans were the kxtex much mistrusted and despised tax-collectors. They were considered as outcasts because of their working for the also despised Romans. But even though the general populace avoided them, Jesus didn't and they knew Him as one who sought to love them.

The reaction of a portion of the Jews is described in the 2nd verse where we read, "And the Pharisees and scribes murmured, saying, 'This man receiveth sinners, and eateth with them."

Whenever possible it was the Jewish leaders who sought to cast doubt on the ministry of Jesus. But rather than meet them headon and cause a premature end to His earthly ministry, Jesus wisely speaks to them in a manner which they could not assume as a direct attack upon them. We read in the 3rd verse "And He spake this parable to them, saying,"

A parable may or may not be a true story. But it contained elements which were recognizable by practically anyone and wax contained a message within that story.

So Jesus began by saying, "What man of you." Notice, that He didn't say, "If any of you Pharisees," or, "Church leaders," or something along that line He states, "If any man of you," and this could and would include all men who were within the sound of His voice. It was a situation which many of them faced or had faced. Included in His audience were simple ordinary shepherds, as well as all sorts of common people. So the Pharisees and the scribes couldn't take these remarks as a direct frontal attack upon them.

Now Jesus adds the rest of the parable. "What man of you, having an hundred sheep, if he lose one of them, doth not leave the ninety and nine in the wilderness, and go after that which is lost, until he find it?"

Anyone in His audience could understand this simple question even though it was probably directed specifically to the Pharisees and the scribes. Here was a shepherd with his sheep out in the fields. Perhaps he has made a makeshift enclosure to keep his sheep in over night. And as they pass into the narrow opening and he counts them, he discovers that one of them is missing. And the question is, "Which one of you would not go and find it?" A sheep was valuable to its owner. And even if the shepherd was working for someone else he was responsible for each sheep. He couldn't just report to his boss, "One of the sheep is gone and I don't know where it is." He had to make an effort to go and find it and recover it if he could. Perhaps it would be attacked and eaten by a wild animal. But the shepherd had to the sheep to be at least try to reover the fleece of that sheep as proof that it was killed by wild animals.

But if the shepherd looks for that sheep many times he would find it and this is what Jesus was stating as we read in the 5th verse, "And when he hath found it, he layeth it on his shoulders, rejoicing."

Sheep aren't the brightest of animals. When they start grazing and eating grass they will keep their heads down and chew away, wandering all of the time If they happen to spot some green grass on the other side of a fence, they will find an opening and go on the other side even if it means falling down a hillside. So in order to prevent the sheep from wandering away while returning it, the shepherd would put it on his shoulders and carry it back to the rest of the flock.

Many shepherds traveled in groups making it possible for shepherds to be able to spell each other and share the work. If a shepherd discovered one of his sheep missing and went after it, the other shepherds would herd his flock homeward for him in his absence. This is what Jeus is saying in the 6th verse. "And when he cometh home, he calleth together his friends and neighbors, saying unto them, 'Rejoice with me; for I have found my sheep which was lost.'"

And then comparing this story to the salvation which God wants for all mankind, Jesus says in the 7th verse, "I say unto you, that likewise joy shall be in heaven over one sinner that repenteth, more than over ninety and nine just persons which need no repentence."

Jesus was trying to point out that every sheep was xxxxxxx important.ax The Pharisees and the scribes had a tendency to look upon certain people or class. es of people as being worbhless and Jesus was saying that there are no worthless individuals in God's sight. All men are equal and God loves each one the same. But in heaven before God, there is more rejoicing over one lost soul coming to salvation than over the ninety and nine who are already safe within the fold. This doesn't make the one better than the thers, it is just that the lost sheep need to be sought out and brought back to the fold. Jesus had said in the 2nd year of His ministry as recorded in Matthew 15:24, "I am not sent but unto the lost sheep of the house of Israel." There, in plain language was the mission He declared was his. He sought to bring the lost sheep into the fold, but they wouldn't accept Him or listen to His message. And so a part of His ministry was fulfilled to the Gentiles. or those publicans and sinners the pharisees and scribes would have nothing to do with This always has been the mission of the Christian church. But too often too many other things have taken precedence ofer that task. "When It's Over, (Christmas that is), It's Time to Find The Lost." But that task doesn't just wait for the end of the Christmas season, it is with us all year. Who are the lost? They are all the lonely, searching souls who cannot and have not found peace and happiness in this life. They are the ones who jumped off buildings or bridges the past few days or weeks; they are the ones who are drugged into oblivion because life seems to hold no meaning or purpose; they are people we should be trying to reach and give the glad news to that there is xifexent meaning and purpose to life. St. Augustine said, "Our souls are restless until they find their rest in Thee." No matter who the individual may be; regardless of his station in life; if he hasn't found God his soul is restless within him. All men seek a being or power beyond themselves which can give them the sense and purpose they need. Without God, they continue to search and seek. But like lost and wandering sheep many of them aren't even aware they are lost. Have you ever heard of Jesus preaching that the sheep come looking for the shepherd? No, you don't and you won't because it is the shepherd who must seek the sheep.

(Illustration of "Somebody whispered that Jesus Loves Me)

Scott Lawrence as a young man became hopelessly involved with drugs and alcohol and actually became a skidrow bum. One night as he lay on the sidewalk in a drunken stupor, a Christian worker from that area came by. He tried to speak to Scott but received no response. Seeing that he was getting nowhere he bent over Scott Lawrence and whispered directly into his ear, "Jesus who died on the cross loves you and wants to save you." With that seed planted in him, the Holy Spirit began to work and the next day when he came out of his drunken condition, those words were rininging in his ears. Eventually he did accept Christ, turn his life around and became a preacher and a composer. One of his hymns states: One day in sin I was told of a love, Coming from One who is reigning abov Gladly I listened, "twas music to me, To know, though a sinner, that I could be free. Somebody whispered that Jesus loves me, Jesus who died upon Calvary's tre Said He would save me, from sin set me free, Somebody whispered that Jesus loves me."

That's wahat it takes, the shepherds going out and looking for the sheep. How many people did you speak to in 1984 about God to bring them into His fold? How many neighbors do we have who are not Christians, or are without a church and we have never invited them to come and join us in worship? These questions xiz are not intended to put a guilt trip on anyone, but they should show us that our task as Christians is not to keep it as the world's best secret. But instead, to share it with all of those who are in need of a Saviour. The religious observance of Christmas is over, and now it is time to begin the task of sharing that by seeking out those who are not aware that this took place for them and their eternal salvation. This in essence is wha Jesus was doing and saying. He read from the prophecy of Isaiah and was publicly declaring that all of the preliminaries were over and now it was time to begin His work in the world. Christmas is over and now the real work of being members of the body of Christ begins for each of us. Let us each resolve to begin that work by seeking "To Find The Lost."

"When It's Over It's Time: To Heal"

peripture: luke 0:1-6

For those of you who were unable to suffer through last weeks message, let me briefly recar where we are coming from in this series.

Jesus beran Mis public ministry in Lazareth by proclaiming that He was the fulfillment of Isaih 61:1 and 2, (read Tuke 4:18-19). A man named Howard Thurman perhaps writing of this has benned the lines, (read this). From the idea that when Thristmas is over it is time to be about the work of the Lord we are taking this current series. Last week we talked of "Finding the Lost." Today we are looking at, "When It's Over It's Time: To Heal." In this 'cripture we can see two parts of the threefold ministry of Jesus Christ emphasized. To read in the first verse of this Oth chapter of Juke, we are taking the called "in twelve disciples together, and mave them power end authority over all devils, and to cure diseases."

The writer of this morrel was Tuke the physician. It is perhaps not signified cant perhaps that he wrote more shout miracles than any of the other writers. Fut 'atthew and !ark both include marallel passages about the sendice out of the twelve disciples. The mission given to them by Jesus was as this verse tells us, to have "power and authopity over all devils and to cure discases." Then in the second verse we read, "And He sent them to preach the kingdom of fod, and to heal the sick."

The term "cure diseases" and the word "heal" are usedeinterchangeably by Iuke. They are two different works in Treek, but they are interrelated. The word for heal is "IACKAI" is a derivative of the word "IYOTH?" from which we get our inclish word lygiene. And the word used for "cure diseases" is the Greek word "INFRAPENO" from which we get our English word therapy. But the interesting thing about the use which Luke makes of these two words, and the use by Matthew and Luke as well. is that only in two places in Luke are these words used for the healing which takes place through ordinary medical means. All the other TREETERS times, the words have reference to miraculous healings by Jesus and Mis disciples.

Jecus rives further instructions to "is disciples concerning their dress and what they should take with them and these are matters which we are not coing to so into at this time.

Motice the closing of this portion of pripture as found in the 5th verse. We read, "and they departed, and went through the towns, preaching the Corpel and bealing everywhere."

In this Scripture we see thextxsfold two of the emphases of Jesus' ministry, but one stands clearly above the others and that is the ministry of bealing. se read of Jesus giving power and authority to "is disciples to heal people of their illnesses and diseases. And the result of that authority is that they were, "Dealing everywhere." "They autually had the power to heal people To read this and to understand it completely requires that we analyse this passame more fully. There are those today who claim that all of us should be able to have that power and authority over sickness and disease; then there are some who claim to have that power and claim to be "faith healers"; while still others claim no one should ever be sick or ill. "Lere is one man who preaches on "V every lunday might and I have heard him claim over the radio that it is God's will that no one should ever be sick with anything, and if you are sick it is because you don't have enough faith to be healed. I would arree that it has always been "od's will that man should be completely whole. But I disarree about not being healed because of lack of faith. The logotle haul is a mood example of this. If anyone possenged more faith than haul, he needs to be nointed out. Yet, God permitted haul to so through his life with what he called, "I therm in his flesh," meaning that he had a physical silment which was not divinely healed. To how do we understand the matter of "Fealing?"

As always we must so back to the beginnning and at that beginning God created everything in a perfect environment. But man brought sin into that environment by his disobedience and is so doing contariasted fod's perfection. With that sis and disobedience came separation from fod both apiritually and physicelly and thus death. But along with death came also sickness and disease. As time passed and the universe became more contarinated it ended the perfect environment into which man was placed and the lifespan lessened and disease and illness became widestread. It meant that anyone, can contract illness or disease and no man is immune to it.

Jerus, Cod in the flesh came into our world and lived arong us. We was able to heal month of their illnesses and diseases. Kyx In this manner, De was able to let man see what God really wanted for Dis arecial creation. But did he heal everyone averywhere He went? The answer of course is "he." And did Jerus disciples with the rower De mave them heal everyone everywhere they went? And the answer is again "he." To you read a postscript to this passame of "Crinture that mays, "And they bexied were bealing exerywhere" To, we only read, "And healing everywhere," in that 5th verse. . O we see from this that only selective healing took place and those healings were wrought by God so Te could show Mis power to people would come and believ in Tim. It never meant that Tod couldn't heal everyone. It merely shows that He chose to shorify Timself by selective healings.

Now as we analyze this, just what is God trying to tell us! Now can we interpret and understand these verses? Jorbaps in order to understand all of this we must ask several questions. The first question would be, "Lat does God want? Does Ne want His children tick and diseased? Of course not! In the game! of botthes where we mad the second of the lat does

In the coopel of batthew whene we read the account of the lot there will have

The word comes from two Greek words. The one is "I'YOMED which means your spirit, or your coul. The other word is from "FOMA" which means your physical body. It has always been known that there is a division between your spirit, or your soul, that special spark which sives you a spritual existence and your body which is merely physical. Fedicine is finding out more and more that when the "FEYCHE", or the soul, spirit is well, the body itself can be well. This is proved over and over again that when a person's soul is in a right relationship with fod, that person can enjoy physical well-being. It decen't mean that all illness is a wrong relationship with fod. But a lot of people are not in that right relationship with fod and because of it body and soul are sick. This is many times what Jesus and the disciple were curing. They brought the person into a right relationship with fod and that terson was made well.

(Illustration of little boy from Widwest and eye operation in Boston) Inny years are before medical science was what it is today, a little boy with xxxxery who was blind was diarnoad as being curable, but the operation needed could only be performed at basaschusetts General Morrital in Poston. The operation was expensive and the family had no money. But the recold of the toun pitched in and resised the money to send him and his mother there. The day the little boy left he tucked his old teddy bear under his arm to no. (ne ear of the bear was badly chewed, he was ripped at the seam and stuffing was coming out, and one eye was missing. This mother asked, "why take old Teddy to Poston? Then we not there we can buy a new one." But the little boy insisted on takin that beer. The while he was in the hospit even during the operation that Teddy Fear was with the little fucked under his arm. The orderation was a success and the boy was overload to see his mother and everything around him for the first time. Finslly, the time came for him to be releared from the borpital. The noted eye surreon came into the room to examine his eyes one last time, and to see coode. Hen the doctor was finished with his examination, the boy said, "Coctor I want to pay you for helping me," and he handed the heat up old Teddy Take to the doctor. The doctor fighting back the tears acce ted it. The doctor took that bear and place it in a class case in the hallway of that hospital. There it est, one ear chewed, the stuffing coming out of it with one eye missing and place it in a class case in the hallway of that hospital. There it est, one ear chewed, the stuffing coming out of it with one eye missing and the doctor had one of his professional calling xx cards place with it. Selew his name he wrote, "This is the hisbest fee I ever received from y professional services."

That little boy mave the most precious thing he had in this life in love. Tood has done the same for markind in the person of deaus Christ. We mave "is all to show "is complete love for healing the sould of max men. and this then brings up to one final question. "That does God expect in return?" "Goes "e expect was anything from us for what "e has done?"

(Illustration of man visiting family and little mirl with battered, tattered doll, loved because no one else would)

I man who acted as a modifisher to a roor family of five children, storned one day to visit them and do what he could for them. Yexmakes (ne of the little minic told him shout a small collection of babydolls the had. "e asked her which one was her favorite. The told him the would get it for him if he promised not to laugh. The said, "I promise." The went into the next room and brought back a doll that was the most dilapidated, tattered, worn out doll he had ever seen. "It of her hair was off, the nose was broken, and one of the arms was cracked. The didn't laugh but that any of t ease should perish." It isn't a part of God's original plan for man to die or to be sizk. XXXXXXXXXXXXXXXX and just as God desires for man to be well, so does every man. It of us want to be well and rever have anything wrong, not even a cold and so we neek to use whatever means are at our disposal to do this. We even do this for our livestock.

(T)lustration of man and mule) farmer had a mule who was very voluable to him because he was a mood rlowing animal. One day the mule became wick and the farmer called the Vet. The Vet evamined the mule and gave the farmer some very large pills. The said, "Give the animal one of these rills three times a day and he'll be (C." "Tow do T get xxxxxxxxxxx the mule to swallow those big pills?" the farmer asked. "Gave," said the Vet. "Find a rice of nice big enough to get the rills through. Lut one end of the nice into the mule's mouth, nut a pill in the pire, and then blow through the pine. Pefore the mule knows what is barbening he will evallow the rill." The farmer arreed to try it. But several hours later the farmer was in the vet's office looking very sick himself. "You look awful, what happened?" the Vet asked. "We farmer realied, "The mule blew first."

San's methods don't slwave succeed, but Sed's do. Perardlees of what physical problems we may have in life, Ged has one plan for everyone which works everytime. It's something like children's story which comes from inpland.

(Illustration of story of cur and how it became beautiful) I'm sure all of up have read many children's stories, both as children, or have read them to children. The probably never question why it is that animals and inazimate objects talk. If just accept it and to slows with the story. There is a story shout a courle in guessex, incland who were looking at china to huv a setting. The wife looked at a cur and said, "On look at this cur how beautiful it is." But the cur answered, "But you know I wasn't always beautiful." Instead of questioning a talking cup, the courle becan to talk to it and asked, "by what do you meen" The taccup explains: "Once I was nothing but a soury wet, unly lurg of clay together and rut me on a wheel and began to apply they did stor. I was nut into a both furnace and I thought I couldn't stand it any longer and cried "stor," but they said, 'but yet' and then finally they did stor. I was nut into a both furnace and I thought I would faint from the furnes and cried, 'tor.' But they said'not yet' and when they stopped painting me they stuck me inarother oven. It not so hot I thought I couldn't stand it and cried out 'Stop.' But they said, 'Not yet! but finally they multed me out and let me cool off. Then they placed me on a shelf and I was able to see myself in a mirror. I remembered myself as being a wet, sorry, uply, lump of clay, but now I was beautiful. And tren i knew that the pain T went through made me beautiful."

God wants all of "is children to be beautiful and it isn't beauty as measured by the world. It is the beauty which comes forth from our lives by suffering the toils and the problems of life, and even the physical sufferings that may wome our way. Rux

But how does find accomplish this process of mixing us this beauty? It'd really only something that medical science is discovering but which has been known by many people for centuries since the advent of Jeaus Christ into the world. There is an Inglish word used in medicine which is "FOYCONOMATIC." It has to do with the physical and spiritual makeur of an individual.

would have liked to. Only because he had promised not to lough, kert him from it. The said to her, "Thy do you love this one the most? Urely you have an-other doll which is fetter than this." "Thy do you love her the best?" The little sirl answered, "Fecause the needs it most. If I didn't love her, nobody would."

God has loved us through Jecus Christ. Jesus has taken each one of us and in the sight of God any sinner in the most dilabordated, hast up and tattered percon in the world. "hrough Jesus C, rist we are made boautiful in God's sight. And what does lod ack of us! (nly that we share that love with other and trir them to the faviour who can make them whole as well. Then we have celebrated the birth of that 'aviour, 'ben Chritmas is Oter, it's "ime to Heal.

"then It's Over It's Time: "o Weed" Scripture: John 21:15-17

The disciples had seen the risen Christ and We had told them to no to Galilee to a certain mountain as we read in Matthew CP:16. They probably waited ther for a certain number of days. No one is certain how long they had been there lut they must have waited for a length of time and since time hunc heavy on their hands, leter as usual, the impetuous one said, "I no a fiching," as recorded in the And verse. They fished all night and coucht nothing. But at lengt they were doing something with their hands, keeping busy. They strung the nets; they hoisted a d lowered the sails; they were busy doing comething which took their minds off the waiting they were doing for another appearance of Jesus.

Fut when morning came a man standing or the beach called out to them and asked if they had any fish. They revised in the negative and were instructed by the stranger to cast the net on the other side of the boat. They did this and discovered the nets were so full they couldn't drag them into the boat. John recognized the man as Jeaus and feter swam to shore while the others brought themselves and the boat to land. From landing they discovered that i was Jeaus and He was cooking breakfast .

ofter they had eaten Jesus turned to beter and asked him, "Firon, son of Jonas, lovest thou We more than these?"

Aithout besitation "eter answers, "Yea, lord; Thou knowest that I love Thee." And Jesus replier, "Teed ly lambs."

Iten a second time Jesus asks, "Cimen, sen of Jenas, lovest theu We?" But notice, We doesn't waik add, "More than these." It is just, "lovest thou he." inything which might be said of the difference between the first questior and the other two is merely speculation. There is no proof of what Jesus meant when We asked the questions in a different manner. But there are sever al points we might consider to draw our own conclusions.

First, consider that Peter had probably grown tired of waiting for Jesus to appear to them again. Leter was always, the man of action; the one who wanted thinks done now; the one whose rationce was probably the shortest of any of the disciples. And growing more impatient as the days passed, Feter turne to the only other t ing he knew best, fishing. Fishing was the work Jesus had called him from, and it was fishing which was probably Feter's first love. But leter must have also loved being with his fellow-disciples with whom he had shared the trials and tribulations of everyday life as they lived it together with Jesus. To Jesus' first question may well have been, "Leter, do you love 'e more than these," meaning the boats and nets, and the fishing business. Or, meaning the other men with whom he shared his life. I believe that Jesus meant, "Peter, do you love 'e more than your first love of fishing with its adventure and fight against the see and the elemental and leter do you love Ne more than these other men with whom we have shared our lives?

Jesus knew the depth of emotion which leter rut into everything he did and I believe that Jesus' first question was directing later to think about his low for the things he could do which brought him at odds with the spiritual thing which were more difficult to do.

'Inen Jesus asked leter a second and a third time if he loved Him. The seond and third questions ormitted the term, "More than these." It was simple. "Lovest thou le?" 'nd again there is speculation as to why Jesus asked leter three questions concerning his love. The probable answer is that this is the same eter who stood beside desus and said, "Lord, though all men shall be offended because of Thee, yet will I never be offended."

fe said that he was willing to die for Jesus and Jesus promised that le er would deny Him three times that night. Which he did. 'o it is possible that Jeaus is bringing to 'eter's recall that threefold denial by letting him give a threefold affirmation of his love for Jeaus. In other words, comewhat like a chance to make amends.

then California and Ceorgia Tech played in the Rose Towl in 1929 a very strange thing took place. ' boy named Poy Siegels on the California team recovered a fumble and began to run with the ball. The mly problem was that he was running towards his own goal. The feorgia fech players picking up on this began to run interference for him because he was going to score a touchdown for them. Fix own players yelled at him to turn around and only a tackle by one of his own fraction vertices at the from scoring a touchdown for Georgia Tech. The boy was heartbroken when he realized what he had done. It halftime the team filed into the locker room and by lierels cat by himself with his head in his hands afraid of what the cosch was soint to say.

what the conch was colds to say. If you were that cosch, what would you have said to that boy! Tow would you have handled the situation? Years later, Poy Piezels told a nationwide audience what harmoned in that locker room at halftime. His coach never mentioned his dumi mistake. He rave the players the stratery he wanted them to use in the second half. and when it was time to no out on the field, the players all filed out, leaving Poy Piezels sected on the bench with his head in his hands, and the couch. That accele walked even to be not his head in his hands, and the conch. "hat coach walked over to 'oy, but his hand on his shoulders, and said, "Roy, let's so out there and play this second half like you've never played the same before." 'nd he did. We played the second half brilliantly, enabling his team to win.

This is what Jesus did with leter. He didn' scold him and make him feel like a heel in front of the others. We merely asked him a searching question three times in order to let inter know that what he had done in the cast was over and formotten. This is what desus does for each one of us. For all the sturid mistakes and blunders we make; for all the sind we coumit and will commit; le says, it's in the past and I've forgiven you through the giving of iy very life's blood.

But now that leter had been questioned shout his love for the Lord, what was the mensage that Jesus imparted to him? Jesus told him to first, "Feed iv larbs," and then "e told him twice to, ""eed by cheep." Ite difference between the words is not too simificant to other than to vev that Jesus was letor had been with Jesus throughout His inistry. Verything was now change and he knew that Jesus was the Fessiah, the Christ. But he also knew that in all probability desus was not roins to remain with and among them. He had spoken of "cint to Nic Wather and if they were putting two and tow together they could essily curmise that Jetus would soon be more from their midet. io at this joint in time ster is being given instructions by Jesus concerning what he is to do. But just exactly what did ever know? There were only two definite thirms 'eter knew and could do. Te was first of all a figherman e knew the fishing business and it was accething be could always fall back on if necessary. And he knew how to minister to those who were searching for the answers to the measing of life. 'o just what was Jesus telling him to do. If eter had any intelligence, and he most certainly did, he knew that Jesus was not referming to fishing when We cold him to "Teed his sheer." " o Fis instructions were to continue the ministry which Jesus had tought him to be about.

ind what did the feeding consist of "there were two things which were involved. The first was God's ford. Whatfirs Peter had bear. Jesur refer again and again to what fol gaid in "in ford. Jesus would nucle one of the prophets and sav, ""hus save the ord." "eter knew from his training by the isster that the message to feed the could of men care only from Tod's ford. leter had to be a man of the Book and he could only be this by reading it: by reditation wich it; by knowing it not so much by heart, but baving it come from the heart. The task which beter and faul and the other inostles didx renformed in the world has had far reaching effects in our society today. "Ven arow the unbelievers the Fible is quoted frequently even thought they may be aware they are auction from the Book.

("Ilustration of "ible quotes in everyday life) "rom the manazime, "Israel "y "lorv," this quote appeared: "If come body mentions he wants to set at the root of the matter,' he is cuoting from the book of Job. living 'off the fat of the land'....comes from 'enesis. If a national here is said to have 'feet of clay', the description come from the book of "eniel. description come from the book of replet. Then the merazine lists the following commonly beard expressions, slong with the lible reference or which they're based: "a mood old are" (Cen. 25:8); "He before his time" (Iccl. 7:17); "rives up the mhost" (Jer. 15:0); "set his house in order" (2 Mines 2011; "a man after my own heart" (1 am. 13:14); "the apple off your eye" (1c. 17:8); "at your wits' end" (.s. 107:27); "rise and stime" (Isa. 60:1); "spare the rod" (Frow. 13:24); "to see eye to eye" (Isa. 52:8); "boli r than thou" (Isa. 65:5); "come now and let us reason together" (Iss. 1:18).

why have all of these quotations from God's ford infiltrated the language of the world? It's because the "ible is a living book. It's God's book and faithful Christians have quoted it and chared it so that even the unbeliever hears it whether he is aware of it or not. It is this way because even and others use it's fort fort is sheep of Jesus Christ. Now do we use the Fible in our lives? Do we feed from it and upon it? Is it comethin which is a vital part of our lives: "we command of Jesus to not only Feter, but all those who were to come after him was, "Beed My sheer." The we seeking to do that with God's ford?

"Le second thirs which leter was to use for the fondime of the Lord's cheer was the formel of Jacus Christ. ' wound non waxwaked during his ordination examination was asked the question, " har is the formel of decus Christ" He answered, "It is the story of Jesus Christ." that would you answer if you were asked, "What is the formel of Jesus Christ."

leter had been with Josus throughout "is ministry. "He had heard lin asy, "If any man will come after ha let him deny himself and take up him cross and follow be." " howeever will save his life shall lose it, but wheseever shall lose his life for Dy sake srd the Corpel's, the same shall save it. For what shall if profit a man if he main the whole world and lose hos own coul? le saus did not mean that a person had to assume some underingble task, or have heavy sorrow. Inv person in the world can do that. But taking up the cross in the way in which desur said it is for the Dristian orly. In the fame: of Jesus when a man was seen carrying a cross it reant he was a condemn ed man on his way to exection. "That man was as rood no dead and it was just a retter of time until that havpened. pound preacher became the restor of a cultured clurch in a college town. Forried because he thought he would have problems relating to this educated congregation he went to his father who was also a minister for advice. The asked, "Tather, if I say something about history, there is a professor in the congregation who teaches it and could trip me up; if I pressed cite something about almost any subject, there is someone in that group who knows are more about it than I ever will. What shall I do?" His Dad answered, "on, preach the Gospel! They probably know very little about it."

This was the task of leter and the others; to preach Christ and Dim crucified. The twofold task of any consregation is to share the Word of God and to share the messare of Jesus Christ the only hope for a lost world. And the task of all members of the body of Christ is to knew of Fim, to learn of Him, from God's book about Him, and then to share that with others in our daily lives.

Just like Peter, we have the words of our lord, that when all of the preliminaries are over, "It's Time To Peed," Dis sheep.

Corinture: 2 Corinthians 4:7-18

It the close of Jesus' earthly ministry as recorded in the Torpel of Batthew, Jorus told "is disciples, "To be therefore, and teach all nations, battizing them in the name of the Tather, and of the lon, and of the Foly Spirit: teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you." In the Christian church we claim this as the "Great Commission." It is called this because it is the mission of its members. These are the marching orders as given to "is disciples and picked up by each of them in turn. The spostle call had carried out this mission of evancelism. He had visited the Church in Corinth twice and wanted to make a third visit there, but instend he wrote to them first. The book of 2nd Jorinthians is a stern letter in which he seeks to combat some of the attacks against nimself, very similar to his purpose in writing the Galatian letter.

(un crinture for this morning is about several things but there is one issue I believe we need to see in it. Taul is specifically speaking of the living of the Obristian life and pointing to the life beyond in eterpity. Xuxxx To begins by stating: "Tut we have this treasure in earthen vessels,

- that the excellency of the power may be of lod, and not of us." Taul is xxi using an example to which they can all relate. The people of those days used ordinary earthen nots to store anything of value. The not itself may have been of no value, but what we invite
- itself may have been of no value, but what was incide, the contents may have been all of the treasure comeone had in this world. To 'aul is using this analogy to joint out that 'od takes common ordinary receile, (common pots, if you will), and in those pots Ho plades His treasure. 'nd what is that treasure' all had expressed it in the 6th verse. 'ook back to thet verse and nee what it save: "For field who commanded the limbt to obtain out of darkness, hath chined in our hearts, to give the limbt of the knowledge of the clory of field in the face of Jesus Christ." It is the Corpel of Jesus of Jinist which constitutes the treasure in certher versels. If have the knowledge of Jesus Christ and Tis purpose for the world; Tis life and minetry; Hi death and resurrection and oven though we may be ordinary common people, we have treasure in these earther versels the world does not possess. If are wealthy beyond mmeasure when we have that.

Then aul lists the things of this world which beset every person in verses -⁹ and ⁰, (read these). But with each affliction, notice, there is no defeat and why? "eccause we have the lord Jesus Carist in our lives as he states in verses 10 and 11, (read these). To then Taul makes the statement, "To then doubt worketh in us, but life in you."

To the lews, many of whom 'aul was writter to, any form of pain, or suffering, or veskness was described as a sort of death. 'a sul () at in the type monterial he and the other prostles were for through, with was took of deash, were for the ecoverts they chared this with, "life." iaul was sepire that the suffering he and the other clostles were noin through was a sort of deat' for them, but by their suffering and affliction, it was bringing life, "The life" to them. In that the was the fift of salvation through Jesus Christ.

fo sul is saving the the frace of fod, the unmerited mercy as mondaness of fod was given to more and more meanle through sulls speeching of the deshel. This is what he teams by stating in verse 15, "for all this s are for your safes, that the abundant grace might through the thankstiving of many redeard to the mlory of fod."

Every affliction, every kind of problem and suffering brings of ers to Carist and ends in praise and thanksmiving to God.

incn sail sums this up by stating, "For which cause we faint not; but though the cutward man perish, wet the inward man is rerewed day by day." "od gives sufficient gracegy strength and hel to endure through all of the stillations of life. Ind faul spells out the hope which belon is to the Obristian in the face of all of this as we read, "For our light affliction, which is but for a moment, worketh for up a far more exceeding and eternal weight of short seen; for the things which are seen, but at the things which are not seen; for the things which are seen are terrorel; but the things which are not seen are eternal."

Saul is eavier that anything which we may go through in this life is merely a prelude to that which we will have insternity with Saak the Lord Jesus Christ. Our cights are to be fixed upon the thir " which are not seen. Faul explains that the things seen are termoral, eanin of course that these things will nase away. Instead, our eyes thould be or the things which cannot be seen, and these are eternal and will live throughout eternity. To saul. anything suffered in this life whether it he illness, loss of health or wealth any affliction, is only tempersry. In his letter to the lowance and said in the "th chapter, ""or I reckon that the sufferings of this present time are not worthy to be compared to the mlory which shall be revealed in us." ix which is more important? The things of this life, or the things of eternity? Is it better to have everything we can ressibly ressess in this life? and have mothing in eternity because we don't know the lord: Or is it better to have the cormon ordinary afflictions of this life, knowing that beyond all of this is there awaits things we have never dreamed of because we are His? laul is speaking here not only to peorle who believe these things, but to reorle who have become borned down in their lives because of setbacks and afflictions. But he is proposing that they pick up where they kaxexieft are and "Rebuild." " "e is suggesting that they revive and come alive.

(Illustation of Jarlie Pown and wantime to be "outrareously happy.") In a "Peanuts" cartton Garlie Frown is talking to Jinus. We asks him, "Do you ever think about the future linus?" linus answers, "Ch sure, all the time." Then Charlie asks, "well, what do you want to be when you grow up?" And finus answers, "Charleously happy."

I think this is what Tod wante for us. But it isn't possible to have it and live for the world. We must come alive to Wim. and for Him.

(Illustration of Dr. E. V. Hill and group of incorrigible youths) D. Idward Dobson a Christian tells of being at the 'orld Christian Pission any Center in California. ' part of the program of this group is to take supposedly incorrigible youth, place them in a program which teaches them basic skills and prepares them to get a job and enter society. In . . . "ill was goin to speak to a group of them and he asked Dr. Dobson if he wanted to go tith him. ("xplain Dr. "ill being black and a unique preacher They went into a building and up to the second floor into a room of akont 30 young people. There were 6 "ispanics, one white, and 76 blacks. "here young people had been through city, state, and federal roomans and were considered hopeless. They were drug addicts, products, gaing leaders and ex cons. Dr. Fill began to explain the program and said, "If you can't take it, you sint going make it!" And he had the 40 young geople repeat that statement over and over.

Then he said, "e are coint to rule let and the drayouth redule repair that statement over and over. Then he said, "e are coint to rule a lot of presurre on you for the next several weeks. Into become said here was a room full of rayed, "C" God, help me to care!"

Report us is a world made up of about 5 billion people who need to hear the ressame of Jesus Christ. 'e must core out of our little mours, our individusl commensations and hemin to care. The first place to start is with ourselves indivudally. 'e must begin to Revive ourselves; we must come plive so we can rebuild. "For God who commanded the light to shine out of darkness buth shined in our bearts, to give the knowledge of the clory of God in the face of Jesus Christ." - Cor. 4:6.

(Illustration of twon women on train and quarrel; conductor's, man's"peace") we women were riding in a day couch on a rrit. "hey wore set of margar frameworks facing each other on the only two sears they could find. They began arouins about the window and finally when the conductor care through the coach one of them summoned bir. he said, "If this window he said, "If this wirdow through the coson one of them summoned "im. he said, "If this window is open, I shall catch a cold and die." "If the window is shut," declared the other, "I shall sufficiente." "he two slared at each other, neither one divide in. The conductor didn't know whit to say, or how to handle it and finally a man seated across the sisle said, "first open the window, that will kill one. Then shut the window and that will hill the other, and then we'll have peace." .eace is an elusive thing. It has been southt by mankind since the beginning of time. 'ut in order to understand what reace really is, perhaps we need to know what it is. ebster defines reace as: "freedom from war or civil strife." This is the peace most recople think of when we hear the word. But there is enother meaning and that is: XXXxxxXxx "In undisturbed state of mind; absence of mertal conflict; calm, cuiet.' and isn't this the type of peace everyone is actually seeking? You and I for the fort part cannot do much concerning wors, or conflicts which rade or take place between two metions. Jut we can control, or have a measure of control of conflicts in our owr lives. This is sixxix what and was trying to impart to the believers in the church at Pome. But they disn't understand what true peace was either. Ind this is the problem because we live in human bodies and must deal with life in human ways and human terms. Since this is the case we are firsting a bettle between trines of the flesh and things of the spirit. This is exactly what caul is saying in this "cripture. "Lus having made the corrarison between living life in the flesh or living it in the spirit caul concludes in the 6th verse by saving, "For to be carpally minded is death; but to be arightedly minded is life and reace."

Low just what was faul trying to ixxxxxi say. The life he is speaking of is the new life which takes place when a person places their trust in Jesus $C_{\rm r}$ rist. It is kkx life more abundantly here on earth because of Fis presence in our lives. But it is also life eternal beyond this life which is ours through His sacrifice on the cross.

Put just what is the passe laul is speaking of here? This peace is twofold. First, it is the "lease of God." That is the "Feace of God?" It is something the world cannot understand because it calls for something that cannot be shown or proved with scientific, tangible proof. And that something is "Paith "Faith" that God has intervened and stepped into the affairs of this world to give us Mis leace. Faul writing about this at another time and to another place tells us in his letter to the church at Fhilipti, in the 4th charter, verse 6 mays, "Be careful for nothing: but in everything by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be made known unto Red."

jaul says. "De careful for nothing," and by this he means the members of the church were not to be worried about the affairs of life. "is reason for saying this is pointed out by his following words. "But in everything by prayer and sup-lication with thanksriving let your requests be made known unto God The believer is to first of all come to God ir prayer with every problem. every concern, every worry. In fact, that prayer should involve supplication and the word "supplication" means to "ask, beseech, request, to beg." The believer is told not to just pray, but to "ask, beg, request or bessech" fervently the things asked for. But coupled with the prayer and the earnest asking, should be "Thanksgiving" in the midst of those prayers and requests. This means that we are to give thanks to "od even before We answers. (ur atitude is to be one of thankful coming before God for help. And when we do this Paul adds in the 7th verse: "Ind the peace of God, which passesth all understanding, shall keep your hearts and minds through Christ Jesus." "his is what gives us"the peace of God." It is faith in Jesus Christ as Lord and aviour.

(Illustration of most wealthy and rowerful men in world in 1023 meeting in Chica: o's .frewater Feach Fotel)

In 1923 eight of the world's most powerful men met at the .dgewater Beach The 1925 er at the vertex them, they controlled more wealth at that time than the United Chates Treasury. They were considered successful by all of the world's standards. Every schoolboy at that time knew of them. Une was president of the world's largest steel company; another was president of the larrest utility company; a great wheat speculabor; the presi-dent of the lew York 'took Txchange; a member of the cabinet of the presi-dent of the United 'tates; the president of the Tank of .nternational ettlements; the man who was known as the birrest traderon (all treet; and a man who headed the world's most powerful monoroly. But as they sat et that meeting all of them were at the crossroads of their lives. Tut today their stories are complete and we can look at those lives and see what heppened to them.

Charles "chwab, president of the stoel company, lived the last years of Charles "churb, president of the steel company, lived the last years of his life on borrowed money and died penniless. Arthur Sutten, mreatest of the whest arecuators, died aborad insolvent. Fichard hitney, president of the lew Yor Stock Exchance, served a more in Sing-Sin Penitentiary. Albert Faul, the cabinet member, was perdoned from prices so he could die at home. Serve invertore, the "bear" of Sall Treet; Leon Frazer, presi-dentof the Fauk of International Settlements, and Evar Mreuger, head of the world's largest monoroly, all committed suicide. They all had money, face, rower, prestine, intelligence and education. Tut they all lacked the one incredient which gives life purpose and mean-ing. Ill of them refused to believe. Into because they wouldn't believe, they lacked the "Seace of God" which would have made it nossible to live life investige more shundantly, in arite of the adversities and problems life inxavite more shundantly, in spite of the adversities and problems of life.

(Illustration of woman, brain demand 8 month baby writing to Dr. Macinthur)

I ow could a mother, or anyone for that matter face this kind of tramedy without cracking up? Only through the "leace of Gra which parses all understanding." It isn't resible any other way. "his is an extreme example to be sure and all of us would prov I'm sure that we may never have to face any problem such as this. Tut in any circumstance of life it is only ressible to have strength to do or through "the peace of God."

Fut secondly, the "Teace" we are talking of here, is "eace with Ged." then "aul wrote his letter to the people in "pheaus he directedxtkxir was direction his remarks at one point to a problem which they were having between the believers who had formerly been Jews and between the Contiles who had come into the church. To we read in the Ord charter of this letter berinning at verse 11, "herefore remember, that we being in time rest Contiles in the flesh, who are called Unsircurcition by that which is called the Circurcision in the flesh made by lands; that at that time we were without Carist, sion in the flesh mode by lands; that at that time we were without Carist, being aliens from the commonwealth of Targel, and abrancers from the coverants of promise, having no have, and without fod in the world." Ind them points out what these two factions had in common, and we read in the

and what does this blood of Christ do for each and every believer! and edds "For he is our resce, who both made both one, and both broken down the middle wall of partition between us. Jesus was both "leade" and the "leademaker." He brou ht shout reconciliation between all menkind, between all people. This is what and meant by "Breaking down the middle markixing wall of partition between us."

('llustration of friends trying to get deed friend buried in 'scholic cemetary refusal by riest, turied outcide wall, ord ther wall moved) uping the war, in Trance, a man died and his two friends wanted to see that he had a decent burial. In a norby village there was a cemetary. XX XMXXXXXC It was a forman Scholic cemetary and their firend was a Protestant. They found the priest of the church and asked termission to bury their friend there, but the priest refused because the man was not a Scholic. Tub when he has their disarrointment be tale there they could bury their firend outside the fonce. In they did this, the max day they care to the cemetary to be flowers on the raye, but they couldn't find it. They walked all mound the fonce, but the may was note. To they went to the priest and asked him about it. To talk they do not to be that nicht and couldn't aleep because of him refusal to remit them to bury their friend in the cemetary. To be said wixes he not up when it was lists and moved the fence bimself to include the dead coldier who had given his life for France.

who had given his life for "pance. his is why? Ted did through Jerus. 'Le removed the fence separating all mankind from Dimcelf. "e permits us to have reace with Dim through Jeaus. Fut when we discover that we have the "lease of Tod," and the "Peace with Fod," our task has only berun. Tow"it's Time To Tring Lease" and we can only do this by sharing what we have with others. Jeaus prophesied of Dimself, "ad I, if I be lifted up from the earth, will draw all men unto le." First, we must bring ourselves to that cross and after we have core, we must bring all manking to the cross as well. If is at the cross that all men are made equal. Lech one, a sinner comes and receives the new life Jeaus has to offer and each one finds there the reace which Jeaus imparts to every weary life and soul. John Towring wrote a hyper familiar hyper, "In The Prove (f Christ T Flory." The leaf verse of that lyper sint, "In The Prove (f "Fane and bleasing, gain and pleasure, by the cross are sanctified; Bace is there that knows no measure, four that through all time abide." Let us rest in that reace, but let us also "Dring Fance" to each and every weary thirting boul we neet as together we travel thin life's road.

 - upen him. The it's include that here in prison as the der who haved Christian at one time and a "entile whom all Jows hated, and yet they were to ether bringing comfort and here to one another.

Taul's advice to "imothy is curvising because he next instructs, "ake, .ark. and bring him with thee: for he is x profitable to me for the tinistry." Isn't it strange that the same John Surk who had described faul on one of his missionary journeys, should now become one that faul said was "institude to him in his ministry?" we can see that faul said that fark had molured and was a valueble preacher now. The discipline foul meted out to work had the destred effect and fark was now of value for the Lord.

.sul tells "monthy in the 14th verse, "'lexander the corpersmith did me much evil: the ford reward him according to his works: (f whom do thou beware also; for he bath greatly withstood our words."

It is not certain who this 'lexander was. "De word "corrersmith" was used in Sneek for anyone who was a metal worker. It is probable that this Alexander was a metal worker xxxxxxdexrets? in "phesus who made metal idels and Taul had cut into his hurinees, and thus he was out to set Taul. Then a man is touched where he lives, that is, what is near and dear to his heart, this affects his future reactions. Taul was hitting at the pocketbooks of those who trafficed in the idel trade and it hurt their livlihood. Faul has been falsely accused by this man and Faul simply states that Tod will take care of that man in Fie own way.

lut even though loul is lenguishing in prison he is not anary or vindictive. e see this as we read in the 16th verse. De writes,"It my first answer no man stood with me, but all men forsook me: I pray God that it may not be laid to their charme."

We says that when he first was brought to before the authorities for a first hearing on the charges against him, no one stood with him and mave their support to him, they all deserted him. But Baul says that he is praying that God will forgive them for this and not hold it against them. And then Paul states just where he presently stands. "e says: "'otwithstanding the lord stood with me, and strengthened me; that by we the presching might be fully known, and that all the fentiles might hear: and I was delivered out of the mouth of the light."

Cod was with him even though all other humans had deserted him is what he is saying. And as he stood before his accusers he presented the Pospel to them and his XXXXX preaching was given to the Pentiles and in this Cod strengthened him. This mave faul a XXXINEXX holdness which made it possible for him to declare that he had been "delivered out of the lion's mouth." The meant that temporarily he had withstood the Emperor and the lion's mouth." The meant that temporarily he had withstood the Emperor and the been brought to the lion and had escared without herm at this moint. Foul knew what here was cepable of. This was the Emperor who had set fire to Pome and then blamed it on the Caristians and so the Pomans hated and persecuted them fiercely. For Sero's own satisfaction and enjoyment he would dress Christians in clothing covered with ritch, ter, and then the them to poles and pet them afire at night to light the streets and reads of Rome. But oul was also saving that he had escared the lion's mouth meaning death. Through Jhriat welknew that no matter what they did to him revaically, critically they couldn' touch him. "e would die like anyone else, but he would go to be with the lord and thus he had escaped the feared lion of death. And this exactly what his summation is as found in the 19th verse: "And the Lord shall deliver me from every evil work, and will preserve me unto "is heavenly kingdom: to whom he flory forever and ever. Then."

"wen though all men had seemed to desert loul, he still stood firm in the faith that God hadn't done so, nor would De.

But even though foul had this strong and suctaining faith he still yearned for the friends he had such as "inothy and John Nerk. And he also yearned for the familiar creature conforts which made life just a little easier and more bearable. .. read this is the 13th verse: "Theseloak that I left at Troas with Cargus, when they corest, bring with thee, "xxx

The cloak "sul in stlving shout we are told ges a circular care made of stiff roats hair. It had a hole out in the center for the head and came down to the knees or even touched the mround. The micon in some was probably damy and cold and haul simply wanted a cost to help keep his worm. But he also requests, "And the books, but especially the parchments." The tooks he was asking for were a paperus roll, or scroll. for itly they were aul's own writings. "he marchments were made from aking of sheep or roats and were probably the Jewich Crintures which buil wonted to read and study. Isn't it rather ironic, that 'or' who would soon suffer death for his faith didn't large into a spiritual decline, but still accurate to read and chasy shoul the things of lost "ow unlike most roorle. "it's all of the free. dor and the time we have, how do we shand our leisure time" Now much of it is sent is close communion with lod through Fig ord.

aul thered one final request of limothy and we read of this in the Plat verse " a sole, "No thy diligence to come before winter." Heul seeking come resulte from his lonliness merel" asks Timothy to come as suickly as possible and to bring his fovorite opticles.

in this instance can be clearly seen the need to "Mefriend" comeone. In the ridat of life over the strongest Christian meds to be befriended. Ind if this is true of Christians who need to be befriended, how much more is it true of those roorte who are not Christians.

(Illustration willy fraham and letters from teens) Tilly fraham writes, (un world descentely craves love and leace. I recertly received a letter from a teen-aver who said, "I would do envthing in the world to know that I am loved by comeone." Her cry could be echoed by countless thousands. Another teen-amen wrote me, "I am like a carod erical inside. fore than apylhing I want to knew rares true peace.

'e are the best-housed, best-clothed, best-educated, and best-fed menerstion in the history of the world. "eeminaly we have everything, but our divorce courts are packed, our tanguilizer menufacturers are workies overtime, and our elcholderminate cours. "hat is wrong?"

hat is wronn? I e have become so celf-centered that the world revolves around IT, central NT the individual. I must be happy even if it is at the expense of everybody else. Trecently received a note from a worn: ledy she is unhappy in her manniame. In it de coid, "I need to be happy and I'm not after " number of years of manniame. I deserve to be happy." But the write was what society is marine today. "Marriners is conclude that is used to MT." Is a result, we forget and tealect seeking to look out for there who need looked out for. I know, that we have welfare, and relief programs and all that. But hew much love is deled out xitk along with the relief money, or the bur of mecories? Now much friendation and endernes. . hat would you say was the most becatiful word in all of the likle? enhaps you may answer that word is "love." (r you may say "salvation." and I would have to arree with you those are two very beautiful words. But I believe there is another word which stands cut as being more beautiful than any other. "enhaps while you are thinking of that word this little incident will bring it to wor mind.

(Illustration of Trick cirl and God casting all circ into the rea) freils ("Coharan www.worked in a factory in Ireland. The looked at the work hereking on the shore and looked out at the entless stretch of wher and sold, "Ly cine are all cost into the depths of the cen." I few months later their died and on her desk were found the following lines written by her:

I will cast interxter in the depths of the fathemices set ill thy sind and represented, whatever they be; "Nour" they mount up to beeven, though they birk down to bell, "bey stall wink in the depths, and showe them shall shell li the waves of thy mercy, so mighty and free: I will cast all thy wins in the depths of the set.

XXXXXXXXXXXX To you know now what is probably the most beautiful word in all of the lible' "''s the word "'orriveness". "It of the other words such as "love, selvation, justification" and so on, bring here and confort. But there is no other word in all of cripture which can bring such search and confort as the word "or iveness." it bout formiveness there would be no selvation; without formiveness there could be no love; and without formiveness there is no joy for life. And so for in "is infinite wisdow and mercy has provided formiveness through Jerus Taria".

the scene is a very familiar one. Jesus has come into the temple and many people come to fir to bear fir teach. Te set down and was teaching them when sudderly fis lessons were interne ted and we mend in the and verse of this for inture:"and the scribes and harisees brought unto fir a woman togen in adultory; and when they had set her in the ridet, they say unto "in, "arter, this women was taken in adultery, in the very oct.""

In oder to set the score we need to see some of the specifics of this event. The fact that we us was reated in the temple teaching was an indication for was looked upon as a fabbi. This is how subhits taught. Indiths fact that the people warmed to have Fis teachings is an ididication that like one of the factel writers save, "le taught them as one with authority and not as the acribes." To it was that in the time of Jecus whenever a difficult problem or nuertion of the Tew prose, a fabbilities given the problem of the question to realer a solution. Thus, these cribes and therisees were treating jecus as an authority, as a Rabbi. Edultery was a serious onime and they were asking Jesus to review The decision in this case. It this time in history, adultery was very common and because of this the law was no lower enforced smainst it. You may recall that a part of the law had to do with the ritual a women had to no through if then bushand cusnected her of adultery. He was brought to ble priest and the unject book bely water and wixed some of the dust of the floor of the theoremede in it. This was miven to the upman to drink. If she was multy her body was surposed to swell. It if the was innocent actions havened, but this enactment of the law was no lon or below done because ad from had her more equally filter of the days, adultery may considered as reference to some the relation. The poor open was we see the seene is set for decus to render the unithment was decth and so we see the seene is set for decus to render the is factor decut, that such that the risk throws of people and the is factor decut, that such the the risk of the throws of people and the is factor, done is no they to in the throws of people and the is factor, done such the risk of the throws of people and the is factor, done is a the to risk to the the one is not for decus to the is factor, done we have the to risk of the throws of people and the is factor, done is a the to risk of the throws of people and the is factor, done is a throw to in the the reveal the throw of people and the is factor decus.

Ind John then adds his editorial comment in the 6th verse, "luis they usid, tempting Min, that they might have to accuse Min." And this exactly what itswax they had in mind. It was a constinacy to have Min make a false move and trap Him elf. From the standpoint of the law this woman was liable for the death renalty. But so was the man and where was he? We had either been allowed to encare or had been a rlant from the very beam ning. It's oute possible that the workbes and heritees had work peetly arranged all of this for the benefit of retting each traped one way or mother now if deans a read that sie was cully of this crime are deserved to die, is was coint a ainst the "oran authorities. Is the leaders could confront liste onl tell him this man had conderned a person to death contrary to what fore persited. UP if He ruled she should die, 's would lose the respect to indexwinedwinerbaingrievies of the masses of people who had come to know fin as loving and concerns i should be teachin teache to 'reak the law of ones and o was conform time. To what did deaus do?

The remainder of the ith verse tells us, "but Jesus should down and with the finter wrote on the mound, as though "e heard them not." desus have them time to shew before "e may an unswer. "But were left wordering what "is decision would be. The was theoretically count or the borns of a dilemma and no motion which ensure to have, "e was in wrong with screene. The constense mult be before unbeamable for them because we read in the Tab verse, "is when they continued achies "im." They were argin: for "im to stick his neck in the mouse they had so micely presented. You can elmost hear them series, "Some or now, what's Your ensure" You always have a solution for everythin. The when the could be done with this filthy, immorel person we brought here?"

't is then we perd, "We lifted Himself up, and caid unto them, ''e that is without sin atoms you, let him first cast a stone of her."

That was "is decision! Tid to see the was not multy" Fid Te can she should be stored. To Te didn't new wither of these. The is insuer to is lied that she was multy and should be muniched, but Te put the burden upon her accusers It was up to ther to punish her, to execute her. The the condition was, thus any of them who were without sin, could begin the execution. It's a cod possibility nome of these mon accusing ter, were multy of shultery themselves and Josus knew it.

fo ofter de has said this we read, " al amain de stoored dewa, and wrote on the ground."

Jerus isnored than and made it possible for them to make up their minds as to what they would do. Up has been take shout what He wrote on the ground and people are always asking that quostion. But that quostion is immeterial. In don't know what he wrote, and it had no actual bearing on this erisode. We may have been playing some sort of some like tic-tac-toe with Himself. Ill we of that is of no concern. But is of concern is how he have these represented leaders a chance to have face and me' out of there these represented leaders a chance to have face and me' out of there makefully and so we read, "Ind when they heard it, being convicted by their own conscience, went out one by one, benithing at the eldest, even unto the list: and desus was left alone, and the woman standing in the midst."

Low this merely fells us that those who brought the woran departed starting with the closet. It doesn't fell us that deput and the women were the olv two left on the spot. It tells up that deputs was left alone by these people with the women standing in the midst of the people who were still there for desus' teaching. It was at this roint then that deputs for the first time speaks to the woman. And we read: "Then desus had lifted up limbelf, and saw nore but the women, to said unto her, ' Joman, where are those thine accusers Hath no man condemned thee?' The said, 'No man, Lord.' And down said unto her, 'Seither do I condemn thee: me and sin no more.'"

It took two witnesses to bring charges against someone and to make those charges stick. But none of the accusers stuck around to make the charge stick. 'o what happines when there is insufficient evidence? The case is thrown out of court. And this is what desus did. Now we can see that Jesus was confronted with two choices here. Each of those choices had to do with forgiveness. The first one would have been a type of for riveness which was sort of conditional.

(Illustration wommn, husband dying and leaving everything to another woman) ' man died and his widow expected to receive all of his estate which was quite considerable. 'he nave him a nice funeral and bought an expensive headstone. Tut several days later after the funeral and the will was read, she discovered that he had left everything to his secretary and left '5 to kigxwifex her. He was furious and went to the tombatone company, and talked to the chiceler. 'he told im she wanted the inscription changed on the stone. "I can't do that 'a'am. You talk me to inscribe 'Fest in eace on the stone and that's what I did. I con't change it new unless you want to huw a new store." The thought shout it for a moment.ind the didn't want to the read anymore of her own money to the said, "Tight after the 'Pest In leace' I want you to chisel in the words -- 'mill' Neet 'rain.'" From this incident we can see this woman was unwilling to forget what had happened to her. Ind ion't this the kind of forgiveness exacted by many reache. Take you ever hear!, or have you said it yourself? "I can forgive, but I can't forget." Jesus had that choice at this point. "He woman was accused of what was considered one of the three most serious crimes possible. We could have said to her in front of those people, 'You are rully of this terrible cin, but I forgive you. But I want you to remember that you cormitted it and all of themas these people will always remember it." The could have read that, but The didn't. Instead, Jesus maye her the kind of forgivemess that "e wants all of us to practice and that is the forgiveness of forcettion that it ever harpened.

Jesus had been teaching at the Passt of the Tabernacles for the past few days and word had oppend through the crowds gathered for the feast. This then created another prowd around Jesus. Feagle knew of the fame of Jesus and so naturally, they wonted to see dim and hear lim.

"be lest worse 53 of chapter 7 of Jon's Coepel Scorme us, " "D WERNIN, LVE MAR TO If I LOTTL"

This doesn't tell up the time but it was probably late in the overing and the audience listening to Jesus went home for the might. No one invited Jesus to even the might at their house and so we read in the lat verie of the Cath phaster of John, where the list i The New Province ...

This wapp't around because form often went to the fourt and ment the right way from everything and everybedy.

The new day sawns and ther informe us: "TO A LART THE YOUT AND THE ADA'N INCOME. "D" LL, ATT II THE INCOME THIS WAS AT THE Break of day when Jerus came back to the Temple in Jerusalem. The people must have more some kind of arrangements that when Jerus arpeare the word was spread and they came main to hear Wim speak. Notice in the pripture it says, "WAL "WE INCOME FOR TO HIM." That means His audience of the day before was accin in front of Him to lister and Leura.

"office also fon tells us, " The Tric ? ... The THEM." If Jone were just an ordianary teacher "e would have tought them while standing up. But by section inself to to the shows that We had authority, or mask. Only Pabbi's tought while sected.

But while Security to the first of the standard of the first standard of the first verse, "Information of the first standard of the

This woman did not come willingly with these men, she was probably draged there and when we read she was "SET I" INI WIDDT," it probably means she was flung, or cast on the ground right in front of Jesus. Maving done this they inform Jesus, ""G: "C IC, I' THE IAL, CONTROLLY DE BUG THEY BUILT BUILTOFFL. BUILTAR D. YOU GATS ' THE THEYGAIL, INDITED HT, THET THEY SECTED THEY OF FLORE IS ACCOUNT THE." Verses 5 - 64.

At first plance this episode seems like an ordinary case of pointing out sin and providing the punishment for it. Jecus knew that this episode was not the simple case it seemed to be. This was an obvious conspiracy and Jecus was aware that He was in trouble po matter what He decided. So being confronted in this manner, John tells us, "BUE JESUS TE OPEL TOWN AND ABOVE ON THE TROUGH AND THIS FINGER, SE I TUGLI WE LIP NOT "LAR." Werse 68.

"e don't know what Jesus wrote on the ground, it's immaterial. But I believe that Te was thinking this situation torough and this pause caused everyone to become anxious and want the situation resolved.

This conspracy the Scribes and Charisees had hatched was a Good one. It placed Wesus in a dileron that no matter what "e pronounced as judgement, 'e would entrap "immelf. The fact was that the woman had been apufit in the act of adultery and being guilty whe was aliable for the destro penalty as prescribed by Jewish Taw. But the law also provided the dent's penalty for the man involved as well. They were both wilty and both could be stoned. I'' where was the man? He had conveniently worked out this little scheme, was probably maid to do so and had now conveniently disappeared.

Yow if Jesus said she had brockn the law and was ruilty such be stoned. We was compr arainst what We had been preaching. The Pharisees could go to Pilate and cave His arrested for moing against the Roman law.

If le declared the sh uld be set free, We was condering sin. And thus, the Tharisees bolieved they had Jecus in a bind. Twaryone was now anxious that this situation he resolved, and their impatience is showing because John writes: "10 111 11 0 000 minutes ANLIGHT, TETELET TO THE AND TH

These words of Jesus silenced any and all who were demanding an answer. Jesus didn't condemn the woran, but neither did He justify her sin.

Ind after Jesus had said this, we read, ""IT TITE STORES TO THE TABLE TO THE TABLE TO THE

Cesus sold what he had to see and now "e was seemingly ignoring thos who were clamoring for justice. And it arpears that those people for the message for John tells us, "Turn" TO WELL IN, BEING DUNIE IT AN INTE CONSETTOR, THE CAN SHE WE, SECTIONING 12: DO CLUD AND TO THE LADD. AND CREWE SAL TENT ICAL, AND THE COMPANY OF WARMY IN THE MILLT." forse 9.

Those who believed they had Jesus tra ped no matter what He did, he very ouickly taken notice that they were the ones who had failed and they slinked off one by one until only Jecus and the woman remained.

So John tells us: WER JUNE WERE SAUE STRORIE WE AND IN COME WERE THAT, WE TAED TO THE, " CTUDE, STITE AND STORE GOUSER OF Y USED HEAST AND PORTON YOUR OF Jospis didn't pronounce judgement on her, 'le merely asked if any of those who had brought her here had condemned her.

"ST STIL, "NC "NE, LCRE."" Verte 11%. Following her answer we read, "ANY JUNUS STIL TO WE, NETTUSE DO I CONDENN VOTO ME SIM NO MORE." Verse 113.

Seconding to Jewish Law it took two witnesses to bring charges against someone and to make those charges stick. In this instance all the accusers left and there was no case t'et could be brought upsinst her. So what happens when there is insufficient evidence: The case is thrown out and this woman is left alone in the presence of drusy Jesus. But Jesus said something to her which on other occasions had prompted scepticism concerning what 'le could and could not do. "ese 'le tells her that ther sine are forgiven. Prelude *Hymn "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross"

When I Survey the wondrous cross On Which the Prince of glory died, My richest gain I count but loss, And pour contempt on all my pride.

Forbid it Lord, that I should boast, Save in the death of Christ my God; All the vain things that charm me most, I sacrifice them to His blood.

See, from His head, His hands, His feet, Sorrow and love flow mingled down: Did e'er such love and sorrow meet, Or thorns compose so rich a crown?

Were the whole realm of nature mine, That were a present far too small; Love so amazing, so divine, Demands my soul, my life, my all. Amera.

"When It's Over It's Time: To Make Music"

2/24/85

Scripture: Ephesians 5: 15-20 As we have said before,

At the beginning of Jesus' ministry, He read a Scripture from Isaiah in the synagogue in Nazareth as we find recorded in Juke 4:18-19, (readthis). Howard Thurman a Fresbyterian minister wrote the lines, (read this).

Since C"ristmas we have been involved in a series in which we have looked at each one of these issues. Now we have come to the final issue which admonishes us that, "When It's (ver It's Time: To Make Music." For our J_ripture we are looking at Faul's words to the church in Ephesus.

In this 5th chapter he is advising, in the 15th verse, "See then that ye walk circumspectly, not as fools, but as wise."

The Greek word used for "circumspectly" means, "exactly, carefully, accurately." And the literal interpretation would read, "be constantly taking heed how accurately you are conducting yourselves." Paul's advice is to the believer to watch how he lives, how his daily walk is measured by seeking to live Christlike, and how he avoids sinful acts by keeping close scrutiny on every aspect of his life. Someone who is foolish is not prepared or preparing themselves each moment of every day for Christian living and Paul's continued advice is to act as a wise man and not as a foolish one. Remember the illustration that Jesus gave c ncerning the 10 wise virgins and the ten foolish ones? The 16 wise virgins had their lamps trimmed and oil to maintain them for extended use. The foolish ones ran out of oil and when they went to get some the bridegroom was ushered into the house, the door was shut, and they missed out on the wedding feast. And Jesus advice was to "watch and wait." This is exactly what Faul was saying about living the Christian life day by day.

His further advice, completing the sentence in the 16th verse is, "Redeeming the time, because the days are evil."

Faul was advising for believer to make the book possible name of fictor time because the times in which they lived were full of troubles and temptations and all of the other things which can and do keep a believer from living the Whristian life. Paul was saying to "redeem" or to "buy up those fleeting monents which will never come again. Kyle Samuel Crichton writes: Life's a precious and wonderful thing. You can't sit down and let it lap around you. ...you have to plunge into it; you have to dive intensit through it! And you can't save it, you can't store it up; you can't horde it in a vault. You've got to taste it, you've got to use it. The more you use the more you have... ... that's%the miracle of it."

This is what Paul measn by "Redeeming the time." There's a new song out which which sings, "Time, don't run out on me." And that is what is happening in each of our lives whether we want it to happen or not. We can't stop it. As we sit here, the minutes of our life are ticking away. Each tick shortens our life by another moment. What are we doing with our lives that is counting for eternity? Someone has said, "One life, twill soon be past, only that done Eliaabeth I. for Christ will last." What are we doing for Jesus Christ? Queen XIANNIA ruled an empire on which it was boasted the sun never set. That is because no matter where the sun was shining it was shining on some territory owned or operated by the British Kingdom. She had closets of clothes that she never could possibly completely wear; she had more food than anyone could ever eat; she possessed all and more that life had to offer anyone; and yet, when she lay on her deathbed she cried for "I will give millions for another inch of time." She had enjoyed 70 years of life, but used them for the gathering of wealth and the pursuit of pleasures and ambitions.

Then Paul gives the advice, "Wherefore be ye not unwise, but understanding what the will of the Lord is. And be not drunk with wine, wherein is excess: byt be filled with the Spirit."

The will of God is that His Holy Spirit indwells us to the point of our being so filled with Him, with God and the things of God that it is as though we were drunk. Remember in the book of Acts how ~pirit filled the disciples were and the people around them accused them of being drunk? This is what Haul is saying should be evidenced in the believers life. The yielded life to the Lord is shown by a life being lived in the strength and power from the Lord Himself.

And then Paul continues his advice by telling the believers, "Speaking to yourselves in psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, singing and making melody in your hearts to the Lord; giving thanks always for all things unto God and the Father in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ; submitting yourselves one to another in the fear of the Lord."

In these verses Faul is setting forth the results of being Spirit-filled. In these verses we see four basic things. First, Faul says that believers should be, "speaking to yourselves" and by this he means that together they should be sharing together in Psalms, hymnw, and spiritual songs. Now there are those who try to differentiate between these types of musical composition Faul was merely saying to sing Psalms which were done in some congregations. These were the Fsalms of David as sung by the Jews in their worship and were handed down to the Christian congregations. But there were those who were composing Christian hymns and spiritualy directed songs and music for worship. Faul is saying that believers whould be encouraged to lift up their hearts and voices in giving praise to God in this manner. And what he is saying is still Biblical and Beriptural because we read several times in the Tsalms of David that he admonishes, "Make a joyful noise unto the Lord." This meant to sing and to play musical instruments in the worship of God.

The second thing in these verses is the "singing and making melody in your heart to the Lord."

Once again, this is the lifting of hearts and spirits in singing to God for what He has done for the believer.

The thid thing is to "give thanks always to God the Father," for all things. A believer should be overwhelmed by the complete love given by God as shown through Jesus Christ. This should evoke a thankful heart and spirit in which each believer renders his thanks in many different ways in his life. It is prayer that we do this; it is by public worship; it is by reading and obeying God's Word; and it is by doing deeds of Christian servace whenever and whereever possible.

And the fourth thing is for believers to submit to one another. This means that in the household of faith, in the congregation in which we serve and belong we seek to submit ourselves to the advancement and well-being of each other. It isn't a one man show, or an individualistic effort. Instead, it is a combined effort of showing forth our love and concern for one another. We help each other to grow in the faith and we do this by submitting our desire for personal gain or clory to sharing what we are and what we have together.

In each of the issues we have looked at each week, we have seen that all of them are an outgrowth of Christmas. Christmas brings into our hearts and lives the infant Jesus who grew to manhood and began His public ministry after the preliminaries of preparation for ministry. Christmas equips us with the preliminary to begin our Christian lives, but when the song of the angels is silent; when the star in the sky is gone; when the kings and the princes are home; when the shepherds are again tending their sheep; when the manger is darkened and still, the work of Christmas begins: to find the lost.

to heal the broken, to feed the hungry, to rebuild the nations, to bring peace among the people, to befriend the lonely, to release the prisoner, to make music in the heart.

(Illustration of woman and life in music leaster of a music applied) W woman attended a meeting where she met her former high school music teacher whom she hadn't open for many years. The introduce l'appelf and then explained how the much extra time and encouragement the teacher had given her. She said, "I was so in pired by on that I decided to continue my music education in college and graduate school. Now Lan a music professor and the head of the entire music department of a certain college," which she named. Later as they said goodbye to each other, yhe teacher said to her former pupil, "Thank you for saying those nice things about my teaching and encouragement. You have made my day." The woman replied, "Oh no, let me thank you. You've made my life."

Jesus Christ comes into our lives each year at Christmas, but when Christmas is over and we have learned what it is to be a follower of Him, I believe we too can say to Him, Thank you Lord Tesus, You've made my life. Let us be about the work of Christmas and with each of the things we should be doing as we live our daily lives, let those lives we live give forth the making of music in our hearts.

"Seen In The Crowd: A Traitor"

Scripture: Matthew 26:14-16

During the preaching of Jesus we often read in Scripture of the "crowds" or "multitudes" which followed Him. Thus it is ironic that in the last days of His life He was also surrounded by a crowd. But this crowd was a mixture. In that crowd were people who truly loved Him and had been brought to salvation by Him; and in that crowd were those whose curiousity was aroused and they were still unable to make up their minds whether they wanted to be followers or not; and also in that crowd were those who were definitely hostile to Him and sought to have Him put to death. So as we view that crowd, we are going to look at a few select individuals and analyse them as much as we possibly can. Those we will be looking at are not all enemies of Jesus. A few of them are different from the others. But one thing is certain, and that is in any crowd which surrounds Jesus Christ, there are those elements of love and service, or elements of unbelief and disservice. And this includes the very Church of Jesus Christ. We know that no matter how hard any and all within the Church of Jesus Christ seek to keep it pure and spotless, there are still those who become members of the Church and are far from being committed to Jesus. So with this background let us look at those who were "Seen In The Crowd," and let us in particular look at "A Traitor."

The man of course is Judas Iscariot. He derives his name "Iscariot" because he was a man from the town of "IEH-KERDOTH," which was located in Judea. So we are talking of a man cormonly called, "Judas of Kerioth" and other than where he came from, we know nothing more about him. But since he was from Kerioth he was a Judean and probably from the tribe of Judah because we read in Joshua 15:25 that Kerioth was one of the cities given to the tribe of Judah in which they could live. All of the other disciples were Galileans and Judas was a Judean. So in this we see that he was separated from all of the rest from the very beginning. Now as we try to analyse this man we know that he was with Jesus for 3 years. He had listened to Him; he had been taught by Him; he had been given the power to heal like the other disciples by Him; and yet there was something which made Judas turn against Jesus. Low please understand, regardless of what we say here this morning, nothing can erase the fact that Judas was "A Traitor." He betrayed Jesus, even though he had opportunity to do otherwise. So as we come to this portion of Scripture. we know that Judas had been a disciple like the others and was probably respected by them, because Jesus gave him the job of handling the money bag which constituted all of their earthly wealth. It was from this bag that Judas dispatched money to be given to the roor and to purchase their food and what other necessities they might need. So we can grasp from this that Judas was not an outcast during the three years ministry of Jesus.

Frior to what we are using for our Scripture for this morning there is an incident in which Jesus and His disciples were at the home of Simon the Leper. There was a woman there who has been identified as Mary the sister of Martha and lazarus. She poured a perfumed ointment on the head of Jesus and the disciples saw this as a waste and spoke out against it. In the Gospel of John, Jidas is pointed out as the one who asks why this perfume was not sold and the money given to the poor. And John further states that Judas was not interested in the poor, but in replacing the money he had stolen from the purse. Here is the prelude to the events which futher transpired for Judas. It may well be that all hopes Judas had for Jesus setting up His kingdom vanished when he saw Him excusing the waste of expensive perfume as an anointing of Himself for burial.

So then we read, (read the scripture, verses 14-16). Now we need to ask why Judas was willing to betray Jesus for the thirty pieces of silver, which was the price of a common slave? What drove him to it? And why after being no more disobedient than any of the other disciples, did he suddenly find reason to sell his master?

In order to answer these questions we must investigate what may have been his hidden motive. Judas may have joined the select group of disciples completely believing that Jesus was the promised Messiah. He was accepted by Jesus and given responsibility like all the rest. He must have been accepted by the other disciples or they would not have mermitted him to handle the money bag. Judas may well have thought that Jesus was going to set up His kingdom and each of the twelve disciples would have a part in the ruling of it. Judas may have envisioned binself as being the treasurer of that kingdom. And after all, Jesus was always talking about the kingdom. Then along came the entry into Jeru-alem and Jamma was hailed as a King. Surely this would set the wheels in motion for desus to overbloow the Tomana. But when Jesus returned to Bethany and spoke of dying, perhaps this sparked Judas to instigate a move to force the hand of Jesus to assert Himself and establish His kingdow on earth. So one knows for oprimin if any of this is true, but we do have Scripture to back up a supposition such as this. The question always remains, "Why did Jesus choose Judas? Did He know that Judas would betray Him? And if He did why pick someone who would turn against Him?" W, don't know all of the answers, but we do know that Judas conducted himself like all of the rest. He wusn't called Satan like Feter was one time. Peter had been privileged to see Jesus' Transfiguration and to share that spiritual mountaintop experience. Yet when he came back down from that experience he made a declara tion that contradicted what Jesus had said about having to suffer and ima die. And at this point, Jesus said, "Get behind me Satan." So after Sat Judas had made the arrangements and Jesus was sharing the Fassove to betray Jesus. And the scene is that of Jesus sharing the Last Supper with His disciples. So we read in the 21st and 22nd verses of this chapter, (read these). Now from this response to what Jesus had said, it is evident that no one knew who the betrayer was. Had they known, they would not have questioned, but would have pointed the finger.

Then Jesus said in verses 23 and 24, (read these). It was customary for the host to take the elements of food at the Passover, and to PERS dip them together, and then to pass them on to the next person. As far as we know, the seating arrangement was that the pillows on which they reclined were placed in a U shape with the table inside of the U. On the first pillows on the left side of the table reclined John, the beloved disciple of Jesus. Then Jesus sat, and next to Him on His left was Judas. We read in John's Gospel that John asked who the traitor was, and Jesus gave the same answer as recorded here and then gave the dipped food to Judas. But in all probability, Jesus didn't speak loudly so everyone could hear. And John also says that Jesus spoke to Judas and told him whatever he was going to od, to do quickly. And Judas departed. But we don't read of any of the other diciples questioning where he was going or what he was going to do. They probably believed he was on an errand for the Lord.

Now the scene is set for the arrest of Jerus as arganged by Judas. We begin reading at verse 47 and read through verse 49, (read these). Here is the kiss of betrayal by the Traitor. But involved in this is the hidden meaning which opens the question of just what the motives of Judas really were. His arrangement to identify Jesus was a kiss which in Greek is the word "FHILEIN" It was customary for a disciple or follower of a beloved Rabbi to greet him with a kiss. So there was nothing unusual about this. But when Judas come up to Jesus we read that he greeted Him and said, "Hail, master; and kissed Him." Now his agreement was to merely kiss Him. But instead, he gave Jesus the greeting given to a beloved teacher. And the word for kissed is "KATA-PHILEIN," which is an altogether different word than just "kiss." This Greek word means to "kiss repeatedly, passionately, fervently." Now how could a man bent on betrayal kiss the betrayed repeatedly, passionately, or fervently? It is most likely that had the only intent of Judas have been to deliver Jesus to the authorities, he would have given "im a peck on the cheek to identify Him. Instead, he kissed Him as one beloved. One answer may well be that when Judas stepped back, he expected Jesus to begin to blast these people and to assert Himself as the Messiah and begin to establish His kingdom. But Jesus didn't do this and this must have shatered Judas completely. The next we read of him is in the 27th chapter of Matthew beginning with the 3rd verse. We read, (read verses 3 through 5). Judas was now aware of the Borrible thing which he had done. He was ashamed, disgusted with himself and may well have been his plan to prod Jesus into action had backfired and he was completely disillusioned and shattered. So he went to the temple and the interesting thing about it is that the word used for the temple is not that of its precincts or outside courts, it is the word for temple itself. This means that Judas passed through the outer courts and into the Court of the Israelites which was outside of the Court of the Friests and as far as he could go. He called out to them to take their money back, but t ey wouldn't. And so he flung the money at them and went out and hung himself. In his despair Judas can see no other way than to end it all. So he went out to where the Fidron and the Hinnom valleys merged and he climbed the hill and at the summit stopped at one of the trees. He unwound thelong girdle that held his robe together at the middle and tying it to the tree, put it around his neck and stepped off the edge. But either the girdle broke under his weight, or the limb broke or both, and he was thrown down on the rocks of the cliff and died as Peter said he did as recorded in Acts 1:18.

As we look at "The Traitor"as xeen "Seen In The Crowd, " just what it is it we are seeing? Someone has written, "Still as of old, Man by himself is priced, For thirty pieces Efxetiver Judas sold Himself, not Christ." No matter how we look at Judas we see him as a man who refused to accept Jesus as He was. He tried to make Jesus what he wanted Him to be. It is not Jesus who can be changed by us, but we who must be changed by Jesus. You may have read the mausing little story recently in the Our Daily Bread booklet which told of a pompous, strutting Sunday School teacher who asked his class, "Why do people say I'm a Christian!" One little boy raisel his hard and assent, "Maybe it's because they don't know you." Our people Pentify us as being Christians? Do they see Christ in our lives? because He has changed us? Or do they see people who identify with Christ, but are trying to make Jesus suit our lives and lifestyles? Judas started out as a devoted follower, but somewhere along the way he decided to change Jesus to suit his needs. Imagine what would have happened if he would have let Jeus change him insteal: Let us let Jesus change us and see what He can do in our lives!

"Seen In The Crowd: A Folitician"

Scripture: John 18:12-14

(Illustration of poilitcal candidates arguing in debate)

Two political candidates sens involved in a "reated librate. Finally one of them justed to the form of solved, at the other, "that about the powerful interests that control you?" And the other guy yelled back, "You leave my wife out of this."

The arrest and trial of Jesus was somewhat similar to this involving those who are "Seen In The Growd." Who do you believe was the sinister forme person involved in this deed? On whose shoulders would you say rested the responsibility for this gross miscarriage of justice? Ferhaps we may be tempted to say that it was the crowd itself which was guilty. These people yelled themselves hoarse asking that Barabbas be released instead of Jesus. They roared out with the cry, "Cricify Him, crucify Him," and for this we may think theirs was the most serious crime. But they were actually doing the urging and bidding of others who taunted them and pushed them into these outcrys.

Ferhaps we may be tempted to say that it was Filate who was the most sinister in this plot to destroy Jesus. There are legitimate grounds for this. But regardless of what he did Filate was not the man. So just who was this man? Our Scripture this morning points to two men and the group they controlled. But of the two men, which one is guilty of the plot against Jesus? We read in the 1²th verse, "Then the band and the captain and officers of the Jews took Jesus and bound Vim." Following this, the answer is given in the 13th verse. We read: "And led Him away to Annas first."

There is the guilty man! The man named Annas. And who was he? Reading further in the 13th verse we discover, "For he was the father of Calaphas, which was the high priest that same year."

And then what do we know of Caiaphas? Just what we read in the 14th verse, "Now Caiaphas was he, which gave counsel to the Jews, that it was expedient that one man should die for the people."

When Jesus raised Lazarus from the dead we read in JohnsGospel that many Jews came to believe on Him. This is recorded in the 11th chapter at the 45th verse. Since that's only a few chapters back from this one, you may want to turn to it and seecwhat John says. At the 45th verse we read, "Then many of the Jews who came to Mary, and had seen the things which Jesus did, believed on Him."

But as always, there are those who don't know what they believe and in order to keep the statue quo, went to the so called "authorities." So we read in the 46th verse, "But some of them went their ways to the Pharisees, and told them what things Jesus had done."

In other words, their conversations were something like this: "This fellow is changing bills around. Maybersomething should be done to stop Him. Before we know it, all our old ways of worship and synagogue rules and regulations will be done many with and we won't have things like they've always been." In other words, they didn't like or want this guy making waves with the religious end lishment like He was. So then because of the reports received about Him, it is no wonder we real in the 47th and 48th verses, "Then gathered the chief priests and the Duarisees a council, and raid, 'Det do ge? For this man doeth many miracles. If we let Him thus alone, all men will believe on Dia; and the Romans shall come and take away both our place and nation.'"

The special council which was the Sanhedrin, the supreme court, or council of the Jews who called into reasion. The Bunkelrin was analysed if Florence of which the chief priest was the president or head. So we read in the 49th and 50th verses, "And he of them, named Caiaphas, being the high priest that same year, said unto them, 'Ye know nothing at all, nor consider that it is expedient for us that one man should die for the people, and that the whole nation perish not.'"

From his words and thinking it was clear that he was thinking along the lines of the Romans destroying the nation of Israel completely because of treason which this Jesus was supposedly bringing about. There had been talk of Him being a King and setting up a king was strictly forbidd n and against the Roman government. But look at where his thinking ame from. In the 51st xex verse we read, "And this spoke he not of himself; but, being high priest that year, he prophesied that Jesus should die for that nation."

Now why didn't Caia has speak for himself? Who was he getting his directions - from? The answer is, from Annas his father-in-law. Annas was the man begind the scenes pulling the strings. So now we see where Camaphas came up with the idea of one man dying for the nation instead of the entire nation being destroyed. It sounds good doesn't it? It makes sense to sacrifice one and not everyone. But just why would Annas propose that Jesus be the one sacrificed? The first time we read of this proposal in John 11, Jesus had cleansed the temple of the moneychangers. And this second reading as found in our Scripty ure this morning took place after Jesus had cleansed the temple for the second time. Jesus had struck too close to home once too often. He had hit the powers that were right where it hurt. That was in their pockets and their pocketbooks. Anthough Annas was technically not in power which the high priest controlled, nevertheless he was the man behind the scenes controlling and maneuvering and manipulating everything. Annas was what many politicians are and that is men behind the scenes who control votes and favors and things anxanity either get done, or don't get done on the say so of a political machine built usually by one powerful man. Annas was selected as the high priest in 6AD and he rule until 15A.D. He was replaced by the one of his sons by the Roman governor. But Annas was able to control the situation and saw to it that five of his sons became the high priest in succession and when each in turn was to be deposed, it was Annas who pulled the strings in the background to be replaced by yet another son. But he ran out of son's and so he had to resort to his son-in-law as the next replacement. Now how did

Annas accomplish this? By greasing the proper palms. Annas was a very weiz wealthy man and he became wealthy by sealing Advimals for sacrifce in the Temp. le and exchanging foreign money for the coin of the realm with which to pay the temple tax. But for the Audimals and for the money exchange, he charged exorbitant sums of money and through his conniving and schemeing he made it virtually impossible to buy sacrificial Adimals, or exchange money cutside of the temple.area. Animals bought outsdie, mysteriously were designated as blemished and unclean; money exchanged outside of the temple was considered counterfeit. So you see he had a good racket going and Jesus was distunbing it and making waves. But Annas didn't need anymore money, because at the time of this incident his life was coming to a close. He was 70 years old at this time. But what he wanted and needed was power and he couldn't let go of that desire. Jesus also clashed with Annas and his sons former high priests, and the present .high priest Caiaphas because these men were Sadducees. Those who belonged to this sect did not believe in life after death, and they denied any rewards or punishments beyond this life and taught that the soul dies with the body. And that is what made them "sad, you see." But here was Jesus not only talking about a life beyond this, but raising people from the dead and disproving the theories of these people.

Bobit was probably Annas who made the arrangements to buy off Judas to deliver Jesus into their hands. And notice in this Scripture that it says they "led Jesus away to Annas first." Along with the temple police were some Roman guards to capture Jesus. And guess who probably paid them the Roman authorities to supply the guards?

Then we read in the 24th verse of this same chapter, "Now Annas had sent Him bound unto Caiaphas the high priest."

After Annas had been satisfied that this one who was causing him so much trouble was now renedered harmless, he sent him to his son-in-law for the mockery of sentencing to appear before the puppet governor Fontius Pilate. To all intents and purposes, Annas had beaten yet another enemy that had threatened his little empire. We can well imagine that he srttled down that night in his house, chuckling to himself how he had succeeded in disposing of this upstart so called Messiah.

Eut what of Annas? "id he really win? He may have won another battle, but he eventually lost the war. What did Jesus say about him? In John 19:11 we read, "Jesus answered, 'Thou couldest have no power at all against Me, except it were given thee from above: therefore he that delivered Me unto thee hath the greater sin.'"

Jesus said that Annas, the man behind the scenes who was responsible for having Him brought before Pilate, was more sinful than Pilate in his role of judge and jury. Jesus taught that the law of life was that of sowing and reaping. WWhatsoever ye sow, that shall ye also reap." Annas sowed the seeds

"Seen In The Crowd: An Obstinate Coward"

Scripture: Matthew 27:11-26

The scene opens with a hastily called mesumption of a meeting of the Sanhedrin which had ended in the wee hours of the morning. Now these Jewish leaders, all 71 of them were assembled and we read in the 1st verse of this 27th chapter of Matthew, "When the morning was come, all the chief priests and elders of the people took counsel against Jesus to put Him to death."

Their meeting was held to bring charges against Jesus which would result in His death. But their job was to convince Pilate, the Roman Governor of the need for His execution. So determining their strategy, Matthew doesn't elaborate on what they conclusion they had arrived at, he simply statesxin verse 2, "And when they had bound Jesus Him, (Jesus), they led Him away, and delivered Him to Fontius Filate the governor."

Pontius Filate was the 6th Roman procurator of Judea. He was appointed in A.D. 25 by the Emperor Tiberius. One of the first things he did as the new governor was to remove the army headquarters from Caesaria to Jerusalem. The Roman soldiers marched into Jerusalem carrying the standards on which was the image of the emperor. This caused an outcry by the Jews because it was in opposition to their comandment of not making or having graven images. They demanded from Pilate that those images be removed from Jerusalem. Pilate wax refused to do so amid the near rioting of the Jews. Now whether he ordered the standards removed himself, or was ordered to do so by Tiberius, there is speculation. But he did order this to take place and a semblance of peace existed once again. But whether Tiberius was involved in the situation or not, Pilate was in all probability in the somewhat of a bad light in the emperor's eyes. So it is not surprising that Pilate handled this case as he did.

So the Sanhedrin marched Jesus from the palace of the high priest to the palace of Filate. From Scripture we read, "When the morning was come," and this meant about 6:00 A.M., because this was when the Jewish day began. Bo they presented themselves before ilate around 6:00 A.M. In all probability they informed one of the soldiers standing gummed that they wanted an audience with the governor. Someone was dispatched to get the governor. And can you imagine the greeting these members of the Sanhedrin must have received from Filate? At this hour of the morning he was probably never up and about. So having aroused him from his comfortable bed, hours ahead of time; he hadn't had time for a cup of coffee, or an eye-opener and was probably as mean as a bear awakened from hibernation. But to add insult to injury, these Jewish leaders would not present themselves and their prisoner before his throne, because they would have defiled themselves by entering the palace of this "Gentile." So instead of them being ushered into his throneroom, he had to go outsdie to speak to them. So we have the picture of a man about to embark on"one of those days." So as he faced these people he probably thought of as contemptable Jews, he began his proceedings with a question to the Jews. John tells us that Pilate asked them what charges they had brought against this man. Instead of giving a specific answer to this question they said, If He were not a friminal we would not have brought Him to you." Now this was certainly no way to answer the Roman governor. Tweir reply didn't help Filate's disposition we can be assured. With the answer they gave him, Filate told them to take Jesus and to judge Him according to their own law. He was thinking in terms of Jesus being judged guilty of some small infraction of the Jewish code which he probably detested. But they answered him, that it was against Roman law to put someone to death. It was at this point then that Filate recognized that they were accusing Jesus of treason. He knew that he had to investigate this more fully or he would be accused of not doing the duty entrusted to him by the Emperor.

So he took Jesus privately into his palace to question Him there. So we read in the 11th verse, "And Jesus stood before the governor: and the governor asked Him saying, 'Art Thou the king of the Jews?"

Pilate was determining for himself what to do with this man who he very evidently believed to be innocent. Jesus gave him a reply which should have sealed His fate, because He answered accroding to Matthew, "Thou sayest." He didn't deny He was considered as the King of the Jews. Here was all the proof Pilate needed, and he was justified in declaring Him guilty of treason against Rome and for this should receive the death penalty. But he didn't do We read further of the interrogation taking place in verses 12 to 14, (read these). So we can see that Filate must have tried . o be an honest man. W, must say that, because he diln't condern Jesus bail that he had every reason to. Inke tells us that like told that I found in foul it illing. But they inform Pilate that this man has stirred up the people all the way from Galilee. Hearing Galilee mentioned, gives Pilate a chance to get out of this mess after all. If this prisoner is a Calilean, then He falls under the jurisdiction of Herod, the man who King of the Jews at that time. So the soldiers march Jesus off to Herod for an audiende. But Herod is only interested in Jesus doing some miracles and when He refuses to do so, Herod marches "im right back to Pilate.

So Filate, wanting to wriggle off the hook decides upon a plan whereby the crowd will make the decision. So we read interaction starting at the 15th verse, "Now at that feast the governor was wont to release unto the people a prisoner whom they would. And they had a notable prisoner, called Barabbas. Therefore when they were gathered together, Filate said unto them, 'whom will ye that I release unto you? Barabbas, or Jesus which is called Christ?' For he knew that for envy they had delivered Him."

Barabbas was a man who had stirred up insurrection against the Romans and was also a murderer. Filate was probably relatively certain the Jews would not ask for his release. Ironically, Barabbas name was also Jesus. Jesus Barabbas, or Jesus son of a man named Abbas, as opposed to Jesus of Mazareth, or Jesus in Christ, Meaning Jesus the anointed One.

Having thus made this offer, Pilate went into the judgement hall and we read in verse 19, "When he was set down on the judgement seat, his wife sent unto him, saying, Have thou nothing to do with that kust man: for I have suffered many things this day in a dream because of Him.""

A servant had been dispatched to Filate from his wife with this message. Dreams meant much to the Romans and messages within them were highly thought of. But while Filate is away from the Sanhedrin and the mob they have assembled, the high priest and others have spread the word to ask for the release of Barabbas, as we learn from the 20th verse. And Pilate asks them, "Whether of the twain will ye that I release unto you?' They said, 'Barabbas.'" vs 21 This is completely contrary to what he must have believed would happen. Now what can he do? In utter futility and desperation he asks, ""What shall I do then with Jesus which is called Christ?" vs 22a.

And unexpectedly they answer, "Let Him be crucified." vs 22b.

W nting to salvage the situation and not make the dreaded promouncement, "And the governor said, 'why, what evil hath He done?'" verse 23a.

But the mob has been thoroughly stirred up and the answer they give is, "They all say unto him, 'Let Him be crucified." verse 23b.

Invite the spectrum of filter answer with a solution of the second of t

Filate didn't know what to do. He was completely rattled at this time. So we read, "When Pilate saw that he could prevail nothing, but that rather a tumult was made, he took water, and washed his hands before the multitude, saying, 'I am innocent of the blood of this just person: see ye to it.'" He took the opportunity to use a Jewish custom to show his innocence of any guilt in these proceedings. He knew that a riot was close to taking place and if this happened it would put him in a bad light. So he washes his hands, thus absolving himself from all guilt, or so it seems.

And the people, being stirred to the point of wanting blood, cried,out, "His blood be on us, and on our children."

Lo Filate, satisfied that he was administering justice as the people wanted it took the action promised. And we read in the 26th verse, "Then he released Barabbas unto them." And in order to show that he had taken action against the prisoner, so that he couldn't be accused of doing nothing, we read, "And when he had scourged Jesus, he delivered Him to be crucified."

Filate was saying in this action, 'I'm not guilty of His blood, and I'll do what the law prescribes." Scourging was a beating under which many men died. It was a brutal beating which tore and lacerated the back of the victim. After this beating, the soldiers put a crown of thorns on his head and put a purple robe on Him and mocked Him. They brought Him back to Pilate and we read in John 19:5, "Then came forth Jesus wearing the crown of torns and the purple robe. And Filate saith unto them, 'Behold the man!'" It's almost But this didn't satisfy the mobu for they should all the rinder x for extra the state of the satisfy t XrusifyxHinxX as if he is saying, "You wanted Him to suffer, and I have taken care of it. Isn't this enough?" But the mob is not satisfied. They are out for nothing less than His blood. The Sanhedrin were probably instigating the mob behind the scenes. And we can well imagine that Annas was there as well to make sure that justice was done. We also read in John 19:12 that the Jews cried out that if Filate didn't pass the death sentence he wasn't a friend of Caesar's because Jesus had set Mimself up as a king and whoever made himself a king was working against Caesar. And so we read inxthex26ik rease at the end of the 26th verse in Motthew 27, "He delivered Him to be crucified."

Pilate had done that which was expedient. His decision satisfied the mob. Rome would not be ntoified that he mk was negligent in his duty. And after all, the man was only another hated Jew. We can picture Pilate making these rationalizations long after Jesus had been put to death.

But just what can we say about Filare? "he only thing we can say is that he knew Jesus was innocent. There were no hard and fast charges which made it mandatory that the death sentence be imposed. Pilate sought every avenue of escape from that decision. His own wife had expressed fear through a dream that this man was innocent. But Filabe was a coward. He lacked the course of his apprication. He was a stubborn man and no one was going to have the opportunity to say he didn't do his duty. Even, if that duty was 100% wrong. Pilate could have released Jasu and refused to have a part in the death of an innocent man. But Pilate's pride was such that obstinately he let himself be proven a coward. Filate knew what he SHOULD do, but he chose to do the expedient thing. And Filate wasn't any different from any of us. How often do we know what we should do, but instead we do the opposite? Jesus makes all of us look at the situations of life which face us and then make a decision. The decision is based upon our strength to do what we know to be right or wrong. But what motivates xx our choice? Is it what someone will say if I go against the crowd and stand for righteousness? Am I afraid to be called a fanatic, or kook because I choose to do right? And isn't it always easier to be an "Obstinate Coward" than to stand out all alone for the Lord?

(Illustration of door of Scandinavian church and door handle) On a heavy wooden door in an old Scandinavian Church there is a strange, very large handle, shaped in a circle and made of wrought iron. Inside the circle is a EXEMP large cross. The Cross is cradled in a wrought iron hand. To open and close the door, you grab hold of the Cross and when youdo the hand points directly at you. You are left with the impression that the artist who designed the handle is saying to you as you take hold of the handle Cross, "What are you going to do about it?"

We always have that choice. What are we poing to do about Jesus Christ? What decisions will we make about Him that sets up apart from the world? And what about the dross? Do we crucify Him anew by turning from Him? Or do we stand against the crowd and stand for Him? We have the choice of being either for the world, or for Christ. If we choose the world we choose death, and if we choose Christ, we choose life. We can be a coward, or we can be a C'ristian. What will you do with Jesus?

"Geen In The Crowd: The Executioners"

Scripture: Matthew 27:27-36, 45-49

We begin this Scripture with many soldders and end it with just four. After Jesus had been scourged by the person who did that on the orders of Pilate, Jesus was taken into the quarters of the soldiers to be prepared for execution We read, "Then the soldiers tookxiesus of the governor took Jesus into the common hall, and gathered unto Him the whole band of soldiers."

In other words, all of the soldiers who were in the barracks came to see for themselves this max whom the hated Jews themselves wanted killed. They had said He proclaimed Himself as a king and they wanted to see just what sort of man He was. And since He didn't look any different from any other Jew, they started to have some fun at His expense in their own special way. So Matthew writes, "And they stripped Him, and put on Him a scarlet robe. And when they had platted a frown of thorns, they put it upon His head, and a reed in His right hand: and they bowed the knee before Him, and mocked Him, saying, 'Hail, sing of the Jews!' and they spit upon Him, and took the reed and smote Him on the head."

A king needed a royal robe and a crown. So in their desire to have some fun, they found a discarded officers cloak and put it on Him for a robe. A crown was fashioned out of thorns. And a king needed a scepter and so a reed, much like the reeds which we pass out on Falm Junday was placed in His hands. And then probably they passed in front of Jesus and each one bowed before Him, and make insulting remarks and lastly they took the reed which had probably fallen out of His hands and hit Him on the head with it. Of all that Jesus had to endure, this humiliation was possibly the easiest to bear because th these men didn't know any better. They were merely seeking to have some fun, warped fun at that, but nevertheless fun in what was a very gruesome and horrible situation. Was being prepared while this went on and had now

So having done this, Jesus' cross hand been made ready, and He was ready to be marched off to the execution site. So we read in the 31st verse, "And after blay had morked Tim, they took he role ff foot Tim, and put His own raiment on Him, and led Him away to crucify Him."

W, are going to gloss over Simon the Cyrene because we will be locking at him at another time in the near future. So Jesus was brought to the place of execution. On that journey, prisoners to be executed were taken by the longest route as an example for everyone to see what happened to those who defied Rome. Maxing carries with the site, in the journey, four soldiers were assigned to each prisoner to be executed. So Jesus had four soldiers walking with Him, and each of the two executed with Him also had four each.

When they arrived at the sight, Jesus was thrown down on the ground and given a drink of sour wide to de lon the printer in a lot to the proves, and the cross was stood in an upright position. The four soldiers assigned to Nim then took posterior of the clothes which had been stripped from Jesus. In the 35th verse we read, "And they crucified Him and %arted His garments, casting lots: that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the prophet, 'They parted My garments among them, and upon My vesture did they cast lots. This is a quotation from the 22nd Fsalm which the Fsalmist wrote a thousand years before Christ, and yet it depicts accurately the crucifixion of Jesus. This casting of lots for the clothing of the prisoner was another means the soldiers employed to amuse themselves somewhat during the horrible ordeal taking place above them on thsee crosses. And so we read in the 36th verse, "And sitting down they watched Him there."

They had to sit and literally wait for the prisoner to die, or to break their legs at the appropriate time so they could no longer push themselves upright to breathe properly, and thus they would die by suffocation. It was an extr mely cruel way to execute criminals.

They had arrived at this site around xime 9:00 A.M. Around noon, a thick darkness had settled over the land. As time slowly passes the four soldiers are startled by a loud cry coming from the cross above them at about 3:00 P.M. Perhaps they were idly seated there, each one lost in his own personal thought Ferhaps each one was thinking of home, wherever that may be. In all probability, they were each drafted into the Roman army and now found themselves on foregin soil to serve here for a period of time.

But as they heard this outcry, it was completely foreign to them because Jesus was not speakir in Latin. The language was either Hebrew, or a combination of Hebrew and Aramaic. That much they probably knew. But what He said meant nothing because of their lack of understanding. So we read in verses 45 and 46, "Now from the sixth hour there was darkness over all the land unto the ninth hour. And about the ninth hour Jesus cried with a loud voice, saying, 'Eli, Eli, Lama Sabachthani?' That is to say, 'My God, My God, why hast Thou forsaken ME?'"

So then we read in the 47th verse, "Some of them that stood there, when they heard that, said, 'This man calleth for Elijah.'"

The only thing these soldiers understood was that it sounded like He was calling for the prophet Ejijah. Being around these Jews for any length of time, they would have learned that Elijah was a prophet who held a high place in their religion. So therefore, when they heard this man calling out in His agony, the only intelligible thing was what sounded like the name "Elijah." Now what was the result of this? Well, we read in the 48th verse, "And straightway one of them ran, and took a sponge, and filled it with vinegar, and put it on a reed, and gave Him to drink."

One of the soldiers, just one, reached out to help Him. What of the other three? What did they do? Verse 49 tells us, "The rest said, 'Let be, let us see whether Elijah will come to save Him.'" The other three soldiers adopted a wait-and-see attitude. Now if we were to ask these three why they didn't try to do anything we would have each be ask these three why they didn't try to do anything we would have probably received several answers. One of them may have said, "I didn't do anything, because I'm not Elijah. That's who He was calling for.

Ferhaps one of them would have said, "It really isn't my business," and would have given the age old excuse, "It didn't concern me, so I minded my own business." This attitude has now become vorue, especially in our United States of America. We have read of situation after situation in recent times of people who were actually murdered while others looked on and did nothing. And when questioned why, they answered, "It was none of my business."

(Illustration of fire, wanting to get there, but not knowing where to go) In a small town the volunteer fire department's phone was answered by a policeman on duty who would sound the alarm for the firemen to come to the firehouse. One day the mone rang, the policeman answered, "Fire department A voice on the other end said, "Send the fire truck!" and then the caller slammed the phone down. The policeman sat stunned, not knowing what to do. He waited a few moments and then the phone rang again. He quickly picked it up and the same frantic voice said, "Sen the fire truck!" and just as quickly hung up again.

Realizing that someone's house was possibly at stake, he rushed outside and saanned the horizen but couldn't detect smoke in any direction. As he tryed to figure out what to do, he formulated a plan as to how he could keep the caller from hanging up so quickly if she called back. Sure enough the phone rang again and instead of answering "fire department," he asked, "Where's the fire?" and the lady on the other end screamed, "In the kitchen! and hung up.

Now there was a man and a fire department that wanted to get involved, but were prevented by a lack of co-operation. If we were walking past a house and saw fire and smoke pouring out of it, would we try ho be of help? 'r would we say, "I saw the house burning, but it really wasn't any of my buriness?" At least one of the soldiers must have had that attitude. He was fulfilling his job and the man wars would soon be dead, so why try to help. He would have said, "It really wasn't any of my business.

If another of those three were asked, "Why didn't you do something to help?" he may have answered, "I wanted to but I believed that someone else was going to do it, so why should I bother?" He had asked for Elijah and I figured I would let flijah take care of it me da.

And then there is the third soldier if he were asked why he didn't do anything perhaps he would answer, "I wanted to, but after all, His situation is hopeless you know. He was condemned to due, and in a short period of the was going to be dead & no one could stop that. So why bother?"

But there was one among that four who did render help even when the others said, "Niat and see if Elijah comes to help!" Who was this soldier? that whe his nume" We don't know, but like so many others without a name, his deed is etched in history for all to see. Comeone wrote a poem about people such a this and this is for a poet:

(Illustration of poem of "What's his name)

Common as the wayside grasses, Ordinary as the soil, By the score 'le daily proces, Soing to and See Committe Soil; Meanger of the soil of the, Standard to shall be fire,

Not for him the glittering glory Not for him the planestick, Week by week the same old story, Try and fail, and fail and try; All his days dull and tame-Poor, old, plodding What's-his-name. Though to someone else the guerdon, Though but few his worth may know, On his shoulders rests the burden Of our progress won so slow;

Red the road by which we came With the blood of What's-his-name.

He may not have a name known by us, but he was known by God. This man probably was not aware that he was actually doing thexwift that which this man he was helping to execute had taught. Jesus had said when we minister to the needs of someone, if it is only giving a drink of water, "Insomuch as ye have done it unto the least of these My brethren, ye have done it unto Me." Man always looks at great deeds and great accomplishments, but what does God look at? Remember the incident when Jesse paraded all of his sons before the priest Samuel? Each of these young men were tall and well-built; physical specimens they all were. But God told Samuel He had not chosen any of these. Finally, he asks Jesse if these are all the sons he has. And Jesse tells him he has one more, his youngest. So David is sent for and we read that he was ruddy, (which producted and from Scripture that he wasn't very tall, but was probably short. So here was a redhaired, short young man and this is the one God chose to be Saul's successor who stood head and shoulders above all other men. Why? Because God told Samuel when he was looking at Eliab, look not on his countenance, or on the height of his stature; because I have refused him: for the Lord seeth not as man seeth; for man looketh on the outward appearance, but the Lord looketh on the heart." 1 Samuel 16:7

This nameless executioner gave to the Lord from his heart, and we can be certain God looked at his heart.

(Illustration of Bonhoeffer going back to Germany and losing his life) During world War II, Dietrich Bonhoeffer a German Lutheran minister had come to the United States to live. He was offered a comfortable job teaching in one of our seminaries. But he refused it and returned to Germany to be with his people and to fight against the Nazis, who finally killed him. He didn't have to go, but he chose to go. When we talk about people like this it doesn't help us too much because it doesn't reach most of us where we live. But if we describe it another way, then we can relate to it. You don't have to pray each day; you don't have to come to church; you don't have to give your money; you don'r have

to try to be honest; you don't have to seek to do any of the things which we are taught by Christ to do. But it is when we choose to do things, to take action then we too are serving Christ.

Jesus said, "He that will come after Me, must take up his cross and follow im Me." And when we choose to take action, action which helps our fellowman, we are doing just that. Each of us are executioners in our own right. We either crucify Jesus anew each time we refuse to live or act as He has taught us. Or we crucify ourselves to the world when we reach out to the needs of others. The one soldier could have sm remained seated with the other three. Instead, he chose to get involved. And we don't know anything else about this man. But I believe that by his closeness to Jesus and because of his seeking to help Him, his life was changed. Perhaps we will see him in glory one day, and hear Jesus speak to him, "Well done, well done.! And may we hear Him say to us becuase sf we choose to serve Him, "Well done good and faithful servants! Well done.!

(Illustration of Jack Wurm heir to Singer fortune)

A man named Jack Wurm, (W-U-R-M), was walking along axbenet the beach in San Francisco in 1949. He was broke and out of work. He came upon a bottle with a note in it and he read, "To avoid confusion, I leave my entire estate to the lucky person who finds this bottle and to my attorney, Barry Cohen, share and share alike." And it was signed Daisy Singer Alexander who was the heir to the Singer sewing machine fortune. The courts accepted the theory that the heiress wrote the note 12 years prior to this, threw it into the River Thames in London and it drifted across the oceans to land at the feet of a penniless and jobless man. Jack Wurm got over 6 million in cash and Singer stock.

Jack Wurm became an instant heir by chance. Ferhaps by pure luck as most people would say. But how very unlike God in this respect. He doesn't leave anything to so called "luck" or "chance." All that He does is planned and programmed and orchestrated according to His master plan.

Jesus had been preaching for 3 years. He was acclaimed as many things, Among which was the title of "Prophet." And like all of the prophets before Him, the message He spoke was not heard or received. Jesus knew He was fuffifiling God's infinite plan and a part of that plan was to be recognized for who and what He was. All had now been fulfilled prophesied of Fim, with the exception that He "must suffer many things," as He had told His disciples. So in these last days, He had resoultely set His face to go to Jerusalem and to have these final things take place.

Thus, Jesus knowing that He had not been heard, or listened to, set the stage for His final days. So we read in verses 29-31, (read these). Bethany was the tone of Mary, Marina and Texarus, where Jesus frequently stayed during His ministry. It was located about 1% or 2 miles from Jerusalem. What we have just read are the instructions which Jesus gave to His disciples to go to a nearby village and secure a donkey for Him to ride on. The disciples were giving the password when they said, "The Lord hath need of him." Jesus had made these arrangements with someone who remains unknown. We see from this that Jesus had arranged His own parade. In a sense, He was forcing the issue of His arrest and death which would take place because of this parade. But He knew that "All things must be accomplished," and that He was in His Father's will. So the plan was set in motion. So we read that the disciples went into the village and as they were untying the donkey, the people or person who owned the animal questioned why they were doing that. They gave the answer and were not stopped, and came back to Jesus with the donkey. So clothes were placed on the donkey for the Jesus to sit on and as Jesus began riding the donkey toward Jerusalem, the people began to spread their clothing in the road for the donkey to ride on over. This custom is continued today for visiting dignitaries and we call it the "Red Carpet treatment."

Luke tells us in verse 37, (read this verse). Jesus was coming into Jerusalem from the Mount of Olives. At this point He was recognized as a King coming in peace because He was riding on a donkey. Had He been coming to make war, He would have been riding a white horse. These people had been around Jesus and had seen Him heal people; perhaps witnessed Lazarus coming forth from his tomb; and heard His preaching of the things of God. So these same people were crying out, "Elessed be the King that cometh in the name of the Lord: peace in heaven, and glory in the highest." verse 38.

Matthew tells us that the people reacted a little differently. He writes in the 8th and 9th verses of the 21st chapter, "And a very great multitude spread their garments in the way; others cut down branches from the trees and strew them in the way. And the multitudes that went before, and that followed, cried, saying, Hosanna to the Fon of David: Blessed is He that cometh in the name of the Lord; Hosanna in the highest."

Now does this apparent discrepancy in the two stories mean that one or the other, or both are wrong? No it doesn't. Because the crowds were shouting and saying both of these things. There were some in the crowd who only saw, or thought of Jesus as being the Son of David, the rightful one to sit upon David's throne. There were those who saw Him as the Messiah, the deliverer of the people of Israel. And then there were those who saw Him as the Saviour the one who would grant them saluation. But directly, or indirectly, they all saw Him as the successor in someway touthe throne of Dovid. They saw Him as their King, and as such, He was the rightful heir to the throne. During the Feast of Tabernacles, the people cut palm branches and waved them during the feast and xxxx joined in the singing of Fsalm 118. We read in this Fsalm in verses 25 and 26, "Save now, I beseech thee, O Lord: O Lord, I beseech Thee, send now prosperity. Blessed be He that cometh in the name of the Lord: we have blessed you out of the house of the Lord."

The word "Hosanna" is Hebrew for "Save now," and is the acknowledgement that He was their Egviour whom they had been looking for.

Now to completely understand what this acclamation of Jesus signified, we need to look at an illustration in the Old Testament. And for that, we must turn to the book of 2 Kings chapter 2. In this chapter we read that Elijah was to be taken to heaven bodily without dying. He tells this to Elijah who is to be his successor in the prophetic line. Elijah tells Elisha taxidaxextix that he must go across the Jordan and for Elisha is to wait where they are. But Elisha tells Elijah that he will not leave him and so they travel together. T, ey come to the Jordan, Elijah gathers his mantle, or his cleak and strikes the Jordan with it; the waters part and they walk together to the other side. Here Elijah speaks to Elisha and we read in the 9th verse, "Ask what I shall do for thee, before I be taken away from thee." "And Elisha said, 'I pray thee, let a double portion of thy spirit be upon me.'"

This was not a request by Elisha to base be able to do twice as much as Elijah or to have twice as much as flijah. Instead, it is a request that he might be the recognized heir of Elijah in the prophetic line. The heir and oldest son in the family was granted a double portion of the family wealth as his inherit ance. Deuteronomy 21:17 specifies that the firstborn was to receive a double portion of his father's inheritance.

What was Jesus? He was the Firstborn Son of God and as such, was the heir to His Pather's kingdom. Now if Jesus was acclaimed as "The Son of David," that made Him a prince. When He was born the angels acclaimed Him axxime with "Peace on Tarth." And here in Luke we read the people proclaiming, "Feace in Heaven." Fo if Jesus was acknowledged as the "PRince of Teace," there is His double protion of the inheritance. This "of's beavonly blog on and the hingion on earth. He is to inherit God His Father's throne, and He is to inheirt David's throne. Fo we are looking at this Jesus in the crowd, not merely as One who rode in a pre-planned parade, but as "An Heir." As the their there is a construction of the approximation of the inheritance and the state of the state of the their throws and the their throws and the their throws and the their throws are the state of the throws and the throws are the throws at the throws are the state of the throws at throws at the throws at t

But the religious leaders of the day, the Pharisees didn't like what was going on because to them the acclamation of the people was not true. They didn't believe that Jesus was the Messiah and so we read that they told Him to shut His disciples up. And the answer Jesus gave was that if they were to remain silent, the stones would cry out and proclaim that He was the King, the Messiah, the Saviour as He was being acclaimed. He was all that was being said of Him.

And because of Him, all those who claim Him as Saviour and Lord are inheritors of what He has because they also become Sons of God. As we tegan we talked about a man named Jack Wurm. Compared to the 6 million which he inherited, what is your inheitance worth? Sanxyouxmexerexitxinxweriddy.goods Can you or do you try to measure it in worldly goods? If you are trusting Christ as your Saviior, your inheritance is secure. Think about what you have. Think what it will mean 100 years from now! Try to imagine the eternity which will be before you, the eternal peace, the eternal happiness, the eternal joy of God's presence. David writing of this long before there was a known eternity such as we know through Christ, wrote in the 36th Fsalm verse 16, "The Lord knoweth the days of the upright: and their inheritance shall be forever." Think of it! Six million earthly dollars cannot be compared to that which is ours through Him. The parade is passing and we are a part of that crowd partaking of it. Can we be seen in that Crowd and be identified as "An Heir?"

"Seen In The Crowd: An Unwitting Volunteer"

Scripture: Mark 15:21

Life takes on the appearance of what many call "coincidences." But are the events of our lives such? For those who remain outside the fold of Christianity circumstances may indeed be looked upon as "coincidence," or "quirks of fate." But for the Christian those circumstances which may be thought of as "coincidences" are looked upon as acts of God, and are God directed. Jesus had been condemned to die. He had been up most of the night being questioned by the Sanhedrin in order to press adequate charges against Him to secure His execution. So He had gone without sleep. In the early hours of the morning He had stood before Tilate and been trhough the mockery of a trial. Then He had been led to King Herod and mocked by Herod's soldiers and men of his court. Then marched back to Pilate, sentenced to sccurging, which involved a brutal beating tearing Fis flesh to ribbons; then released to the whims of the solider soldiers who further abused Him; and then led through a long and curcuitous route to the place of execution. Jesus was being led to the gate going out of Jerusalem to the hill called "Golgotha," or "Calvary." But at the same time as He was being led out of the gate in the company of the two other prisoners and the Roman soldiers escorting them, a man was making his way from the country into the city for the Feast of the Passover. In a short period of time their paths are going to cross. Was it coincidence, or was it God's leading?

The man is named Simon and we know nothing more of him at this point, other than the fact that he is from a city namedCyrene which was in North Africa. That place is the site of modern Tripoli. It was there that a group of Jews had settled. Simon probably came to Jerusalem to fulfill a lifelong dream of celebrating the Passover in Jerusalem just once in his lifetime. He had probably scrimped and saved in order to make this pilgrimage, and had looked forward to it very earnestly. He had probably stayed somewhere in the country where the prices would have made it possible for him to afford the lodging. Now he was on his way into the city for the feast. At long last he is going to see Jerusalem and he is probably absorbed in all that is going on around him. But as he is approaching the gate leading into the city, he can't help but hear the noise and clamor of a crowd up ahead. And just as his curiousity is aroused, so is the curiosity of many others. Bo as the procession makes its tedious way down the road, thexerexexeretters crowds of people gather on both sides of the road. Simon, pushing himself to the front of the crowd where he is at this time watches as a procession of people come toward him. He first notices a Roman soldier carrying a board on which is printed some words which at this point he can't make cut. Following the soldier is a man carrying a heavy crossbeam, which anyone would recognize as the second part of a cross to which this prisoner will be nailed. He is flanked on either side by two soldiers and another soldier is bringing up the rear. The crowd is calling out to him and he in turn is answering their jibes with jibes of his own. Following the last soldier is another soldier also bearing a board,followed again by another man carrying a crossbeam, with the same amount of soldiers and there exercle following them is yet another man carrying a crossbeam with the same amount of soldiers. This procession of three men is greeted by the crowds with insults and curses because it is known that they had each done something worthy of death.

Just as the last man comes abreast of Simon, He falls down under his burden. Simon had watched how the others had carried their crosses and had noticed that although they probably weighed around a hundred pounds, an ordinary man could carry them. But as he looks at this fellow he sees that this man doesn't have the same appearance of the other two. Where they look hardened and exhibit a callousness about them, this man had the look of a normal law abiding citizen. Beeing the man fall under his burden, and noting that He didn't look like a criminal, Simon probably turned away having seen all that he cared to see. But as he turns and starts to push back through the crowd to continue through the gate into Jerusalem, he feels the touch of a cold piece of metal on his shoulder. And turning round he is confronted by the spear of the last Roman soldier resting on his shoulder, and the menacing appearance of the man holding the spear. The soldier speaks and says, "You, pick up this cross and carry it." In all probability ~imon was of an imposing stature which is why he was chosen for the task. And when a person was impressed into service by the Romans, he had to obey or lose his life. So Simon stoops down and picks up this detested instrument of death. As a Jew it was not only despised, but was considered as a curse to have anything to do with it. We can well imagine his feelings not only toward the cross, but toward the man who has caused him to be pressed into service.

is he hefts the weight of the orbit shoulder, the man to be slaip on it was probably welking bis site. It isn't recorded, but it is a good bet that Jesus struck up a conversation with Simon. He may have told him how much He appreciated Simon taking His burden from Fim. 47 they moved toward the place of execution, what may have been a very distateful task for Simon, may well have become on in which he learned who this man with, and gave Jesus the opportuntity to reveal Himself to a seeking Jew. Simon may well have been looking for the product of The Learned to Calvary.

The Greek word for compel in this 21st verse comes from Persian origin. It was used of public messengers who were appointed by the king of Fersia. They were stationed at intervals throughout the kingdom, with horses ready to speed messages to their destination as quickly as possible. They were the forerunners of our Pony Express. These men had the authority to press into services, horses, boats, and even men they met. Bo we can see that much like a messenger carrying an important message, Simon was pressed into service. And it is quite possible that Simon did carry an important message as we shall soon see.

In this verse Simon is identified as the father of Re Alexander and Rufus. This is out of the ordinary because usually the reverse is true. Markxwroke mixxwepelxtextex It is very likely that Mark's Gaspel was written for the church at Rome and so we read in Taul's letter to the Romans, chapter 16, verse 13: "Greet Rufus, chosen in the Lord, and his mother and mine." Most likely this Rufus, is the son of Simon of Cyrene and to Faul he was a special friend and Paul considered his mother, Simon's wife like his own mother. This may well mean that because of Simon's encourder with Jesus on the way to Calvary, Timon accepted Christ as his Saviour and then he in turn led his sons Alexander and Rufus to the Lord as well.

But there is one more thing we should point out in this incident. Luke writing in his book called "The Acts of the Apostles," in chapter 13: verse 1, writes: "Now there were in the church that was at Aptioch certain prophets and teachers, as Barnabas, and Symeon, who was called Niger, and Xineinaxofx Xireanxix and Jucius of Cyrene."

In this verse we read of a man named "Jimeon," which is another form of Jimon. It is said that Simeon was called Niger, and this merely means he had a dark or swarthy skin. It doesn't mean he was black as some people try to say. And Simeon's name is tied together with lucius of Cyrene. The way the verse is written it appears that Simeon and Iucius are both from Cyrene. Now if this is the same Simon who carried the cross of Jesus, and it is a mood possibility, it means that this Simon was very instrumental in creating the first mission to the Gentiles in Antoich. And if this is the case, then it is a good possibility that we can be Christians today because once long ago, a man answered the call to barry the cross of Jesus Christ.

Now is that a "conincidence," or a "ouirk of fate?" No, in God's plan there are many chance meetings. If Simon had not been at that place, at that time, it is a good possivuility, you and I would not be here this evening. But all of it did take place and God planned it that way because this is how He operates. Here was amn who came to celebrate the Fassover in person a personal and meaningful way. Instead of hearing sharing in the lamb, he had the Lamb share with him. Because Simon met Jesus on the way to Calvary, his life was never the same. His name is forever written in history as "An Unwitting Volunteer," but for him it meant anew life. He is the only man who could say He pixkedxep literally picked up Christ's cross and carried it. You and I are only asked by Jesus, to pick up our own crosses and carry them for Him.

"Seen In The C owd: A Contrite Outlaw"

Scripture: Iuke 23:39-43

Jesus has been nailed to His cross and as other Scriptures tell us, two criminals were also crucified with Him. In fact, our Scripture for this evening actually begins with verse 32 of this chapter. There we read, "And there were also two other, malefactors, led with Him to be put to death."

MEW The following verse tells us, "And when they were come to the place, which is called Calvary, there they crucified Him, and the malefactors, one on the right hand, and the other on the left."

Jesus is placed in the middle of these two men named "Malefactors," and that identification merely means they were criminals. No where in Scripture do we read what they had done, but it is most likely they committed crimes against Rome which would warrant the death penalty.

Matthew tells us in the 27th chapter of his Gospel in verses 38 through 44, (read these). Here we see that Jesus is mocked and even the two thieves join in the abuse heaped upon Him. Both of these men had walked the enforced march to this execution site and had seen and heard His few remarks to these who called out to Him. And Luke records that when they are on their crosses, Jesus prays, and we read in the 34th verse, "Then said Jesus, 'Father, forgive them; for they know not what they do.'"

Even though both of the criminals with Him had mocked Him, one of them was probably very moved by this. Here was a man being tortured and abused by these people, and He is asking for them to be forgiven. We can well imagine that this had a definite impact upon the one criminal.

So at this point we see a change has taken place in the one criminal. He is no longer joining in with the crowd to abuse Jesus by calling Him names and seeking to have Him do something miraculous to save him. Instead, he begins to stand up for Jesus and Luke tells us, "But the other answering rebuked him, saying, 'Dost not thou fear lod, seeing thou art in the same condemnation? And we indeed justly; for we receive the due reward of our deeds: but this man hath done nothing amiss."

What an exclamation of who desus was. He saw Him for the true Saviour He was. Something had happened to change his heart and mind about this quiet man who prayed for His enemies.

And instead of crying out for the state leasth which as orchain to come in a short period of time, he reaches out to Jesus, and we read, "And he said unto Jesus, Lord, remember me when Thou comest into The bing low."

He cat have noted at the conclusion that Jesus really was a king. Notice, he doesn't pray with an "If" in his prayer. It is not "If you could have your binghost." The fit is "many more comest." He is aware that Jesus is nearer death than he is and he is reaching out to take the opportunity for to be a part of His kingdom.

And look at the answer Jesus gives him. He says, "Today shalt thou be with me in paradise."

The answer Jesus gives is that following their deaths, that very day, not some far off day eons from now; but, TODAY, that very day, the thief would be with Him in a place called paradise. The word "Paradise" is of Fersian origin. It was used of beautiful gardens which the Persian kings had, which were walled in and separated from all other real estate. Into these gardens the kings would invite special friends to walk through them with the king. It was by invitation that one not into the garden. The Taradise desuge was talking about is a place where the believer goes immediately into the presence of God But it is still a place where no one can just enter on his own. He must accept the invitation of the King who is Jesus Christ. That invitation is and always has been extended to all mankind, "Come unto Me." When a person comes to Christ and accepts Him as Lord and S"viour, when that person has become "Born again," or is regenerated, that person has accepted the invitation to join Jesus Christ in paradise upon death.

The unique thing in this case of the "Contrite Outlaw" is that a robber under stood Jesus better than His closest followers. They all ran and hid because they believed when He died everything was over and done. They didn't believe He would come back from the grave, even though He had told them several times But Jesus proved even while He was on the cross dying, that He loved sinners. This man started out hurling accusations at Jesus just like everyone else. But then he changed. His attitude was transformed. And this is the effect Jesus has on people even today. We are either drawn toward Him, or we are repelled by Him. It is all a matter of what we are looking for. The one thief wanted to get off that cross to continue doing all of the wrong things he had been doing. Therefore, he only saw Jesus as means of excape from his present predicament. The other thief saw Jesus as the one to redeem him and to grant him the release from the sordid life he had led.

Has the death of Jesus transformed us? Are we different because we have come into His presence? And have we received the invitation into His beautiful garden because we have accepted His invitation to come to Him? Today, the day we celebrate in history as the day on which He died, is a day which should bring us life because of His death.

May those beautiful words of the Master fall upon our ears and have new meaning for each of us, "Today shalt thou be with me in paradise."

Scripture: Iuke 24:1-9

Today we celebrate as Easter Sunday. To those within the Christian Church it has a special significance; to those outside the Church it has little or no meaning; but to all, it is a celebration of some kind.

"Lost?"

(Illustration of girl in Sunday School class exclaining Saster) A group of four-year-olds were pathered in a Sunday School class and the teacher asked, "Sees anyone know what today is?" One little sirl held up her finger and said, "Yes, today is Palm Sunday." The teacher said, "That's wonderful, now does anyone know what next Sunday is?" And the same little girl held up her finger again and answered, "Lext Sundaytis Easter." "Wonderful," the teacher exclaimed, "And now does anyone know what makes next Sunday Easter?" The same little girl held up her finger and answered, "Yes, next Sunday is Easter because Jesus rose from the grave." But before the teacher could congratulate her on her correct answers, the little girl kept on talking and said, "But if He sees His shadow He has to go back for seven weeks."

In our Scripture this morning, Tuke is telling of three women coming to the tomb of Jesus on that first Faster morning. The woemn were Mary Mardalene, Joanna, and Mary the mother of James. As they discovered the heavy stone had been rolled away from the entrance, and sterred into the tomb, they met two angels. They discovered the body of Jesus was missing and that made them fearful, and then encountering the angels added to their fear and so luke describes the seene by saying that they bowed their faces to the earth. The angels encounter their fear with a question, "Why seek ye the living among the dead?2 - verse 5b.

Now I'd like to make a companison at this point with another Scripture as it is found in the Old Testament. If you have your Bibles with you, you may want to turn to the book of 2 Kings, the 2nd chapter. Last week we shared the first part of this story and we will recap it this morning for those of you who were unable to be with us. Blijah was about to be taken to heaven bodily without having to die. Elisha was to succeed him in the prophetic line. Elijah had asked Elisha to remain on the other side of the Jordan while he crossed it. But Elisha insisted on soins with him and Elijah had struck the water with his mantle, his cloak and the waters parted and they crossed, on dry land. On the other side, Flijah asked Elisha what he could do for him before he was transpited to heaven and Elisha had answered that he desired a double portion of Elijah's spirit. Now we pointed out that this di not mean that he desired to be able to do double that which Elijah did, or to have twice as much power and authroity. Instead, it meant that he desired a double portion of his inheritance. The first-born son, the eldest son was to receive a double portion of his father's inheritance accroding to the Jewish law. Elisha, as the successor to Elijah, much like his first-born son, merel asked for that double inheritance. We pointed out that Jesus was the Heir in this respect, because He received the double portion as well.

As God's first-born, His only Son, decus received that in write e. 1. . . . And as the 'on of D_vid, He inherited his throne and will rule the earthly kingdom as well.

So now we come to the events following Elijah's translation into heaven. Elisha crosses the Jordan by parting the waters with the use of Elijah's claol thus indicating that he had received Elijah's prophetic office. So in the 15t verse we read of the 50 men who had witnessed this event coming to Elisha. And we read: And when the sons of the prophets which were to view at Jericho saw him, they said, 'The spirit of Elijah doth rest on Elishas And they came to meet him, and bowed themselves to the ground before him."

They were aware that Flisha was endowed with the same spirit which Elijah had. And then they made their request of Flisha, as we learn from the 16th verse: "And they said unto him, 'Behold now, there be with they servants fifty strong men; let them go, we pray thee, and seek thy master: lest peradventure the Spirit of the 'ord hath taken him up, and cast him upon some mountain, or into some valley."

These men wanted permission to investigate the disappearance of Elijah. They had seen him being takne up bodily into heaven, but they we have believe it. But Elisha answers them and we read: "And he said, "Ye shall not send." Elisha refused to give his permission to make a pointless search for Elijah. But thsoe fifty men didn't stop there and the 17th verse tells us: "Andewhen they urged him till he was ashamed, he said, 'Send.'

This means that their continual begging to search for Elijah caused Elisha to know they would not be satisfied until they had made a search for him. So he tells them to go.

And what were the results of that search? The remainder of the 17th verse tells us, "They sent therefore fifty men."

The same fifty men who had seen with their own eyes Elijah being translated into God's presence. And in their search we read, "And they sought three days, but found him not."

ho matter where they looked, they found no evidence of him. He was gone. Tiey had looked upon the translation of Elijah as his being lost. And the comparison between this event and the event of the empty tomb in Jerusalem and the person Jesus are were "lost." And the body of Elijah and the body of Jesus was "Lost." There wasn't a trace and so it became a matter of believing that the bodies had disappeared and this necessitated a search, a questioning for a logical solution to the strange events. But in both instances there was a very definite answer. The angel gave that answer by asking the question "Why seek ye the living among the dead?"

And then the nagels give further evidence by adding, "He is not here, but is risen: remember hoe He spake unto you when He was yet in Galilee, saying, 'The for of man must be delivered into the hands of sinful men, and be cru-cified, and the third day rise again.'"

This is recorded in Juke 18:31-33, (read these). And the 34th verse gives the reason for the search of these women for Jesus at the tomb. (read this). Human logic tells us that seeing is believing and didn't those fifty men see Elijah alive and bein transported on what appeared to be a chariot of fire? Isn't it logical that he was on the other side of the mountain? And isn't it logical that when the body of Jesus was placed in a tomb on Friday mi afternoon, that it would still be there on Sunday morning? Logic tells us this is how these illustrations should have been. Byt God fortunately doesn't do things which are logical and this is what makes Him God, the Almianty. His ways are not our ways.

(Illustration of bed of Dafodils in Philadelphia.)

A church bought a house next door to their property in Philadelphia. The old house was abandoned and was to be torn down to make more parking avail-able for the church. A bed of daffodils had bloomed in the a flower bed in front of that house each spring. A company was contracted to tear down the house and pave the lot with 8 inches of asphalt. This was done in the fall of the year. All winter long the church used that parking lot. As it the meanxiex days began to move on toward spring it was noticed that the asphwas cracking. And then, just before Easter those dormant, buried Daffodils burst forth from under that bed of 8 inches of asphalt and bloomed to welebrate the resurrection.

Jas Jesus Elost?" XEXXEEXWEEXXEEXXEEXXEEXXEEXWEEXNEE "Lost?"

I don't know if any of you ever had the experience I had many times as kid growing up. I'd lose a glove, or some other article between mome and school. And when I'd report the loss to my mother she would ask, "Where did you lose it?" Did any of you ever have someone ask you that? Now tell me, if you've lost something how can it be lost if you know where you lost it? Was Jesus "Lost?"

(Illustration of woman and her dead baby being called "lost")

A woman tells of goin- to church the first time after the death of her newborn son. Following the service many sympathetic friends surrounded her to comfort her. Standing beside her was her five-year-old daughter. later that day at home she asked, "Nommy, is something lost if you know where it is?" She answered, "No dear, it isn't lost then." The little girl asked, "My baby boother's with Jesus isn't he?" The answered, "Yes, he is." "Then why did all those ladies say they were sorry you lost him? We know where he is."

And just as we know where those who die in ford are, so do we know where Jesus was when He couldn't be found in the torb. He was alive. And He is equally alive today. Death couldn't hold Him and it can't hold us either. Through Him we have the victory over that grave. Oh sure, someday these mortal remains of each of us will be planted in the ground. But when that happens, . those who are in Christ will go to live with Him forever. "Lost?", is there such a thing as being "Lost" with those who are the lord's? Twanks be to God, who giveth us the victory through our Lord and S viour Jesus Christ. Jesus lives and so shall I because of the empty tomb.

"That Rominds Le Of A Story"

Scripture: Matthew 13:1-3A, 34-35 The Scripture this morning "Reminds Me Of A Story."

(Illustration of unemployed browhers is beaining for sender Laiving job, humor) Just what does this story have to do with our moscage for this morning. The control is probably nothing to do the is; it has absolutely nothing to do witht the message. And the reason is obvious from the stand cint, that quite often we can find something we want to use to illustrate a point we may be making and also quite often, it has no bearing on the case in print. xxxxxxx knownx I heard a well known preacher make the statement in a seminar I attended, "If you have an illustration use it regardless of where it fits in." When we compare this type of thinking with the actions and attitudes of Jesus we find there is no comparison. The point I am seeking to make is that when we are involved in a situation we may say, XTXXXXXX "This situation reminds me of a story," and relate an incident which has no bearing upon the present at all. How unlike Jesus. When He spoke, all of Mis speech was relevant to the occasion and contained pertinent information for His listeners. de find ourselves once more with Jesus and His disciples by the Sea of Galilee It is probably early in the morning and is probably also a few weeks before the Feast of the Fassover. The surrounding fields are giving signs of the barley harvest soon to come. It is spring and the fresh smell of a typical spring morning is in the air. Jesus and His disciples have come out of the house and had seen a crowd of people descending on them. So He sat in a boat gunt docked at the edge of the lea so Fe could speak to the crowd thus being able to address them face to face.

So we read, "And He spake many things unto them in parables," Mt. 13:3A. Then Matthew lists the famous parable of the sower, which we are not going to look at, at this time, (but we will at another time).

Now following this parable, the disciples questioned Jesus about thexperablex it. and so we read in the 10th verse, "Andthe disciples came, and said unto Him, "Why speakest Thou inx unto them in parables?""

"And Jesus answered and said unto them, 'Because it is given unto you to know the mysteries of the kingdom of heaven, but to them it is not given."" In the time of Jesus what was known as "the mystery religions," was flourishing in Greece and Rome. All of these religions had the same general characteristic. They were like passion plays in which a story was told of a god or goddess who lived and worked, and suffered and died and who had come back to life again in a state of blessedness. Those being initiated into one of these religions were given instructions. These instructions were geared to raise the feelings and the emotions of the initiate in preparation for the play itself. When the instructions had been completed and the initiate was ready, he was taken to see the play performed before him. The stage was set with incense, effective lighting, sensuous music which was intended to stir within the person the desire to become identified in the life, the work, the suffering, the death and the resurrection of the god. The coupled the second per in the end was, "I am Thou, and Twou art I."

So Jesus is comparing the kingdom of God to these mystery religions of which the mysteries only were known to those who were on the inside. Now this does n't mean that everyone who heard Jesus teach in parables didn't understand Him, but there were some and there were various reasons for this.

The first reason is found in the 12th verse where we read, "For whosoever hath to him shall be given, and he shall have more abundance: but from kin whosoever hath not, from him shall be taken away even that he hath."

Now at first this may sound rather harsh to take away from someone even the little he may have and give it to someone who has more already. But Jesus is not speaking of material goods. He is speaking of spiritual things. To understand this we need to look at the audience which surrounded Jesus. First, there were those who were hungry for anything spiritual which made more sense than that which they already had. They were looking for hope in the midst of despair; of life in the midst of just death and a deathwhich had no hope beyond; and of joy in the midst of nothing but ploom, and darkness and doom. These people could understand the simple, meaningful expressions and examples which Jesus used. They weren't trying to read into His illustrations all sorts of things which weren't there. To these Jesus was slying would be given more understanding, more knowledge, more insight into the things spiritual.

But Jesus' audience was also made up of the religious elite of the Xxxixk levs. These were the peribes and the phartenes. ...ey thought they had all of the answers to what the kingdom of God was. These were the people that Jesus said, "Hath not," and ""nom him shall be taken even that he hath." ...hat littl of the true frith they may have possessed; what little they had of the bhings of God; and what little knowledge of the kingdom of God they knew, all of this would be removed from then.

Fo Jesus continues by saying, (read verses 13 through 17). He is quoting from Isaiah 6:10. The prophet Isaiah was speaking to the pool in the prophet is the prophet prophet prophet is the prophet proph my singing it of course), "Father MacKenzie, writing the wor's of a sermon that no one war will hear."

Isiah felt this and said, (read verse 15); and Jesus not only felt this way, but knew it was so and He repeated the words of Isaiah. But He then ided, (read verses 16 and 17). Those who are open to the things of God, which the disciples were, and a segment of these people were, to them is given the understanding of the khingsxpixint kingdom of God even though Jesus spoke to them in hidden meanings which the parables contained.

larables were not new to the Jewish people. There are parables recorded in the Old Testament prophets and they had been taught by many Rabbi's before Jesus. But Jesus brought them forth in a new and fresh manner. He did so first of all because of the opposition which He faced from the Tharisees. The message got across to the lowly citizen but it bypassed the pearded men who would have sought His immédiate arrest and death had Jesus come right out and proclaimed the message in forthright words. This doesn't mean He feared these men, because such was not the case. But He used discretion because as we read several times in Scripture, "His time had not yet come." This meant that He was in no hurry to hasten His death because He had a message to teach and preach.

The second reason why Jesus taught in parables is spoken of by Paul in his First letter to the church in Corinth, chapter 2, verses 12 through 14, (Read these). Faul is saying that the things of God mean nothing to the natural man, or an unsaved man, a man who is not born again. To that natural man, the reading of God's Word doesn't have the true meaning for him because as haul says, "They are foolishness to him," and he can't know them, "Because they are spiritually discermed." In other words, God's Holy Spirit only reveals the truth of God and His kingdom to those who belong to that kingdom. Twose cutside the fold remain in darkness. And as Isaiah said, and Jesus repeated there are those who do not hear, do so see, and do not understand because they are seeking spiritual things with natural minds and the actural it is the truth of the spiritual things with natural minds and the actural

Jesus taught in parables because the message from God could only be told in a way which those seeking and searching could understand.

(Illustration of nurse changing tag on soldier who should have died) During Markd the war years a rolicy was adopted pertaining to the handling of the wounded. It was called done with color tags. One color meant hopeless -- nothing we can do save them; another meant they'll make it whether we treat them or not; and the third meant a doubtful prognosis -- a chance to live if medical assistance is given. And since medical supplies were limited, the third group received priority. log, was badly blown apart. One leg was severely wounded and the doctor who examined him made the decision that he was a hopeless case and tagged him as such, leaving him to die on his stretcher. But a nurse who saw that Lou was conscious began to talk to him. They discovered they were both from Chio. Getting to know him as a person and not just as a statistic, the nurse couldn't just let Lou die. To she broke all the hospital rules and changed his color tag. For inver Lou, there followed a two day trip by truck to the rear and months in a hospital after several operations. But Lou made it. We met a firl in the hospital who later became his wife. And even with only one leg, Lou led a full and happy life, and all because a nurse broke the rules and changed a tag.

This is what Jesus did. Up to this point the religious instructions were given out by those who were the select few to do such things. But desuscementations God changed the tags and used a person who for all intents and purposes wasn't qualified, (according to the trained clorgy of the day), to teach and preach. The reache could understand and learn of God because of the simple manner in which He taught.

And "That Reminds Me Of A Story." Once upon a time, there was a man named Joseph of Jasareth unless red of Tio, "and if care to red, when Jesus had ended these sayings, the people were astonished at His doctrine: for He taught them as one having authority, and not as the scribes."

And so we are going to look at some of these teachings of Jesus in parable form and I pray that all of us will see with our eyes, will hear with our ears, and will understand with our hearts that we may be converted and God may heal us of whatever spiritual blindness or hardness of heart we may have.

"let's Tarty!"

Coripture: Iuke 14:15-24

This foripture and parable has several backgrounds to it and actually all of the preceeding verses are play a part in it. Jesus was invited to the house of one of the rulers of the Harisees. It was the last Babbath in Jesus' public ministry of which we have any record. This meal was prearranged and was a setup to see what Jesus would do where the circumstances in which He found Himself. There was a man present at that meal who was suffering from dropsy. Defore Jesus did anything, He asked them if it was legal to heal on the Babbath day. He received no answer and so He healed the man. Then he the told them a parable about seating oneself at the lower or lowest position and if the host wants you to have a place of honor, he will direct you to bt. Evidently what Jesus was witnessing at this meal was a jockeying for position for the honored seats, perhaps to be nearest Tim. And surprisingly, Jesus although a guest, doesn't hesitate to correct the actions of some of the other guests.

He then gives advice about iving a dinner and only loviding to pla who would inxturn return the favor and invite extend an invitation for dinner also. His instructions then follow in verse 13, "But when they makest a feest, call the poor, the maimed, the lame, the blind."

Jesus had looked around and had seen all of the well-to-do invited guests. He knew these were just people whose curiosity about Himself had been aroused And what better way to show off this curstion blo characters in the lines? And Jesus continued, "And thou shalt be blessed; for they cannot recompense thee: for thou shalt be recompensed at the resurrection of the just."

He is saying that rewards for doing good will come in the final resurrection. The Jews believed that the resurrection of the just, the setting up of the kingdom of God would be ushered in with a great festival in which all the members of that kingdom would partake. So it isn't surprising that we read in the 19th verse, "And when one of them that sat at meat with Him heard these things, he said unto Nim, 'Pleased is he that shall est bread in the kingdom of God."

This was one of the very select group of guests at the meal. He was probably a scribe, or a Tharisee, or some other member of the religious elite. He was agreeing with Jesus and was thinking of himself and all the others there who would most certainly be a part of that kingdom since they were the relige ious leaders of the Jers. And the Jews were the only ones to be a part of that kingdom.

His attitude, and the attitude of the others prompted Jesus to say, "A wertain man made a great supper, and bade many."

The usual procedure was to send out servants to the homes of the invited muest They received an invitation to attend a dinner on such and such a date. But the time of the meal was not revealed. Circumstances concerning cooking, preparations, for xexex thing xeiver, and getting everything in readiness caused the ommission of the time.

So then we read in verse 17, "And sent his servatns at supper time to say to them that were bidden, 'Come; for all things are now ready.'" When the supper was actually ready, the servants went back to those invited guests and informed them personally that everything was prepared and awaiting their arrival.

The second feelow made the same sort of excuse. He said that he wanted to "prove" his oxen. Would you buy a used car without knowing whether it runs and - how?

And the third fellow had a semi-truthful excuse. His was that he was just married and needed to be with his wife. A Jewish male who got married was exempted from military duty for one year. But no one was asking him to go to war. His emcuse wasn't justifiable because he could have taken his wife with him. And after all, what wife doesn't like to eat out instead of doing the cooking? But you see, their emcuses are the same as are used today by people to keep from Church and the things of the Lord. These three instances point to taking care of business and work, of personal possessions, and of personal pleasure. Each of these things keep people from being a part of the kingdom of God. Each of them are not wrong in their ownright. But when they take precedence over our priorities to God, then they need to be evaluated for what they are and that is emcuses to steer clear of the things of the Lord. Verse 21 relates, "So the servant came, and shewed his lord these things. Then the master of the house said to his servant, 'So out quickly into the streets and lanes of the city, and bring in hither the poor, and the maimed, and the halt, and the blind."

So the servant went out and brought these people in. These people were shunne by the scribes and the Tharisees and the religious elite. Those who were not complete in body and limb could not serve in any religious capacity. The Jewish law specified that to do so a person must be whole in body and mind. So these people were the cutcasts of society and were shunned by those who were the religious leaders. You can well imagine the shock and disbelief this statement of Jesus must have received. This was absolutely unheard of. To even suggest it went against all the Jews believed.

So the servant acted on his master's command and we read in the 22nd verse: "And the servant said, ford, it is done as thou hast commanded, and yet there is room."

And since there was still room we read: "And the lord said unto the servant, "Go out into the highways and the hedges, and compel them to come in, that my house may be full."

The people who were to be brought in next were non-Jews, or Gentiles in other words. They were the ones who lived out on the highways and who were beyond the hedges. Joys fidn't fance in their properties if it islast. The hedges stood at the very edge of Jewish property to keep out the Gentiles. So here were the cripples of society along with the deex hated Gentile dogs being a part of the Great Supper and the invited, special Jewish guests are not. And the master said in verse 24, "For I say unto you, 'That more of those men which were bidden shall taste of my supper."

Now naturally, the master extending the invitation is God and these people knew exactly what Jesus was telling them in this story. They were understanding for the very first time that the invitation is to include all people and not just Jews. The invitation is "Let's Farty," ind includes everyone to be a part of God's Great party which will someday take place in the heavenly kingdom, but is also being extended in the here and now. A part of what Jesus was soying had to do with time.

(Illustration of time as seen in story of man, a used suit, and shoes) A man bought a used suit at a Goodwill store and discovered in the poscket there was a ticket for a shoe repair job. But the ticket was fifteen years old. He checked and discovered the the repair store was still in business. So he decided on a lark to try to redeem the ticket. Then he gave the ticket to the proprieter, the man looked at it for a moment and then disappeared in the back room. A few moments later he reappeared and said very calmly, "They'll be ready next Tuesday."

XIX Time is a commodity that we cannot ignore. It has a way of passing us by and there somes a time when we can only say, "I wish."

(Illust ation of 18 year old girl killed in plane crash and no "I love you.") In May of 1979 a plane crashed non shortly after takefoff from O'hare \irport in Chicago. Killed in that crash was an 18 year old Christian young lady mangateroly Rernikeily whose father sobbed when informed of his daughter's death, "The thing that makes it so hard, is that I never told her I loved her. I was always so busy and always intended to but she grew up so fast there just never seemed to be time."

He had lost his opportunity. He had fields to look at and oxen to check out. But time is something known we humans look at as being abundant, until we discover it is running out and then the things neglected or put off are sought after. It's somewhat related to the true story of anxwiderlyxscople newly retired couple who fulfilled a dream by using their savings to purchase an elegant motor home. This is an example of what Jesus was trying to get across in this parable. The Jews had been looking for centuries for the Messiah God had promised. But when He came, they rejected Him. And Jesus likened it to a big party to which they were invited, text They had the invitation and had promised to attend. But when the day of the party arrived, they made excuses not to attend, But the same applies to us as well. We have been invited to the party simply because others have refused to attend. But like them, many of us make excuses not to be a in attendance. The attitude of the Jews and of many of us is that there will be other parties; other dinners and invitations. They were on cruise control just as many believers are. Sure we've come to the Lord; He's our Saviour and we've accepted Him which is more than the Jews did. But that's as far as it poes. There's no further commitment; no further involvement. I'll serve Him when I get older because I've got plenty of time left. But the invitation is immediate. It is, "Come; for all things are now ready!" When the Master gives a summons it is for the immediate. That summons is, "Let's Party!" And we musr respond by asking, "Where am I? . In I in the Mingdon' fal what is my enduce if " not""

"The Reason To Party"

Scripture: Luke 15:11-32

(Illustration of Billy Graham in Cleveland and question: "WHo Are You?") On a beuatiful warm evening in July of 1972, Cleveland's Municipal Stadium was packed. Feople were even standing or seated on the field itself. Following the opening preliminaries, the Rev. Billy Graham stepped to the microphone and in that North Carolinian drawl, asked in a voice which rang throughout that stadium, "The Are You? Whe Are You?" From the right field bleachers a leather lunged young man probably of college age should back in a voice heard throughout the stadium without amplification, "I'm Somebody." Everyone laughed in cluding 'r. Graham. And he answered, "It's too bad that young man's theology isn't as good as wis strong as his voice."

Identity is something that is sought by everyone. All people seek to be known for who and what they are.

(Illustration of city official in mental institution and not recognized) A prominent official of the city was in the mental institution on business. When trying to leave he was stopped by a guard who shout's he was a patient "Do you know who I am?" he asked, indignantly. "No," replied the guard. "But I know where you are."

"Who are You?" The answer you rive depends on whit you "live. Those who have adopted the humanistic philosophy would answer much like a historian named Carl Becker:

Man is but a foundling in the cosmos, abandoned by forces that created him. Unparented, unassisted and undirected by omniscient or benevolent authority, he must fend for himself, and with the aid of his own limited intelligence find his way about in an indifferent universe."

Does that sound like God's most unique creation is worth anything? Perhaps we can contrast that with the findings of Adam Starchild, president of the Minerva Consulting Group in 1978 who made added up the chemicals which make up the human body. In 1978 dollars the human body was determined as being wax worth %6,000,000.

Who Are You? What is your life worth? This is the very issue that Jesus was trying to deal with in the parable of last week and in the prable of this week. Actually, this parable ix gives three pictures in this chapter. At the end of His speaking to these at the dinner to which He had been invited, Jesus said, "He that hath ears to hear, let him hear. Jesus had told the parable of the great supper and had given two illustrations of the terms for discipleship. As this memorable Sabbath day drew toward a close Jesus was surrounded by the outcasts of society. The lst verse of this 15th chapter tells us, "Then drew near to Him all the publicans and sinners for to hear Him This didn't meet with the approval of the religious elite and Luke tells us in verse 2, "And the Pharisees and scribes murmured, saying, "This man receiveth sinners, and eateth with them."

At this point then we read, "And He spake this parable unto them, saying." Then is related the preident of the lost sheep, the incident of the lost coin and the incident of thm what is called, "The Prodigal Son." All of these three incidents are one parable as such and are called "The parable of the lost Things." This morning we are going to look at the portion of the parable which deals with the so called, "Prodigal Son."

This is probably the most familiar of Jesus' parables. Probably we all know most of the details of this parable, so the one thing I want to share with you is a modern version of the parable written in the key of F.

(Illustration of Prodigal for using the letter "F") /// Feeling footloose and frisky, a featherbrained fellow forced his fond father to fork over the farthings and flew to foreign fields and frittered his fortune, feasting Babulously with faithless friends. Fleeced by his fellows in flooey, and facing famine, he found himself a feed-flinger in a filthy farmyard. Fairly famishing, he fain would have filled his frame with foraged forder food from fodder fragments.

"Fooey! My father's flunkies fare far finer," the frazzled fugitive forlornly fumbled, frankly facing facts. Frustrated by failure and filled with forboding, he fled forthwith to his family. Falling at his father's feet, he forlornly fumbled: #Father, I've flunked and fruitlessly forfeited family favor!!"

The farsighted father, forestalling further flinching, frantically flagged the flunkies to fetch a farling from the flock and fix a feast. The fugitives fault-finding brother frowned on fickle forgiveness of forner folderol. But the faithful father figured, "Filial fidelity is fine, but the fugitive is found! What forbids fervent festivity? Let flags be unfurled. Let fanfares flare." And the father's forgiveness formed the foundation for the former fugitives future fortitude.

how that is the story in a lighter vein, but I would like to focus on the central meaning of this parable. In all three segments of this parable there is a central theme. The incident of the lost sheep finds the shepherd going out and looking for the lost sheep. In the incident of the lost coin the owner of the coin searched and swept the house until she found it. And in the incident of the lost son, the father was seeking him as well. We read of the "son coming to himself," in other words he recognized what his problem was and that he was lost and so he determines to come home. He knows that he must face his father and so he plans his little speech which he will give to him. In the 18th and 19th verses that speech is, "I will arise and go to my father, and will say unto him, 'Father, I have sinned against heaven, and before thee, and am no more worthy to be called thy son: make me as one of thy servants."

And so he sets off on his journey homeward. And we read in the 20th verse, "But when he was a great way off, his father saw him, and had compassion, and ran, and fell on his neck, and kissed him."

Frobably everywday the father watched the son as he left the farm and went off on his own. He may have climbed to the 'op of the highest hill on the property cal satched him until be couldn't see him anymore. And perhaps every day after that, every chance he got be was scanning the horizen for a sign of the returning con. And tay followed day and he was disappointed each day. But one day he looked and saw a figure loom on the horizen. He rubbed his eyes, wondering if perhaps he was seeing things. But as he anxiously watched and the ymeny man came closer, he recognized whe that this man was his son. He could tell it by the way he walked. And before the son could get to lim, the father ran toward him to welcome him home. Notice, that he hugged him and kissed him. He didn't could him, or call him sturid and lumb. Instead, he showed him that he loved him in spite of his failings.

But the son wanting to make amends spoke to his father and verse 21 tells us, "And the won said unto him, "Father, I have sinned against heaven, and in thy sight, and am no more worthy to be called thy son."

And what was the father's reaction? We read, "But the father said to his servants, 'Bdiag for the bast obe, and put it on the said to his his hand, and shoes on his feet: and bring hother the fatted calf and kill it; and let us eat and be merry."

It was as though the son hadn't said a word about sking forgiveness. The fat as because of the lap, but lot complet by ignored the son's remarks. There is no where in this conjumn that we read of the or name. But I think it was Bill, and I'll tell you why.

(Illustration of Bill in New York accepting Christ and the change) On a cold rainy Sunday evening a man named Bill who was the controller of a big New York city chain of hotels was walking back and forth on Fifth Avenue of that city. He happened to walk by the Marble Collegiate Church around 8:00 O'clock and heard singing coming from within. The congregation was singing what a Friend we have in Jesus. He stepped into the church and took a seat in the balcony. He listened to the sermon and at the end Dr. Peale invited anyone who wanted to accept surrender their lives to Curist to fill out one of the cards found in the pwe rack. Bill took out a card looked at it, and was going to sign it, but said to himself, "No, I won't do this. This is evangelism and I am not in favor of it. He put the card in his pocket and went home to his hotel room. About 3:00 O'clock in the morning he awoke and couldn't get the church, the service, and the chall nge out of his mind. He got out of bed, pot down on his knees and proved and then he signed the card. In his bathrobe and slippers he took that card out to the mail chute in the hallway and dropped it in. He said that when he did it was like having a load lifted off his shoulders. The next morning he colled Dr. reale and had him come to his office and talk to him. He vold him what he had done and how he wanted to get involved in the work of the church. He began to tithe. At first it was ten-percent and this wasn't enough so he gave fifteen-percent, and then twenty, t enty-five, and fiaally thirty-percent. He became involved in almost every Curistian agency he discovered to do the work of Christ. He gave hours and hours of his time and of his ability. When he died, Bill's funeral was held in Fhile delphia. Four train railroad cars of men went to Philadelphia for his funer When the funeral was over these men kept asking Dr. Feale, "that did you do to Bill?" And he answered, "I didn't do anything to Bill, but I'll tell you who did all those wonderful things to Bill." They answered, "You need not tell us, we know."

When we hear a story like this we say, "Isn't that wonderful," much like it could never happen to us. But it can if we let it. A Father has been looking for His children to come home. But the Father hexemet did not stop at looking for His children. Instead, He sent His Son out to seek and to save that which was lost. Faybe we have come home and claimed that forgiveness and cleansing. But maybe things haven't been that much different because we have been unwilling to let go. Life for each of us can come alive, but we must want it. We must "Come to ourselves" and realize that being maxf in a far country is not where we belong. Our Father wants us to be part of the Party. And the "Reason To Farty" is because God is giving a feast to which He has invited everyone and His Son tells us, "Likewise I say unto you, there is joy in the presence of the angels of God over one sinner that repenteth." For each of us who have come home or decide to come home this day, God says, "For this my son was dead, and is alive again; he was lost, and is found." No matter who we are; no matter what we have done; we can be different. Your hopes can come true. The reason I said the prodigal's name was Bill, is because there are a lot of "Just plain Bills" who have accepted what God has to offer through Jesus. Bill, the man we talked about made the statement, "The church is where a place where all your hopes come true." With Jesus this is possible. With His help, your hopes can come true. You can be changed; you can come home and that's "The Reason To Party."

"Spiritual Farmi "

Scripture: Matthew 13:3-9, 18-23

As we said before, a few weeks apo with the introduction to the study on the parables of Jesus, it was spring time. Jesus and Lis disciples walked out of the house located at Capernaum and traveled the few feet which took them to the seashore. Already, at this early hour, a very large crowd had assembled to hear Him speak. Jesus got into one of the nearby boats, sat down, and began to speak.

The third verse of this chapter tells us, "And He spake many things unto them in parables."

The word "parable" comes to us from two Greek words "para" and "ballo" which together mean, "to throw alongside." A parable makes a comparison between an a known truth and an unknown truth. These parables were called mysteries simply kecause they were not revealed in the Old Testament and they were only revealed by Jesus to those who were truly seeking to understand. Wixmikike four Mexpelxwriters, Matthewaiexthexponexuboxwasxinspired xidxwritexthexpost parakiesxof xJesus; In this 13th chapter wexfind Matthewascov; The second of Jesus of which the parable of the sower is the longest.

Jesus begins this parable by stating, "Behold, a sower went forth to rod." Now actually, this is incorrect to next translations, because in the original Greek it is "Behold, THE sower went forth to sow." It is the definite articl THE, instead of the indefinite article A. Now later on, we will see the impostance between the two words. On the surrounding countryside, the barley was just about ready to be harvested and the scene was conducive to speak to the people about something they understood, and that was farming. They were all familiar with the methods of sowing seed either having sown seed, or seeing it sown by others. Two methods were employed in this part of the world at this time. One was to walk through the field scattering the seed by hand. The other was to tie a sack of seed on an animal such as a donkey, cut a smal hole in the sack and then walk the donkey back and forth across the field. The use of either method brought the results of which Jesus spoke as recorded in verses 4 through 8.

Tut the disciples were not completely sure of what Jesus was trying to teach and so privately they questioned Him concerning the meaning of this parable. So Jesus then begins to explain the hidden truth. "Hear ye therefore the parable of the sower. When anyone heareth the word of the kingdom, and understandeth it not, then cometh the wicked one, and catcheth away that which was sown in his heart. This is he which received seed by the wayside" W_ need to understand that in the explanation of the parable there is nothing wrong with the seed. The seed is good. In this parable, the seed stands for the Word of God. Her is there anything wrong with the sower. If you look at the 18th verse you see there that Jesus says, "Hear ye therefore the parable of," whom? Not A sowe, but THE sower. T, e sower in this parable is Jesus.

Christ Himself. That is why the translation should read in the 3rd verse, "Behold THE sower went forth to sow." In telling the parable Jesus had said that some seed fell by the way side and the birds of the air came and ate the seed. In His explanation He speaks of "the wicked one" taking away that which was sown in a person's heart. There are always those who hear the message but do not understand it, or who are not completely responsive to it. Some people become hardened of heart because of certain experiences or circumstances of life and their hearts are too hardened for the Word to penetrate or sink in. God tries xx to get into those hearts but He cannot penetrate the barriers raised there and finally He takes His spirit from them. In Genesis 6:3 we read where God says, "Nỹ spirit shall not always strive with man." Satan is waiting to take God way from any believer.

Then Jesus explains, "But he that received the seed into stony places, the same is he that heareth the word, and anon with joy receiveth it; yet hath he no root in himself, but dureth for a while: for when tribulation or persecution ariseth because of the word, by and by he is offended." 20-21 The stony places Jesus is talking about are not rocks, but ground which is covering stone underneath. In Israel, in many places limestone was and is several inches beneath the surfcae of the earth. If seed is planted on this ground, it grows rapidly because the ground warms up ouickly there. But there is no chance for the roots to sink deep into good soil and so they wither and the plant dies. Jesus is talking about people who are attracted to Christ and what He stand for. They are people who want to be a part of what God offers through Christ, but they are unwilling to pay the price involved. These are the people we see in church for a while, but when trials and temptations come, and friends persecute them they disappear to their old lives. They may remain on the church rolls, but there is no real commitment. The third type of crowth from seed Jesus says is, "He also that received seed among the thorns in he that heareth the word; and the care of this world, and the deceitfulness of riches, choke the word, and he becometh unfruitful⁴ vs 22

Jesus didn't say anything about the soil being too hard or too thin, but that these seeds fell among thorns. They grew along with the thorns, but the thorns were the stronger of the two and therefore choked the seeds out. This is what happens in a mind and in a life which doesn't have room for God to grow. What happens in these lives is that the seed, God's Word is planged in these lives. It is accepted and begins to develop. But in many instances as the years go by and the things of this life and world are added to that person's life, there is less and less need of the things of God. And so that person's faith begins to get crowded out by the cares of this life. After a while, Christianity is nothing more than a ritual. (Illustration of traditions carried on which mean nothing)

A man who was a devout Christian spent ceveral minutes each day reading his Bible, reading from a devotional look, and praying. He had a cat who liked to snuggle up against him as he sat in his bedroom. But the cat distracted him, so he tigdxher put a collar around her neck and tied her to the bedrost. The cat didn't seem to mind and all went well. The man's laughter bothed how much the her father's devotional time meant to him and so when she was married and out of the house decided to follow his example. So she began by tying her cat to the bedrost, but the time she we solve for even if magnetical "i'lle aling became greatly diminished and so it was less than her father had done. When her son grew up he wanted to preserve the family traditions which had meant so much to his mother and grandfather. But the pace of life had quickened so much that there wasn't time for meditation, Bible reading and prayer, but in order to carry on the religious tradition, each day while he was dressing he tied the family cat to the bedrost.

Although this may be farfetched, it illustrates that form and ritual can and often do, take the place of real commitment to Christ. There are lots of thorns which can crowd out the seed which God wants to grow and develop and be His.

And then Jesus explained, "But he that received seed into the good ground is he that heareth the word, and understandeth it; which also beareth fruit, and bringeth forth, some an hundredfold, some sixty, some thrity." Jesus says that there are those who not only hear the word, but they accept it and that acceptance bringe forth abundant fruit. From this last remark of Jesus, all who are in the church must take heart. And especially those the

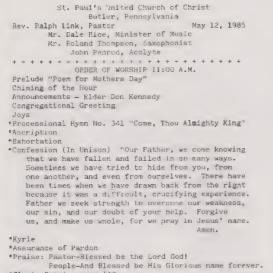

Seek to work at and build the congregation in which they belong. I believe that Jesus was specifically speaking to the leaders of any congregation in this part of the parable. Look at the men who had given up their businesses and their livelihoods to follow Jesus. Here were these humble men who had believed they were following the Messiah. Here was the wisest, most powerful man they had ever met. He could do things no one had ever done before. But they saw the limited success We had and the limited impact He had on society. The doors of the synamogues were closing to Him; the religious leaders were his severest critics; and some of the more powerful religious leaders were obviously out to destroy Him. True, many of the people around them had really been changed. But here were these vast multitudes following Him and mobbing Him wherever they went. But there was no spectacular complete turn to God among these crowds. So they must have bedome very discouraged and to top it off, here was Jesus Himself telling them that only about 25% would actually come to God as they God desired for them to do.

The question then arises, "How can there be any good ground for the seed to fall into?" And the answer is that THE sower must be able to work that ground to prepare it for the growth that can take place. Jesus, The sower must be given the opportunity to work in that heart and life for good seed to develop. It must mean more than just church attendance and fuffilling church requirements for membership. It must be the indwelling of the Holy Spirit working in and through that life to change it. It doesn't take place without some effort and without some work. #x

Throughout this parable Jesus speaks of the Word. What is the Word? It is exactly what it implies. John tells us Jesus is the Word. And we also know that the Word is the Dible. It takes these two to produce a harvest from that which is planted. It must be worked at.

(Illustration of boy promised a new car if he would read Bible through) How many of us are like that boy? Sure we intend to get to the things of God, but let, much later. "I'd read my Bible, but J'm not a mood reader." Or, "I don't have time." Our commitment to Christ should be more than just some broken promises. But God made promises to His people long before Jesus EXER came to earth. In the prophecy of Isaiah God epoke of this very thing. In the 55th chapter starting at verse 10, we read, "For as the rain cometh down freexterners and the snow from heaven, and returneth not thither, but watereth the earth, and maketh it bring forth abundantity and bud, that it may give seed to the sower, and bread to the eater: 'o shall My ford be that moeth forth out of My mouth: it shall not return unto Me void, but it shall accomplish that which I please, and it shall promper in the thing whereto I sent it."

In other words, God's Word whether from the Bible, or spoken through one of His servants, will not go forth fruitlessly. We may try to tune it out, or shut it out, but God can and will use it to convict any and all who may hear it, or read it. All that God wants from us, is our commitment to Him completely. THE sower has sown the seed and no matter what we do with it, there will be a harvest. Extratation the seed and no matter be in bt, or out of gathered in, we will definitely know prove the there be in bt, or out of it. And that inclusion, or exclusion will be thorugh our own choice.

"Final Results To "ollow"

Scripture: Fatthew 13:24-30, 36-43

(Illustration of radio preacher on Cain and Abel, and announcer at end) A preacher on the radio had just finished his Bible study from the book of Genesis on Adam and Eve. The program was being signed off by the announcer and the radio audience was astounded to hear, Will Cain kill Abel? Be sure to tune in next week at this same time to find out."

We have become accustomed to having a radio or television program interrupted by "A special bulletin." Jhat follows then is a brief synopsis of the so called "earth shaking, or shottering news", (which most often could have waited until the regularly scheduled news). Following the synopsis there is always the promise, (or is it a threat?), that details will follow at 11:00. Or we are told, "film at 11:00." Then at the 11:00 o'clock news the story is told with the conclusion, "stay tuned, final results to follow." Now this may be the way of our modern media, but it was preceeded by Jesus Christ by about 2000 years. Our Scripture for this morning is an example of this. This Scripture tells another parable of the sowing of seed. But the difference between this parable, and the parable of the Sower is that Jesus did not explain this parable publicly.

So it is that we read in the 36th verse, "Then Jesus sent the multitude away, and went into the house: and His disciples came unto Him, saying, 'Declare unto us the parable of the tares of the field.'"

Jesus had concluded his public speaking to this large throng of people. He stepped out of the boat and walked the short distance back to the house by the seaside in Capernaum and once inside the house the disciples asked Him for a private interpetation of the parable He had just taught. But notice what they asked, "Declare unto us the parable of the tares of the field." Did this parable just deal with tares? No! It is the parable of the wheat and the tares. So it is evident that what Jesus had taught had raised some serious questions in the minds of the disciples.

Jesus began this parable by EXXXX saving as we read in the 24th verse: "The kingdom of heaven is likened unto a man which sowed mood seed in his field."

When Jesus told the parable of the Gower He never said anything about the kingdom of heaven. I believe we need to understand what He was trying to convey. From time to time Matthew used the term "bingdom of heaven," while the other Gospel writers used "kingdom of God," and never kingdom of heaven. The distinction between the two is that the Kingdom of God never includes unsaved people. Whereas the term "kingdom of heaven" includes both saved and EMERVERYPORE others who profess to be Christians but are not. This in essence is what Jesus is teaching in this parable.

Jesus explained to His disciples that the sower in this par ble was "insel", as we read in verse 37. But the parable takes on a different aspect as we discover by going back to verse 25, "Put while men slept, his enemy came and sowed tares among the wheat and went his way." Now how could this be possible and not be detected? The enswr is that these tares which Jesus is talking about resembled wheat in every aspect, that it was impossible to detect them until the grain had bearded and was almost ready for harvest. These tares are a weed known as "bearded darnel" and in every respect look like wheat. But the darnel plant is somewhat poisonous and can cause harm so it must be separated from the wheat. It can't be done while the wheat and the larnel are growing together because it is impossible even for experts to tell them spart. So plucking out what may appear to be darnel, or tares, is likely to have wheat also plucked out. And when the grain has bearded and it is possible to tell the two apart, pulling up the tares will also pull up the wheat because the roots become intertwined. "a it becomes " real problem. In India today, one of the most dire threats anyone can give to another is, "I'll plant weeds in your field," and it is done by some unsavory characters. This is why the disciples asked for an explanaand they hier it is a story means. In the kingdom; but the

So then, Jesus tells what this story means. In the 38th verse we read, "The field is the world; the good seed are the children of the kingdom; but the tares are the children of the wicked one; the enemy that sowed them is the devil; the harvest is the end of the world; and the reapers are the nagels."

In this parable there are two sowers, not one. One is the lord and the other is Satan. Christ sows "good seed" in the world. This is and has been done by His provision of redemption for any and all who will come to Him. But the world belongs to Satan. It is his kingdom and he has free reign to also sow seed and his seed is evil. We can see in this parable the hidden meanings Jesus was trying to impart. He speaks of an "enemy" coming at night to sow the tares. Satan always iny has been and always will be the "enemy" of what is right, and true, and good. Compared to Jesus we see that he is the exact opposite. Where desus is the Tight of the World, " tan is darkness. So, speaking of the seed being sown at night, it is at night that we have darkness. Therefore, batan's seeds are always sown in darkness, because he is darkness himself. But his seeds were sown "while men slept." The parable doesn't really mean while people were physically asleep, but that these people were being lax in their watchfulness over the field. Jesus said the field is the world and it is the church which is in the world. So within the church in the world are those who asleep to what is going on. If the church had been awake and alert to the evil around it, we wouldn't have the widespread mess we find ourselves in. We have the Jehovah's Witnesses, the Mormons, Christian Scientists, Unity, and all the others growing by leaps and bounds and many of these groups are being supported by Christians believing that they hold the truth, which they don't. It isn't too difficult to see that where Christ sows a true Christian, Satan comes along and sows a counterfeit. Letz's just look at a few Scriptural examples of this. In 2 Corinthians 11:26 we see he has counterfeit Christians, who believe a counterfeit Gospel, (Gal. 1:6-9); he enocurages a counterfeit righteousness, (Rom. 10:1-3); he has a counterfeit church, (Rev. 2:9); and at the end of the age will produce a counterfeit Christ, (2 Thes. 2:3-4).

J.J. Ross in a book, "The ingdom Mystery" writes:

In the church in which John writes his letter, 1 John 3:10, there were two families - those born of God, and 'the children of the devil.' These two families were set forth at the very beginning of human histroy by Cain and Abel. Cain, the first-born, though religious was of the evil one, while Abel, the second-born, representing those born of the 'pirit, was of God. The children of the devil are not out and out blasphemers and wicked persons generally; they are those who profess to be Christians, having been baptized, have their names enrolled upon the church register, and perhaps are even engaged in Christianservice some form of Christian service, but have never been born from above. Like Cain, they are religious without the blood, having their offerings rejected because they, themselves have not been accepted.

That will be the harvest where the wheat and the tares are separated. It will be the end for those who played fun and mames with the Church of Jesus Christ. No more excuses, no more, "Lord, Lord, when did we see Thee hungry, thirsty, and so on. Jesus' final warning was, "Then shall the righteous shine forth as the sum in the kingdom of their Father."

The "Final Results To Follow" will not be "pictures at 11:00," or a final wrap-up of the days news. It will be experienced by one and all in a harvest which will xpearate separate the wheat from the tares, the believers from the make-believers; it will be a day of truth for all; an experience each of us must live through. The call from God is ever, "Choose ye this day whom ye will serve," for most assuredly there are: "Final Results To Follow."

"Plan Ahead"

Scripture: Natthew 25:7-15

It is something we are not familiar with. But to the people He told the stor; it was completely understandable. In Israel, when a young man and a girl wanted to marry, they entered into an agreement which was called the betrothal or engagment. This period of time lasted for approximately one year and was as binding as the marring subsequent marriage itself. We can understand the engagement period very readily, but the next step was one we would have difficulty accepting perhaps. This involved the coming of the bridgroom for his bride. He could come for her at any time to claim her as his own, so it was imperative that she be ready and waiting. And normally, the bride had at least ten of her closest friends ready and available to goxwithwhervit escort her to her groom's house for the feast. This in essence is what Jesus is talking about and this custom still prevails today.

HENNEhapterx 25x is x sandwicked x in x between "his parable is situated in chapter 25 in between the discourse on the end of the are in 24, and the parables of the talents and the sheep and mosts. That Jesus is speaking of is the future Appropriately the chapter berins with the word "then." By starting this way. Jesus was saying, XXince We have spoken of the end of the age, "XXXXX So. "Then," or "since we have said the forgoing," and He begins with His story. And once again as we pointed out two weeks ago, the "Fingdom of heaven," which Matthew alone employs refers to a difference from the reference "Kingdon of God." That difference is that the "Kingdom of God" is made up solely of those who are the "true believers, the saved people." But the "Kingdom of heaven" is made up of both the true believers, the saved, and those who may claim to belong to the Lord but are not because of a lack of a complete commitment to Him. In the "Fingdom of heaven" there will take place a separation of these two groups as we pointed out in the parable of the wheat and the tares.

So Jesus is saying that this separation will be likened to, "Ten virgins which took their lamps and went forth to meet the bridegroom." verse 1B.

Now of those ten we can see there is a difference. The difference is, "And five of them were wise, and five pfxthem were foolish." verse 2.

The reason five were wise and five were foolish is explained in the 3rd and 4th verses: "They that were foolish took their lamps, and took no oil with them: But the wise took oil in their vessels with their lamps."

In this parable there is nothing mentioned about the Bride. It is understood that the Bride is the Church of Jesus Christ. I say it is understood that this is so, because Jesus Himself is the Bridegroom and this will become evident at the very end of the parable.

There has been some misunderstanding connected with this parable because of the beginning in verse 1, where Jesus says the ten virgins took their lam s and "went forth to meet the bridegroom." They weren't going down the road looking for him, this merely means they went to spend their time with the bride and await his arrival.

Now the real gist of the story is that the bridal attendants were to be prepared for the arrival of the groom. Because when he arrived, they escorted the bride and the groom to the groom's house and usually this was at night. The reason for this was because the bridegroom sought to surprise his bride by coming unexpectedly. The bride was looking forward to the day when he would come and it was a day of fulfillment for both of them. And since that usually took place at night, to trafel with the bridal party required lamps and oil enough for the lamps., and this gives us the distinction between the wise and the unwise virgins.

So Jesus telling this story says, "While the bridegroom tarried, they all slumbered and slept."

And once again the illustration is the church. Jesus had promised that He would come again for His bride the church, but lo these thousands of years have passed and still He hasn't come. The Apostles waited expectantly, eager. ly, but He didn't come in their lifetime. And the church moved down through the ages and still He hasn't come. So the illustration about "sleep" is much like the illustration in the parable of the wheat and tares which said, Wwhile men slert." It doesn't really mean sleep, or being asleep. It means that because the bridegroom hasn't appeared, men have become less alert to look for Fim. The church has relaxed in the comforts of the world and has been lulled into dozing and nodding off.

But then Jesus says, "And at midnight there was a cry made, 'Behold, the bridegroom cometh; go ye out to meet him.'" "Then all those virgins arose, and trimmed their lamps. And the foolish said unto the wise, 'Give us of your cil; for our lamps are gone out.'"

Here is the first sad commentary on this parable. "(ur lamps have pone out." Those five virgins whom Jesus called "Foolish" didn't have enough oil to even begin the journey to escort the bride and groom to the grooms house. Usually in Coripture "Oil" stands for anointing and in the rew Restament it stands for the Holy pirit. Now if they were a mart of the bridal party and that involves all church members they have the Foly Spirit and so most likely oil here represents God's ford. Jesus said, "Let your light so shine, that men may see your good works and glorify your Father which is in heaven." The Light we have is God's Word.

"Hanned young concert violinist was asked the secret of her success. "Hanned neglect," she replied. Then she explained, "Years ago I discover-ed that there were many things demanding my time. Ifter washing breakfast dishes, ' made the bed, straightened my room, dusted the furniture, and did a host of other things chores. I then turned my stiention to violin packice, That spread, "sector, "ailed to accomplish the desired results. So I realized I had to reverse things. I teliberately set aside everything else until my practice period ended. That program of plauned merlect screants for my success."

If we would put aside some of the things which take precedence over the reading that shalp of folls ford and use "Planned Neglect," we could see a vast change take place in our lives. This is the oil the five foolish virgins needed.

in the particle as it continues, the rise risting when to only up their oil for the others. This isn't selfishness as some people may want to point out. It is being wise because had they given up their supply of oil, all of them would have been without light.

So then we read in the 10th verse, "And while they went to buy, the bridegroom came; and they that were ready went in with him to the marriage: and the floor was shut."

Here is the second tragedy of this parable, "And the door was shut." It was closed to those who would have liked to enter when they realized what was on the other side of the door. They had awakened from their sleep to discover that it was too late to make the necessary changes to get in. This is a sad commentary on life. We'be said before one of the saddest things in life is to have to say, "I wish" and then recall something we wish we had done. In this parable the sad commentary is, "If only." "If only, I had made sure I was prepared for what would come at the end.

(Illustration of Potert Weller and book, "Great "xecutive Dream") Fr. Heller writes of those men like:

the executive xkmxtxrx of IBN who turned down the UNIVAC computer the DuPont exec who pointed the inventor of xerography the door the Kodak man who turned up his nose at Folaroid

These men are like the man in the 1880's who predicted that the streets of our major cities would be piled two feet high in horse manure by the 1920's. Mark Twain was a man like this.

(Illustration of Twain and telephone)

Park Twain squandered a fortune on hairbrained schemed that all led to financial ruin. But a poor, but brilliant inventor asked him to invest only 1500 in his invention in exchange for as large a share in the company as Twain wanted. Twain saw no future in the invention and so he sent Alexander Graham Fell on his way, and lost the incredible fortune he could have made.

"If only" is the crv of so many, but unfortunately, when that cry will be made at the very portal of heaven, it will be the most despairing. God gives each of us the same amount of hours and minutes, and seconds in any given day. Are we seeking and knocking while there is still time to seek and knock: Jesus closes this parable by saying, "Afterward came also the other virgins, saving, Lord, Lord, open to us." But He wwwidther answered and said, 'Verily I say unto you, I know you not. 'atch therefore, for ye know neither the day nor the hour wherein the Son of man cometh.'" And here is the 3rd tramedy, "I know you not." The tragedy of this is that the lord will say this to those assembled around Wim who are thinking that they should be part of this Kingdom of God. But remember, that as we read at the beginning of this parable, Natthew stressed the "Kingdom of heaven," which we said included both saved and blocs who thought they were saved.

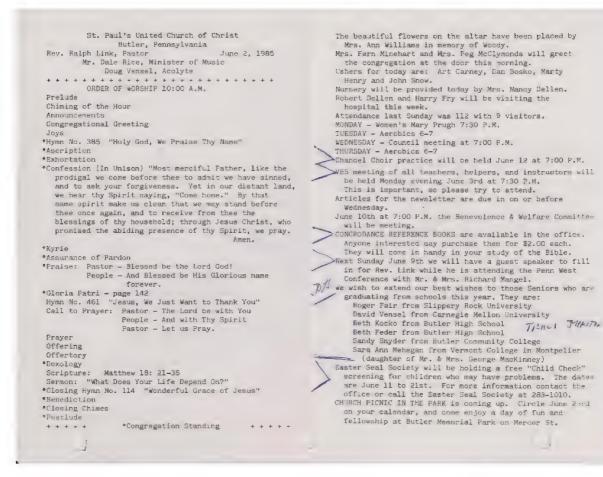

(Illustration of finon Folivar and the freeing of Teru) In 1824 feru won its interpendence from Train under the leadership of Simon Bolivar. General Bolivar aelled a convention to draft the constitution for the new nation. After that convention he was asked to become the first president, of but he declined saying he believed someone else deserved that honor more. Fut the reorie till material to do something to express their appreciation and so they offered him will of one million peaks, which was a large fortune in those days. Bolivar accepted the gift and then asked how many slaves there were in Feru. Te was told there were 1500. Toll of ruch loss a slave sell for; The asked. About 350 pesos for an able-bodied man was the answer.

"Then, said Bolivar, I will add whatever is nece the the million of the free. I have and a will buy all the slaves in Feru and set them free. as well."

And just as trapic is the fact that Jesus Christ paid the price to free all affized of the mold put out that are that have to shale to bordars the spring area with the last of the T ere will come a time when Jesus will have to say to certain people, "I know you not." His admonition to all people no matter who; no matter what race; not matter where they are is, "Watch therefore, for ye know neither the known day nor the hour wherein the Son of man cometh." verse 13.

We are to be prepared for His coming at any time. He may come for us in deat by removing us from this world in this manner; or He may come in the clouds t Rapture His Church out of this world. But He is coming and we are told to "Watch." If our lamps are trimmed, and we have a supply of oil the Bridegroom can come at anytime and He will not catch us unawares. But the questio is, "Are our lamps trimmed? Or do we have the lamp in our lives, God's Word? Do we have a supply of oil? Or is the Holy Spirit moving and motivating us to live for Christ?" If we can anser YES to these questions, we need of fear the coming of the Bridegroom for His own. But if we can not answer YES to these questions we need to get our lives in or'r while there is still Time. But for each of us, we must "Can thead," and "CATCH."

"what Does Your life Depend (n."

Scripture: Natthew 18:21-35

Illustration of long marriage and success of it)

marriage was the talk of the trail the mule stumbled again and my husband took his pistol from the holster and shot the mule ad he walked over t me , grabbed me by theears, shook me vigorously and said, "That's once."

But I think she got even. Because this man was considered to be a great hunt er and sie begred him and coaxed bim to take her deer hunting with him. So finally one day he decided he would take her out just once and maybe she would get tired, or cold, or something and quit begging to go deer hunting. So they set out this one morning and climbed up to the where the trees began on this mountain and where she hed a good view of anything coming up, or walk ing in the valley. And he told her he was going on the other side of the mountain. He reached a spot where he decided to stay and it wasn't too long when he heard a shot, followed by another, and then another. He didn't think it was his wife and yet the sound came from the direction where he had left her. So he started to go to where she was and soon he heard what sounded lik two people talking loudly. But as he approached he heard that it was a loud argument and his wife's voice was raised above the voice of a man. An she was shouting "It's my deer, it's my deer, I shot it." And when he got on top of them, he heard the man yell, "OK, OK, you can have your deer lady, but first let me take my saddle off him."

This sector of "getting even?" Must we always "win out" remardless of the cost?

(Illustration of seamstress in London slum, killed by drunken husband) A seamstress lived with her husband in a slum district of London. One night he came home drunk and he got into an argument with her. Enraged, he picked up a kerosene lamp and threw it at her. The kerosene doused her clothing setting her on fire. Horribly burned she was rushed to the hospital where a policeman and other authroities told her she was near death and to tell them what happened. She only said four words: "It - was..... pure....accident."

What would you say is the ingredient we all have and never give it another thought?

Today's Scripture presents to us that ingredient without identifying it by name, but only by illustration. This Scripture speaks of Forgiveness, of Being Forgiven, and of the attitude following Forgiveness.

In the Scripture immediately preceeding this one, Jesus had been talking about forgiveness and while it was fresh on their minds, Peter, the guy who always felt he was on the right track and bumbled into his solution asked Jesus about forgiveness. So he asks Jesus the question in verse 21, "Lord, how oft shall my brother sin against me, and I forgive him? Fill seven times?" Low Teter believed that he was being very generous with what he gave as his answer. Frobably he expected Jesus to say, "Boy Fetter, you got the right idea and you have really caught on to what T have been agains." Have you ever wondered where leter not his grand idea of forgiving someone 7 times? Is it Scriptural? Can I find it in the Bible? You can't actually find what leter was asking in Scripture, but you can find where it was he not his idea. Turn to the Old Testament book of Amos. Now in case you may have a bit of difficulty here, it is fight ment of V = 11 114 book of Tool, of You are some to callab, you have based it to an any, in rows, it is at it in the

We read, "Thus saith the Lord." Now that's God and not Amos just in case the angry hearers of Amos were looking for something he was going to say in his own strength. "Thus saith the Lord;"For three transgressions of Damascus, and for four, I will not turn away the punishment thereof." Here is the Biblical grounds for forgiveness. Like a batter in a baseball ball game, you get three strikes and then you're out. Do it once, God forgive do it twice, God forgives, do it three times, God forgives; do it four times and Zap, you've had it. That's the Old Testament way of forgiveness. The Rabbi's taught to forgive anyone who does something to or against you "three times." So Peter is following what he had been taught. But he is being extra generous. Twice times three is six, and for good measure he adds one more, making seven. Good arithmetic, right? Right, but bad theology, and Jesus corrects him by saying, "I say xxxxxtex not unto thee, 'Until seven times:'

but, 'Until seventy times seve .'"

Can you picture leter? He has been completely deflated. Instead of being able to hold someone accountable seven times and then write him off, he was being asked to firgvie him 400 times. Why that would take a lifetime and who wants to be that forgiving? To one! And Jesus knew this so He was now going to in tell Wr. Feter, the impetuous one, and the other mood Jewish brethren among them about being forgiven. And thus follows the parable.

Jesus tells them that a certain king looked at his kincdom and his servants and he discovered that one of his servants owed him a large amount of money. The amount is immaterial. Estimates have ranged from the millions into several billion. But it is not necessary to know the amount. The ouestion is also asked, "How could a man owe the king so much money?" And the answer is that he worked for the king and worked overtime juggling the books. So he was brought before the king and the king should have sold him and all of his family to recover what was rightfully his. The man in fear begs to be forgiven and we readi in the 27th verse, "Then the lord of that servant was moved with compassion, and loosed him, and forgave him the debt."

how at this point in the story perhaps we need to stop and identify the chare afters of the story. The king of course is God and the servant is each person who will ever walk this earth. The huge debt is the sin in our lives and if we were asked to make payment to God for that sin, there is no way we could ever repay it. And so each of us desires to be forgiven of our debt of sin, and God, our Sovereign had compassion on us and provided for our forgiveness by paying the debt with the blood of Jesus Christ.

Now we have seen what forgiveness is and of being forgiven. After the forgiveness has taken place, "What is the attitude of the servant following forgiveness?" Well, we read that he went out and he looked for a fellow who owed him a large debt. That debt amounted to a few pennies compared to what he had owed the king. So being the warm, wonderful fellow he was, he put his hands around his neck in a gesture of love and shaking him violently, while partially strangling him, he demands payment immediately. Not being satisfied with all of this he had the fellow thrown into prison. Meanwhile, there are some of his fellow-servants who don't approve of his direct methods to get paid back and they tell the king. The king summons him and says to him in verse 32 and 33, "C thou wicked servant, I forgave thee all that debt, because thou desirest me: shouldest not thou also have had compassion on thy fellowservant, even as T had pity on thee?"

No the king had him arrested and put into prison until he could pay the king back. And Jesus concludes this parable with the words in verse 35, "No shall by heavenly Pather do also unto you, if we from your hearts forgive not every one his brother their trespasses."

We need to quickly add that God isn't coinc to torment us or that we will lose our salvation. Jesus is talking about those who to through life believing themselves righteous and moral and never avail themselves of the forgiveness of sins which God offers to them through Jesus. And it is these same people who look down their noses at others and refuse to forgive them, yet all the while seeking what God has without taking xdwahataxe advantage of it. Pfin latter section of this perable gives us a good example of what our attitudes are concerning forgiveness. When to be forgiven by God; we love to have that forgiveness; and when we do have it through Jesus we are overjoyed. But what is our attitude toward those who sin or trespass arainst us? Well now, that's another story. Hany people say, "I can never forgive him or her." (r, "I can forgive, but I'll never forget," which is 'ly saying, "I'll neither forgive nor forget." To forgive, is to forget, to never remember it again. This is what God did and does for us with our sin, so why can't we try to do as God does?

Have you discovered the word which is implied, but not said in this block of Scripture? "What Does Your Life Depend On?" For the answer we need to turn to another of the Old Testament men, a man named Micah. And Micah comes after the incident of the fish that swallowed a man and just before a man named Nahum. In Micah 6:8 we read the classic verse, "He hath shewed thee, O man, what is good; and what doth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God."

The first thing in that verse is "to do justly." That means we are to act righteous. The word in the Old Testament meant action, not autitude. It says "to do," which means to live it, not just think it, or believe you have it. Jesus dealt will this all the time and in Natthew 3:8-9, (read these), He was telling them that God could raise up other robots if We wanted to, just like them. But this isn't what God wants. He wants people who know they have been made righteous through the sacrifice and death of Jesus Christ, through His shed blood; and then show forth that righteousness in action? That is, in deeds, in our actions toward others, our dealings with them, our ethics, our morals, in everything.

Ind then we are "To love mercy." OWhat Does Your Tife D_pend On?" Have you figured it out yet? It is dependent upon "TERCY." Mercy is what we have been reading about in this parable. It is God's mercy which saves us; it is His mecry which sustains us; and it is His mercy which keeps us in His love. And if we know this mercy as a reality in our lives then we will be doing justly, we will be walking humbly with our God and it will all be because we love the mercy God has given to us.

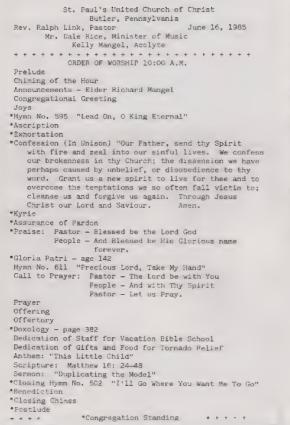

T is is where the question desus asked in this parable fits in. "Shouldest not thou also have had compassion on thy fellowservant as I had pity on thee? It is mercy we want, and mercy we need, but we are mostly unwilling to give it to others.

Grace is God's unearned, unmerited love for us and this is shown in the free fift of salvation through Jesus Christ. But mercy is what wextexer. INTRACEMENTE keeps us from getting what we deserve. Every one of us as humans are deserving of the fire of hell. But God has intervened and provided mankind with His mercy through His Grace, His free wift of salvation through Christ.

(Illustration of Gandra and her act of mercy)

Sandra and Tom had been married for 8 years. It was a stormy marriage but they had never talked of divorce or going their separate ways. But one day, Sandra couldn't believe what she was hearing. Tom wanted out, he wanted a divorce. For 11 long years fandra lived alone and those years were hard on her. Tom remarried and with his new wife he had 3 children. Then Tom took sick and his illness was terminal and he died. fometime later, fandra learned that Tom's children were destitute and Tom's second wife was unable to care for them. Gandra faced the hardest decision of her life. Could she - would she for Tom's sake - the for the children's sake - for Christ's sake? The decided this is what she had to do and so she took all three of the children and raised them as her own.

Our lives depend on Mercy. God's mercy! Were it not for His love we would get what we deserve and that is hellfire! Separation from Him for all eternity. But He reached out in Mercy and enveloped us in the loving arms of a Savior to bring us into the fold. Do you know what your life depends on? And are you willing to show Mercy to others as it has been shown unto you?

"Duplicating The Model"

Scripture: Matthew 16:24-28

(Illustration of perfect happiness of a husband/wife)

Do you know the definition of perfect happiness for a husband?

It is when he opens the refrigerator and sees his wife's picture on the milk carton.

You husbands whose wives are not here can share that with them and you wives whose husbands are not here can adapt that at home. But I cannot be held responsible for the consequences, just tell anyone that Paul West-coat gave us that one. I just threw it in for Father's Day.

How many of you remember Wheaties, the Breakfast of C, ampions? I don't mean the new roastier, toastier, vitamin packed cariety, I'm talking about the Wheaties of old, that the Wheaties you poured the milk on and didn't speak to you, or make noises, but just kind of laid there in the lowl and looked stupi How many of you kind of grew up with them? Good! Then I'm sure you can thin back with me to the days of yesteryear when those boxes held the pictures of some of the heroes of baseball. (Illustration of Lou Gehrig as my boyhoos hero) I can remember the beginning of the summer of the year which saw the United I can remember the beginning of the summer of the year which saw the United tates plunged into war. The date was June 3, 1941. I was home from school and sick in bel with the flu or none much thing. The afternoon pape arrived and my mother brought it to me and I immediately turned to the sports pages to xee read about my favorite sport baseball. On that sports page was spread the story and history of one of my herces, because on the day before, June 2nd, he had died. The man was called "The Iron Morse" and death had finally released him from an incurable crippling nerve and muscle disease. He had played in 2,130 consecutive sames before being felled by the crippler: a record that will probably never be beaten. But as it course the crippler; a record that will probably never be besten. But as it comes to all men, death had taken the life of lou Schrig, the pride of the Yankee But heroes all die sooner or later. Some die through death, and others fade from sight. But in my generation men like Lou Cehrig were not the exception, they were mostly the rule. They were genuine heroes a boy or girl could look up to. Today, there is only a handful of baseball players that could ever fi this image. One of them is ann a player named "teve Carvey whom the press ha named "Nr. Clean." He received this name because he doesn't drink, or smoke, and he will spend endless time signing autographs for all his fans wherever they are. The is as enception and most are somewhat like a story I heard: (Illustration of your boy and parents metting divorce and custody hearing) our 'oy's monts were petting a divorce and a custody hearing was being held in front of a local judge. The judge asked the boy if he wanted to live with his follows. The judge asked the boy if he wanted to live with his follows. The judge asked the your mother? He asked. "No your honor, my mother will beat me too." "Well, what are we going to do with you?" The boy answered, "Let me go live with the Pitts-hurgh Pirates. They get high and can't heat anyhody " burgh Pirates, They get high and can't beat anybody."

And strangely enough, these are the heroes many of our young people look up to. The more immoral, or wierd, the more fans they have. Many people, not only young people are worshiping the freaks and monsters of our society who sing indecent songs, wEXX make obscene gyrations and motions, and do everything they can which is against all morals and principles, and they play to packed houses. For all of this they receive rave notices from the news media and their myriad fans.

But just what is a hero? What determines the model to be looked up to and to be followed? If we ask this question in the secular world, the answers would robably vary from the Beatles, to Irinz or Madonna. But if you ask that due tion of those who are truly seeking meaning and purpose in their lives, the the only answer that can be given is "JTED'." Jesus is the only person who ever walked this earth to make the las ing impact We did. He is the only one whose krick birth has influenced the reckoning of time. Before We came, the time was reckoned by F.C. or before Fis birth. After Fis birth, it becomes, 1.D., or "In the year of our Lord." There are other things which He did to make a lesting impact on the world, but let's just look at what made, or makes Him the Lodel we should duplicate.

Lorhaps the best statement to summarize Wis right to be a model for all mankind is given by Jesus Himself as found in the 24th verse of our Boripture. He said, "If any man will come after Fe, let him deny himself, and take up his cross and follow He."

There are three things which are required by the Lord in this statement, but all of them are intertwined in the person who is making the statement. Jesus was not just saying a nice sounding phrase concerning discipleship. Instead, he was xixix a challenge which if followed completely, as it should be, demands total and undisputed commitment. Low the words sound so unoffensive and unbinding. But that is one of the problems of translation. In striving to have the prixinalx frank English version make sense the true and deep meaning of the words and phrases are often distorted. Please note the beginning of this 24th verse. The very closest the English can come to the Greek is, "If any man will," and it is the next words that are important, "If any man will COME AFTER ME." The very closest we can come to the original Greek is our English, "COH: AFTER ME." Now that may not seem so important, because if we asked what this means in inglish we would all say without hesitation, "It means to follow," and this is absolutely correct. But in the Greek the saying goes much, much deeper. When Jesus says, "Come after me," He was actually saying that anyone who wanted to be a disciple, or e follower of Him, that person had "come behind" Him, or be "behind, to the rear, backwards." The phrase in English is axward an adverb in Greek meaning speaking of place. It's not dealing with position or station in life. That has nothing to do with it. It is merely pointing out that ANYDUE, no matter who, if that person wants to follow Jesus, that person must get to the rear, must be behind, must come behind Wim. In order to do Fis, www. the follower's life must be in conformity with that of Jesus. The follower must be willing to go through the same things which Jesus did if need be. ", at is giving up selfish ambitions and surrendering to the complete will of God; living a selfless life; giving of endless time and ability to and for the needs of mankind. Jesus sets forth here the Duppication of the Kard Model by setting forth the invitation, "If any man will core after Me."

Then He rives three specifics in doing this. Pirst, the person must "deny himself." This means to forget one's self; to lose sight of one's embitions or self-interests. It means to begin to live thinking and caring for others and forgetting US, IE, ME. Tut is this what the world teaches today! We see it, and hear it, and read it that we are to look out for number One and that is me. ... only need to see the TV commercials to realize this. (ne of them which is prominent today has to do with a certain brand of cosmetics. They advertise the latest munk for the eyes or the mouth and then some girl says that she deserves this kind of junk for 'or face, "Secause I'm worth it." Low that isn't 'criptural at all. That is worldly! 'nd unfortunately, the worldl, , or ition is beard most often. ", is not denvine anything. Instead. it is demanding what is rightfully mine because I'm someone gradel and the implication is that you are not. To in order to deny ourselves we must know ourselves. Last states this in Galatains 2:20, "I am crucified with Christ: yet not I, but Jhrist liveth in me: and the life which I now live in the flesh I live by the faith of the Son of God, who loved me, and more "impelf for me."

It is a denial that I am of importance and the exaltation of the (no she is in which the Then Jesus said the Duplicator of the Model must"take up his cross." There are many distortions of just what this verse means. One lady where told me that her cross to bear through life was her husband who was a real problem. But that is not true. We can choose situations like that simply by making a bad choice for a life partner and we dannot blame that on God. The cross Jesus is talking about is a life of service whenever which entails continuing in that service even when it presents problems and difficulties, but you continue because you know this is where God wants you. Once again when we look at things from the perspective of the world we see that everything is geared toward success. No matter the job or the profession, we are always reminded of the people at the top who have truly succeeded. We are toldxofxthx shown the great surgeons, the top lawyers, the best dentists, the top rotch finangial wizards and so on. But in each profession there are those who are methodically working along and plodding step by stop, day by day, who never receive 'or billing. Ind after all, who is more important? Is it the one person who is simpled out for recognition? (r is it the hundreds, perhaps thousands, or even millions who are quietly performing the necessary tasks who never receive a line in a newspaper or magazine? Jesus wasn't balking about superstar Christians paraded on all the TV networks as examples of cross-bearing. He was talking of the all the little teachers and preachers, all of the little elders and deacons, all of the little teachers and helpers, all of the common. ordinary, often overlooked people who are about Wis business. The crossbearing We is talking about comes from a life that is lived in Christ. Taul tells us this in his letter to the Philippians 3:7-10, (read these verses). After Jesus has pointed out a person must deny himself, and then take up his cross, He adds,"and follow We." This is the most difficult part. The word "follow" denotes the action of a man answering the call of Jesus whose whole life is redirected in obedience to Him. But how often is this the case? Isn't it more often like the lines penned by an unknown author? (read this). (Illustration of Fill to where you want me to go," etc.)

I'll go where you want me to go, dear Lord; Real service is what I desire;

I'll say what you want me to say, dear ford - But don't ask me to sing in the choir.

I'll say what you want me to say, dear Lord; I like to see things come to pass; But don't ask me to teach girls and boys, dear Lord -I'd rather stay in my vlass.

I'll do what You want me to do dear Lord; I yearn for Thy Kingdom to thrive; I'll give You my nickels and dimes dear Lord -But please don't ask me to tithe.

I'll go where You want me to go, dear Lord; I'll say what you want me to say; I'm busy just now with myself, dear loed -I'll gelp You some other day.

Can't we see the truth there?

(Illustration of Sir John Barbirolli, symphony and clergyman asked about filling the same hall as he did)

Several years ago in Ingland Gir John Barbirolli was conducting a symphony orchestra to a standing room only crowd in a unique concert hall. During the week the hall was used for secular cultural events, but on Sunday it was used for religious services. The clergyman who was to preach there the next day was present at the concert. Some man who knew him xxxxixxxxixxixxix was seated next to him. So he thought he would have a little fun at the man's expense. We leaned over and said, "Pev, when are you going to fill this hall on Sunday the way fir John Tarbirolli has done tonight?" The minister in a clear voice, looking the man directly in the eye said, "I will fill this hall on Sunday morning when you will give me eighty-five disciplined men and women like fir John has had this evening to work with him."

Jesus is asking for this kind of discipline, for this kind of discipleship. Nis invitation is to live life as He lived it; to commit our all to His cause; and to Suplicate Him, our Fodel. In a book entitled, (ut Gf Fy Treasure, Volume IJI, we read of Jesus;

"e put on humanity that we might have divinity. Te became the Ton of Tan that we might become sons of Tod. In infancy, He sturtled a king; In boyhood, He puzzled the doctors; In manbood, He rule: the course of mature.

TRAVE-ING MERCIES

SITURTO-

"That's Not Fair, Or Is It?"

Scripture: Matthew 20:1-16

Isn't this typical of children? Thich only goes to prove that only children act like this. Picht? Frond, " know this and hear of it quite often among adults. "I work harder than him, and yet he not the promotion." "He got what I should have motten." The story is as old as creation. In fact, it started way back when Sain and Abel brought their offerings to the lord. "It isn't fair fod, how come you look with favor upon the bloody sacrifice Abel brings, but You don't appreciate mine?" And the argument of right and wrongness, of being fairly or unfairly treated beran and ended with the murder of Abel by Cain. And this is the background of this parable Jesus told of the workers in the vineyard. It roes back to the 19th chapter which tells of a rich your man coming to Jesu and asking what he had to do to inherit sternal life. "he answer Jesus gave was to serve manhind and this was not the masker he wanted to hear. . . o he went away sad and after he had gone Jesus remarked that it would be easier for a camel to fo through the eye of a neelle than for a wax rich man to enter God's kingdom. This rave the disciple somethin to think about and as a result leter seemed to have it all figured out as usual.

wo he expressed bimself by saying, (reed verse 27). And Jesus mave him the answer, (read verses 28-29). And then notice his closing remark before He begins to tell them a story: He says, "But many that are first shall be last and the last shall be first."

Here was Min thought for the day. omething to make them think and in order to illustrate Mis point We tells them the parable. Now the parable concerns the matter of fairness. Lat is fair in life and what is not?

The man who could the vineyard went to the marketplace to hire laborers. The marketplace it that time was the local unemployment office. Nose who were not steadily employed came to the marketplace with their toold ready to go and to a dark work for whoever wanted to hire them. The moint rate for a laborer was a penny and so we see the Louseholder bired the first batch at the foirm rate.

But in this part of the world we are fold the mane harvest - kes place an around the end of eptember and time is of the essence. Lecause at this time the mainy season starts and if the barvest is not completed before the rains, the mape crop can be ruined. It is essential that when the barvest begins, it is completed as swickly as possible. And this is exactly what this -2-householder was trying to do. That is show he went back to the marketplace at 0:00 1.1., and at 12:00 noon, and at 3:00, and a sin at 5:00. To do that of the 1 borders be dould hive to set the grapes hervested that day. To as was customary when 5:00 o'cloak arrived the laborers were paid for their work. The Jewish law mode it mandetory that anyone hired for a day's work, receive their weres when the for wes over. This here those who thired fracts into it. It is nonephotic for weres and terming interest on it, while the poor laborer fidn't have enough to by fool the. Fo the paymaster started with the men who had been hired at 5:00 o'clock and he paid each of them the going rate for a day's work and that was a penny. And you can imagine the disciples expecting to hearethe story have the logical ending of the first laborers being richly rewarded because they had labored all day, while the others had only worked a partial day. But Jesus says, "But when the first came, they supposed that they should have refeifed more; and they likewise received every man a penny."

Now by any standard, this is prossly unfair and the laborers protested and they "murmured arainst the moodman of the house," we are told.

Then they reasoned, "These last have wrought but one hour, and thou hast mad them equal unto us, which have borne the burden and heat of the day."

xxx mxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx Then the vineword owner reminded ther, "" riend,

They were paid the mainy rate, so they weren't cheated. They had amreed to work for that were. And he also reminied them, "Take that thise is, and ro thy way: I will mive unto this last, even as unto thee. It is not lawful for me to do what I will with mine own"" le was saying that the last mon hired had families to feed also and even though they had only worke's partial day, they deserved the moing rate as well. It asn't the amount of time they had put in, nor the amount of work they had done. It was simply that all of them had served and worked to accomplish the moal and for thet each of them was paid the same. Those who were hired first had contracted for the set amount and the others hired later had been told they would receive what was right, with no amount specified. ", e owner of the vineyard had the right to pay what he thought chould be paid and this is what he expressed in the 15th verse: "Is it not lawful for me to do what I will with mine own?"

It isn't a matter of who did the most work, but what the owner is willing to pay. And because of this those who worked the longer period were questioning the fairness of the arrangement. Now if this parable was dealing strict ly with the secular world, the workers would have a legitimate gripe. But Jesus was talking of earthly service which would be rewarded by God in heave and we will look at this in a moment. But suppose this were a secular situation. Would it be fair? I think we would all agree that it wouldn't. I can remember back when I was a kid my mother would take my brother and I with her to the large department stores in Tittsburgh when they had their super-dooper sales. Like the January white sales and so on. Many of you remember them I am sure. I can remember being dramged from one end of the counter to the other, because she insisted we stick close, (Child kidnap) ing was taking place back then too), and the women were rooting and pulling at the clothes on the counter. But the stores have learned to handle this situation differently now. First they have bigger stores, and then they have many counters with the merchandise on them so there isn't a pushing and pulling contest usually. The reason I mention this is because I recently read read of a situation which happened to the wife of J ck Mayhell who is the Director of the Navigators for the U.S. He tells it this way:

Director of the Navigators for the U.S. He tells it this way: (Illustration of his wife and a pair of slacks; and the crocery line) "Leveral months are in a large mell department store, my wife found a #23 pair of slacks - just what she had been looking for for months - and on sale at just '12. As she stood examining the garmert, a lair walked up and said, "Here, let me help you," taking the slacks out of her hands. Then the woman walked toward the dressing rooms, and she said, "If they don't fit me, you can have them."

deri was sturned - she could hardly believe her eyes and ears. Tince the lady didn't return, Jeri concluded they had fit and that the woman had paid for them and taken them home. For two days Jeri battled depression ove the disappointment. As we discussed the situation we both came to the conclusion that meekness is perhaps one of the most difficult of Christlike traits to develop.

to develop. .everal months later Jeri had another opportunity. This time she was standing in a supermarket checkout line with only a couple item in her hands. I middle-ared lady with a crocery cart pulled up-not behind her-but alonsside her. Ifter a couple minutes Jeri felt a tap on her s culder and turned to hear the lady ask in a cruff tone, "'re you in line?" her weri answered in the affirmative, the woman angrily replied, "Well, I'm shead of you!" There was a trerednous urce for Jeri to aroue with the or an, al "jable in the optime of the interimental of a subden remembering the principle, .eri said, "(1, if if is ther innershap of the optime, go shead." At which the woman said, "It is!" and pulled shead without flinching."

Were either of those incidents "Fair?" Of course not! But what does God want us to do in situations like these? He wants us to remember, "The last shall be first, and the first last." Those kinds of people may appear to get away with their selfish, "Me first" attitudes. But actually they don't. Jomeday in eternity, those who have not argued and pushed and stampeded for first place, will be ushered into God's presence ahead of those pushers and ahovers.

But there is one further thing Jesus points out which we need to remember, and that is the very last phrese of the 16th verse. Jesus said, "Por many be called, but few chosen." "The word "chosen" in Greek actually means, and should be interpreted "Choice." Many be called, but few are "Choice." That mean hat many cople may labor for the ford, but few of them are Of the Choice variety, the quality which the Lord seeks. It matters little whether we labor long and hard in the Lord's vineyard and the "Johnny come lately's" labor for a short period of time. "Patever we do for Him, will be rewarded by sim in eternity with a "Well done, mood and faithful servant, wher into the joy of the Lord."

"e need to be looking to be His Choice servants, instead of looking for what is "fair" or what is coming to me, because I have served. In this life we may end up like losers but we need to remember the prophetic words of Jesus to cheer us whenever we feel like losers, ". o the last shall be first, and the first last: for many be called, but few "Choice."

. resident indrew Jackson sold, "to the victors belown the spells." There is a continual battle being wavefreed which has been reixered ration since Tod placed man in the mander of dem and he rebelled analyst Tod. It is the battle of rood and evil; the battle of right and wrong; the battle between the supremacy of tod and the supremacy of tatan. The question is alway asked, " to ill inf." The obvious answer is that tod will prove the victor! Tot there are the end to an table it will be and so the battle continues and quite truthfully, if you look around now at what is taking place in our present world you can see the forces of evil seem to have the upperhand and are sinish new strength everyday. This colored in the strength of his wisdor wrote in the book of foclesiastes 9:11, "The race is not to the swift, nor the battle to the strength."

He observed that it wasn't sheer numerical strength, nor through the factest armies that the battle is won. echariah the rocket was inspired by "od to prophesy to Herubabbal the first covernor of Jerusalem after the exile, "Not by might, nor by power, but by My "pirit, saith the Lord of hosts." God will ultimately win even though the tide seems to be flowing strengly against that possibility.

Jesus was speaking to the scribes and Tharisees, the chief priests and the elders in the temple. Naturally there were many other people who had gathered to hear fim as well. It was the day following the cleansing of the temple Unly a fool or a madman would have returned to the scene of his crime of the day before. Jesus had upset and ancered the outhorities and so they were intent spon on showing the people that We was a chailatan like all of the other self-proclaimed Vessiah's which had come forth. But they had to do this in a manner which didn't upset the people because Jesus had a large following. No if we backtrack in this Plst chapter we see that these Jewish leaders came to Him to question Him about His authority. In the 23rd verse we read, (read this). They wanted to determine just what "is authority was to do and act as He did. And Jesus answerel them by stating that He would give them an answer if they answered a question of Mis, vs 24, (read). The question was, vs 25a. They pondered this among themselves, vss 25b-25. Ind they answer they mave was vs. 27a. Ind likewise Jesus mave them an indefinite answer, vs 27b. But He save them an opportunity to show where they stood in relation to who was truly serving for by givin them a problem to solve. Notice, He asks them in the 28th verse, " bat think ye? and then We relates the problem in purable form, ves 28b-31a. He becan the parable with a cuestion and We ends it with the question, " "bether of the twain did the will of his father?"

After they have given Jesur the correct enswer, vs 31b, then Jesus relates then that the cutcasts of society were accepted in od's kindow ahead of these religious leaders, vs 31c. And then Jesus gives the reason in vs 32. "We common ordinary geople heard John and believed him to be God's messenge: or the forerunner of the 'essiah, but the oribes, hericees and religious leaders didn't, and this is why the common people would be shead of them in od's kindow.

c thus, havin established John's sutherity, Jacus is now show, to establi is and to do so We uses another parable in which these religious is loss h to give him an enswer.

then Jesus spoke of vineyards and anything shout them, the people knew all about the subject because it was a large portion of the work many performed but it was also something was illustrated suite frequently in the more ses o the prophets. Identified in this parable are the following: the householder who owned the vineward is Almintay and; the vineward, in the action of Tar. the busbandmen are the "cribes, Harisees, Triests, Tim' Iriests, and elder. the servants are the prophets whom "od sent to the nation of Israel; and the son of the Louseholder is Jesus Timself, or the 'e sigh. ".e story is self explanatory month, then along the the vineyard to receive what was right fally Mis, but those in charte of the vineward heat up and cost out those re corrers. Lust of all the householder, lod, sent "is 'on to them thinkin they would receive Him as the promised one, but they threw the out and kill "in. Now at the time of the telling of this parable Jerus had not ret cone through the ordeal of "in trial and execution, lot to is the state of the state of eventually take place at the hands of there wineward workers, the religious leaders of Inreel.

to then, Jesus asks the question, " hen the long herefore of the discrard cometh, what will be do unto those hurbandment" vs 40

. then clovered, vs 41 - lead this.

The received that provide a state of the second sec then Jesus rives a prophecy concerning himself in the 44th verse. "And whosoever shall fall on thi stone shall be broken: but on whomsoever it will shall fall, it will grind him to powder."

that Jesus is saying is simply this: Anyone who hears the message of salvatio through Jesus Thrist and accepte Wim as his Lord and Quiour, that person has fallen on the stone, and that person becomes broken. Troken for that per son are the bonds of sin and death; brokenr for that person are the things that separate anyone from God; that person now has access to the throne of Grace and is counted as one of God's sons.

fut conversely, anyone who hears the messare of salvation through Christ and rejects it, refuses to accept Christ, that person has had the stone fall on him and he will be ground to powder. This means that person will be separate from God for all eternity. For him there is no forgiveness of sins, no etern al life with God and he will be as powder, as nothing in the sight of God. (I)Lustration of man pardoned and wouldn't accept it) then indrew Jackson was president he granted a presidential pardon to a usen who had been imprisoned for a serious crime. The man had a deep sense of guilt. We felt that he should remain in prison for the crime he had committed and so he refused the pardon. Tany lawyers en whether a femous debate to try to determine whether a pardon that had been refused was really a pardon. They finally decided that until it was accepted it is not a pardon.

not a pardon. Isn't this the way it is between 'od and man? In 'his great love for you, He offers you the pardon, the Grace, the wholeness of life. "e mives you the fruits of the cross! Not the question is, " "HI we accept it!"

The relitious leaders of Jesus' time couldn't accept it. To them, Jesus was too common; too ordinary to be the promined "essish. Indiso it in we read the conclusion to this parable with the words, "And when the chief priests and "herisees had heard "is parables, they perceived "e spake of them. But when they southt to law hands on tim, they merceived the multitude, because they took Jim for a prophet." was 45-46

Let would bide their time until it was convenient to have Jim put to detty. But in the method we they would kidextheir tolerate Him and do what they could to di one it fim. They were in effect savin "Fe" to what follows offering them in this "Fromised (me of Esrael." And so He was able to have a ministry among the entiles. "We deve and many others rejected Him. Our problem may not be that we have rejected Wim. Instead, our problem may be that we have not said "Tes" to Jesus Christ in everythint. It takes more than just accept in Fim as Jord and evicur, it takes sovied "Yes" to im in all areas of

Scripture: Matthew 25:14-30

(Illustration of Tom Kirkpatrick going to work as a missionary) Tom Kirkpatrick had worked for the Allison plant of Genral Motors for over 20 years. In 1965 he decided that he and his wife were called of God to be missionaries to Ethiopia. They were just common people. He was an elder in their local church and she was one of the leaders of the women's work. Tom was not theologically educated, not a public speaker, no real abilities to be a missionary. His wife was equally unrualified. They were of very modest means and trandparents. Fut they volunteered for this missionary duty which was unproven and untried. In their jobs in Ethiopia they did all sorts of unglamorous chores to keep the missionaries serving there on the job full time by taking away from them the menial tasks which would have delayed their word. In 1977 the computies overson Thiopia and they had to leave the country. Tom such his wife and to return to the United tates where they could have mettled for a deserved vection. The mere determined to no contracted on for a deserved vection. The there are determined to so to sucher field of work and so they went to enve, firics. Thile there, for contracted on the disease which was incurable. To stayed there an worked as long as the possibly could and then returned home to die. Tome died in 1982, but when he did, he was mourned on two continents. Here was a run of limited abilities, which eff a secure position with General i otors who heeded the call of "trist.

urely the ford would say of screene like him, " ell done, thou mood and faith ful servent: thou hast been faithful over a few thirms, I will make thee ruler over many things: enter thou into the doy of thy lord."

Ion Mirkpatrick is a vivid example of the parable given by Jesus in this 25th chapter of istthew. 's we look at this parable we can alwaws pick out the participants, or the people it was intended for. Jesus may have been speaking of the people or the nation of Tarael who had failed miserably in taking care of the things for had entrusted to them. The disciples were probably thinking that Jesus was making reference to them concerning what they should be doing since He always pointed out their duties. Tut when we read or hear this parable we must formet about the nation of Tarael, about the disciples and their problems of living the Christian life and we must know and believe the story is for us. It is for us collectively and individually. It tells us two things? One is what for expectes, and the other is what is the istual result size of that expectation.

As we look at this parable we see a Master and three of his servants. The Master can be likened unto fod. God is not in bodily on the seene in and so He must entrust the running of His business to those employed by Him. Fo Jesus tells that the Master, God, gives to three employees the talents they are capable of handling. We should also point out that a talent as Jesus was t lking about it was a measure of money. The actual value is unknown because it varied first if it was silver or gold and then whether it was Jewish, Roman or Greek valuation. Jesus is really referring to different abilities which each servant possessed. One had abilities which amounted to five talents, one had abilities which amounted to three talents, and one had abilities which amounted to one talent.

There is nothing abnormal about this illustration because not everyone possesses the same abilities in the same amount. There are those who can do many different jobs and do them well; then there are some who can only do a few jobs, or one job and do it well. It is not a reflection on their specific abilities. But with each one's talents, or abilities, there should be accountability. To be very blunt about it, God expects a return on His investment. ServentexhavexalwayexherexpointedxoutxixxSeripiurexas The role of servants in 'cripture has always been descibed as being one of accountability. In .salm 123:2, we read: "Rehold, the evese of servants look unto the hand of their masters, and as the eyes of a maiden unto the hand of her mistress; so our eyes wait upon the lord our (od until that He have mercy upon us. The realmist is saying that the servant looks to his moster for what he is to receive in the way of food, lodging, etc. Gut the servant must first do what is required of him before he can receive the mercy of him muster. Ind in the 45th verse of the 2% chapter preceding this one, chapter 94, we read: ho then is a faithful and wise servant, whom his lord hath made ruler over his his household, to mive themm meat indue season. Tleased is that servant whom his lord when he cometh shall find so doin ."

"od expects "is servants to be faithful and in so doing they return a profit on His investment so to speak.

"hat Jesus was styin" in this parable is that even the one talent, or the one ability person is worth something to the master. hat really matters in all of this is if the one talented person is doing what he can. Naturally, the five talent man has that much more to work with and more is expected of him. But how about the little way? The one with only limited obilities? To he adding the little bit he can do and give to that of each one who only has the same abilties? If so there is nothing for the one talent person to be ashamed of.

(Illustration of Lartha Berry and the dime Henry Pord mave her) Lartha Berry had a rescue mission for how and mirls and she needed honey. o she approached Henry Ford and asked for $1,000,000 for her work. He re-fused and instead, move her a dime. But limthe orr was not insulted and she put the dime to work. The knurkskakkekselspearans had miven up her home millions.

it has been had botten her one talent and we doubt do not the set . And so as we look at this parable we must ask the discomforting question of ourselves, "What has God realized from His investment in us?" Has there been any return at all? Will there ever be?

Our answers bring us to the actual which is shown forth most frequently. The fellow in the parable was not a bad man, but he just didn't do as he should have. The answer Jesus gives which the Master gave in verse 27 points out the very least he could have done. When Jesus sais talked about the exchangers, He was referring to banks. There were such institutions then and they paid interest on money loaned to them. If the one talent man felt he didn't want to work to give his master a return, he could have at least put it is a bank and it would have mained interest for the master. But do you see whit the master not when he questioned the servent? Verses 24 and 25 relate this, (read them). Instead of a return on the investment he have his master excuses. to ""ow noes ", e rected Guare ith The stual?", it deern't. We expected is a contracturn in the investment, but the second is excuses and no return.

("Hlustration of an election in "thems "reece)

In themian type each man had to speak server in theorem, we have the public dob, one qualifications before he could be elected. Two men source a public dob, one was a slited speaker but the other was not. The slited one told in electent terms of his qualifications and then what he felt he would do for them and related how proud all of ther would be with the finished results. The other mar In thenian tyle each man had to speak before an assembly to tell of his lated how proud all of ther would be will the finished results. The other a just stood up and said, "All that 'r. blank has said, I will do." And he was elected. The people wanted results and not flowery words.

God wants results, not excuses.

(Illustration of Lincoln's ch ice of Grant to lead build forces) Ibraham Lincoln led a fruitless earch for a man to lead the Union "my who could win the war. Finally he came across a man who had been winning battles of the western front. He summoned him to deshington and made General Grant that man. But Grant was not like! by the press because he refused to give them rood copy. His success is summed up in what he said to someone who told him he should give the press what it wanted. "hey wanted him to tell how he was going to maneuver around Vicksburg. Grant grumbled, "This life is too brief to be frittered away with explanations."

He had no time to waste. He had a war to win. Results is the name of the game and this is what God wants from Mis servants.

"hat "od does for faithful servants is pointed out in the 21st and 23rd verses, (read there). He rives rewards to those who show accountibility with their abilities.

(Illustration of Mapolean Will and book, "Now "o "ell Your way Through Life) Fr. Will says to play a good joke on your boss. He challenges them to get to work earlier, and work later than expected. They should habdle the baxs boases tools as if they were their own; work at being kind to fellow-emloyees; volunteer for extra work that needs to be done. Then he says, they shouldn't be surprised when they are offered the job of foreman or a partnership in the business. "This is the best pert of the joke," he says.

This is what Jesus would cell "coin the second mile.") .e are to take the jobs dod rives us and give "im back a return on Wid investment. And we need to remember that He will rive us rewards for what we do for Fim. Freene has said, "You don't get much for working for God in this world, but the retirement benefits are out of this owrld." and so they are. God expects a return on the inventment We has entrusted to us. Let is We actually metting?"

The Twuch has been waiting for almost 2000 years for the return of Thrist, for what is called, "The arousia" as it is interpreted from priorume, or "The acture" a it is not computed thet. Targa apprival the source of return, but more importantly He had explained this to His disciples after tx they had asked Him about it. In the 24th chapter verses 3 and 4 tell us, (read these). To then Jesus explained this to them in the 24th chapter and in the 25th chapter as well. We shared together the parable of the wise and foolish virgins and the parable of the giving of talents. These both give us pictures of the Second Coming of Jesus. To now we are reading the words of Jesus concerning His coming back to earth for the Second time.

MERNEXERGINE This is not an actual parable in the sense of relating something which is wrapped up in story form. Put it is a parable in the sense that it tells of Christ's second coming in sort of story form.

Jesus berins by saving, "Then the for of man shall come in Tis clory, and all the holy on els with wim, then shall Te sit upon the throne of Fis clory." 27:31.

Lerhaps a should relate the instable of "of as found in 'Cripture, up to this point. It a time which only fod knows, Jesus will sphear in the clouds of will repture, or take out of this world all living believers which take up is Murch. You and I are living in what is called "The ", urch '.e," or the " se of the "thiles." this "are" will come to ar end with the translation of all believer to beaven to be with the Ford. It that time foul tells us, the truppet of fod will sound an' those who were believers and who have died, their bodies will mirroulously be raised out of the mraves and will be taken in the air to be joined with their souls in heaven and then the living saints will be translated bodils from earth to heaven. Pollowing this according to "cripture, the Great "ribulation will take place. This will be a period of 7 years of turmaal and strife on earth such as there has never been before. All of the present unrest, the terrorism, fires, floods, earthquakes, wars and so on are leading us to that time when Christ will take His own from this earth before that Terrible time arrives. After the 7 years, Christ will return to earth at which time the Battle of Armareddon will be fought and Jesus Christ with all of Tis angels and those in heaven with Him will fight and win that battle. Then Jesus will set up His kingdom upon earth. Tis is what Te means by His sitting on the "throne of Tis mlory." This isn't Ge He is talting about, but Himself.

Then He says, "Ind before Tim shall be orthered all nations: and "e shall separate them one from another, as a shepherd divideth his sheep from his mosts." 25xx "And "e shall set the sheep on "is right hand, but the mosts on "is left." 25:32-33.

The "ill nations" before im, will be those winxixe Centiles who have been living saved;xconextex.wirixt, during the tribulation period, and have survived it. The separation will be to blace those who have accepted Tim as Lord and tavior during this period, from those who have rejected Tim. The sheep are the save , and the costs are the unsaved.

The criteria for reparation is tiven in verses 34-35, (read these). The this statement by decus will be met with "surprise" and they will say, (verses 37 throuth 3, read these). In tosus will onswer, (verse 40, read this). Ind along with this surprise will be the others and their separation as we read in veries 41-43, (read these . They in turn will ask, verse 14, (read). The shall a very verses 45-46,(read these). Terhaps we could liken the scorptance of what desur will do with the incident which took since after a nan took over the ownership of a cost mine:

Pan bounds a small coal mine XXXX and hired three men to work it for him. We told one man to di the coal, another man to rut it in a wheelbarrow and wheel it outside, and the thirs man who was Chinese he put in chore of supplies. Then he left, one the later he came back and found the one man showelin coal into the wheelbarrow, and XXX the other man who her is at a three e use and the men informed him that he went found its the rule and hel not recurred. That recent odd to him so he went in set of the thinsman. Went a ways into the mine and came to a turn and as he turned the corper, the Chinaman jurned out and welled, "prize."

"ell, while Josus was 'ellin in this incident was that when the separation too' place between the believer of undelivers is would be a separation of " coordial."

do sometime in the future. But the problem with this is that it may tend to lead us to while away our time in daydreaming and wishing for that day to come. But instead, I believe God wants us awake and alert to our own time our own age. Now although we must understand that this Scripture is speaking about the Second Coming of Christ, I would like to use it to point us in a certain direction. As we said once before, the word "Nations" as found in the 32nd verse applies to a people collectively. The Greek word is "Ethne" and and is used of Gentiles, or non-Jews. But it can also be used for individual Gentiles, individual people. I ould like us to use it for in reference to are the present day and are in which we live. Now if we do so, just what ix the implicitions in this pack of for us?

(I) instruction of lartic of Tours) That the is called the ordered sale' of Trace, 't. Lartin of Jours was a order soldier before he beed a a pork and a birlow. To while a soldier he become a Justian. (ne cold winter day he was showed by a be our beling for thus. I rtin saw that the better was shivering and freezin. From the cold. The didn't have any money, so he took of his soldier's cleak, more it in two and have the better one helf. That might he bed a dream. In that dream he saw beaven, and the angels and Jeaus anone them; and Jeaus was wearin half of a order soldier's cleak. The of the angels asked, "Laster, why are you wearing that battered old cleah?" 'n" yeaus answered, "Ty servant Forting may it to me."

This is what the load expects from "is followers, remardless of who they are, where they are, and to whomever they must minister. But is this type of action in keeping with the character of anyone? Invitaneouslaforxectoretation that would cause a man to say, "Ood, I pray Thee, light these idle sticks of my life and may I burn for Thee. Consume my life, my God, for it is Thine. I seek not a long life but a full one, like You, "ord Jesus." ???? A young man named Jim Elliott prayed that in 1949 as a centor in college and in just a few years at the are of 29 was killed by the savages in Houdor he and four others were seeking to lead to Obriet. That would cause a man to give his life for such a cause? The was called of fod. Tow when we speak of a person being called we almost always think of pastors or preachers. This is expected of them. But every person, no matter who he or she is should be, must be called of fod in order to live for fod. To what constitutes that call? It is three very definite things.

First, it is the realization that this life is more than just eating and sleep ing and holding down a job in order to retire. It is the realization that beyond this life there is an eternity awaiting us. And in that eternity we will either live with God, or live separated from God. And our acceptance of C'rist playes us in the group who will spend eternity with God. But until God xaikes calls us from this life, there must be something He wants us to do. That realization is the motive that constitutes the call from God. It is what gives life teaching and purpose. But look at the lives of there who do not know Brist. These people are coucht up in an endless pursuit of minimthings had possessions, and endless round of fun and games, and why? Lecause they fear death and wart to forget that it will one day come. Yead the back of your bulletin at lunch today for a vivid example of this. It tells of a man who had millions, but couldn't core with the thought of death. HY: Tecause he didn't brow "brist. Invone who brown Christ doesn' fear death because when he dies, the nex' person he will meet will be Jesus and that takes the four out of de the all list. "The is the motivation to live for Him which constitutes the call of fod and it is the desire to do scrething for 'od. "het's the first part of "od's call. "" is a burden, like correction a mecondy heavy stone around. . . hurden to do comething to show love for Tod. .econd, it is the intense desire that you have to do it, you have to serve. . and that preachers are expected to 'a "billed" of "cd. fut the truth of the retter is there are 'undreds, riterispationsands of gulnits in our notion being menned by minis ers who are not called of fod. They are in the job because it appealed to them as a root new to earn a living or some other reason. I any of these pulpits are heir fille' ty weren who should be foin comertian else. Last year, one third of the shalents of 1 coster, one of our sevinories, were women. Ley one there because of wo wath riting the remeal line, in the second s are not there because of the call of God. When I was in seminary, there were several women in my class. One of them, a girl named Carol was sent out on preaching assignments each week. Each week the seminary would receive a call telling them to never send her back. She was caught up in the activist movement and this is what she was preaching and the congregations wanted to hear the word of God. She was a fery mixed up young lady and the ministry was the means she saw as being fulfilled in life. The has since become a Roman Catholic nun and whether she has found her niche is known only to fod. But every preacher, every layman, should be in the position where they are because fod has called them there. - shouldn't be in our jobs because it was the most money, or has the most benefits, or our grandfather and for er worked there. Instead, we could be in that job because we've not to do thi job. Ind in that for then we have the organization to show others wesus firist.

hir', the call of 'od is that there is abcolutely nothing else you can do except that job you are doing. Weremish the prophet said that he canted to been quiet about for, but he couldn't. To could, "Then I said, I will not make mention of 'im, nor speak any more in Fis name. Tut His ord was in my mine heart as a burnin fire shut up in my bones, and I was weary thit forebearing or 'I could not stat." For 20:5

It was impossible for Jeremsih to do survision else but speck in the name of the lord. North Tuther stood before the members of the biet of Jorms and declared, "I can do no else, so help me od." This is the call that each of should have that wherever we are, wherever we work, wherever we live, we cannot do anything else but live for God as He directs. Our lives should be an influence and make a difference because we have lived and labored in a certair place. (Illustration of "There came a man.....", John Wesley) n in-lishman named Augustine Firrell tells of traveleing through what was a wild and wooly part of England. The people there had a reputation for being hard drinking, hard living, belligerant individuals. But when he visited that area he found them to be very subdued, kind, hospitable. In a conversation with a local miner he asked how this change had taken place. The miner tipping his hat very solemnly as a token of respect said, "There came a man amongst us once, and his name was John esley."

The life and tesitmony of one man had channed an entire community. This is exactly what desus was saying in this parable. We was pointing out that no matter where we live; no matter who we are; if we belong to the ford, there are people that need fed and clothed, need to be welcomed, need to be loved. In we do these things in the name of Jesus Crist because we are "Called" by him to do so.

cripture: Juke 12:16+11

Jesus had come from dinner with a librisee and was speaking to a large crowd which he and to follow "im after to left the "horizee's house. It to talls to the provintum of many that morele becan to trample one enother. The teaching was actually to The disciples about different matters, but the other people were not excluded from the eaching. In to it was that one of those listeners said to him as we read in the lath verse, "Laster, speak to momenter, that he divide the inhoritance with me."

It was not an unusual request, leasure people came to tabbis all the time astim then to settle disputes such as this. Tut peous didn't cont to have any part in this online e answers, "an, who made de a judge or divider over you!"

The base we seeking that the single base of the second second sector we have been coming to him from 1. forther's estate. There is the possibility that this man was consting, or desire that was not rightfully his because of the next remark which estat make. In the 15th verse we read, "and the said unto them." ince the cord "likes" is clurch we know that that Jesus was speaking to the man who asked the question, to the disciples that Jesus was speaking to the man who asked the question, to the disciples the balk been teaching, and to he man who asked the question, to the disciples that for all of them and "s and, "the balk and beware of coverousness: for a man's life consistent not in the significance of the first of the gasses-had everything that he needed for himself. His barns were probably bursting from the last year's crops and the crops of this year were even going to be greater. So he decided to make room for these crops by building bigger and better barns This he did and when he had accomplished all of this Jesus said of him, "And I will say of my soul, 'oul, thou hast much goods laid up for many years; take thine ease, eat, drink, and be merry."

John deed had sought to have all that life had to offer; to sample all of the things XMX of the world. But in doing so he discovered it had cost him his very soul to do them and buy them. This is a vivid illustration of the parable Jesus told. It is also interesting to note that in a book which is not included in the original canon of Scripture and is part of XMX what is wall d the 'pocrypha, we find a writing similar to what Jesus said. The book is called "Scclesiasticus" and was written by Jesus Ben Tirech, and is also known as the Lisdom of Jesus Fen Tirech. In this book, chapter 11:18-19 we read: "I man grows rich by his sharpness and grabbing, and here is the reward he receives for it: he says, 'I have found rest, and now I can enjoy my goods'; but he xiXixxxxi does not know how long this will lest; he will have to leave his moods for others and die."

This is what Jesus was trainer to impart and to net a deerer insight into this we must look at some of the wording used here. Hen Jesus talks of the man's soul Jesus uses the word "LUCHE" or "THE." This is only one part of the three which makeur a lunan being. Tau smeaks of body, "ome," soul "Pauche" and spirit "Incume." The suche, or invoke is the mind and merhres you have grasped the inflict word from it synchistry, on the stude of the mind. The man in the story, the farmer, smeats of his mind "suche," or mind. The was uning his mind to rule his life. To saw with his mind's eye that which was not and he desired it. This has always been the case as we can see by locking in the illustration of we in the farden. The "aw" the fruit of the tree that it was ack for food, or word to eat out a' elesired it. It is not we say that it is a see with our eye the our eye belo maphs that to the mind and we act uses that it is e the term in the start of the term index to the mind and we act uses the sine sine. In the sine separates we from Tod.

ut when desus smoke of "life" he didn't the "he minitial word for it. e said if we look at the le ter part of the lith verse, "I man's life," and the word there for life is "it is a line." In this is important. In Treek, there are two words for life. He is "life of the tree is "the and it is the simple word for life, any life. The life of the utterfly, a minul, annels, the life of man, the life of fod. Is speck of colors which is a study of animal life. It is the verw e sence of that life. Jecus was not referring to body clone, or of spirit alone, or of soul, or mind clone, he was speaking of the essential of life which is all of these combined. Hen we read in Cripture of "eternal life" this is the word that is used. Gesus was saying that the very essence of what makes a man, that "life" in the cannot be fel or bouch. the word of life, instead of living life to its fullest, his very soul was then from him. ... come in the question, " hose shall those things be which thou hast provided?"

It is left behind "or others to have and to take and use. Jesus said, "So is he that layeth up treasure for himself, and is appreciate sound sal."

But it doesn't need to be this way because God is always at work trying to bring all people to Himself.

(Illustration of end result of John Redd's life)

John Reed went to prison a broken and defeated man because of the harm he had done to himself, his family, and the cert inly the family of the beby he killed. While in prison he came to Christ. This didn't dissolve his problems, but it let him cope with them. He was released from prison he still faced a #6 million civil suit. He got a job as a car salesman. One night his wife picked him up after work and said they had to no to the local procer; store where they shopped to get a prescription. John didn't care for this be-cause he wisn't in the mood to go up and cown sisles shopping. To be informed cause he wan't in the mood to no up and down aisles shoppint. To be informed his wife he would see to it that hav only went to the frue section on' then left the store. It meant turning right when they entered the store and welk in right up to the frue courter. Then they entered the store, he turned left instead of right and what he hed here was to take them directly away from the prescription courter. This wife was trailing behind and he hered her cay, th, John, look at this knowly knowly beautiful baby!" "Is stoned on they were both admining a beautiful light bein contried process strile be its nother. Then he heard both words may and he looked at the mother for the first time. It was the mother of the beby he had killed. "Is he seen her before this, he would have ducked up one of the aisles to get away from her, but he couldn't do that now. But this woman reached out and took his hand and said, "John, the forgiven you." And there they were, all three of them holding on to each other and hugging and crying in the produce section of them holding on to each other and hugging and crying in the produce section of that store. John learned in a few days after that that the father had forgive his also. The civil suit came to trial, but was settled out of court before it ever not started.

Jesus is in the business of healing all kinds of lives and this is just anothe example of His healing power. Even in the midst of life's darkest moments, He can bring about what is impossible in any other way.

(J'lustration of university student asking kids about Jesus)

Jesus does "lings that are unexpected if we let "im. "e doesn't want us to live just for this life. To know, we have needs and a knows what to to about them. But le doesn't want us to live for things or possessions, or more and more of fun the mlecture. "e knows we have those whee's and "e will bless then. lut a mother up to letin living for "im, now, today, and "e will take our worries, our cares, our concerns and "e will chan a them into provlems all solved because le monts to love us.

We wants us to know, ", men's life, (his de), his eseential being what moves his really tick, consister not in the abundance of the lin a which he possesseth," but his life should consist in held rich toward fod.

Juke 18:1-14

(Julustration of Fappy Reveal, and "Where's The Other Minety?") Xxppy A man named Happy Peveal was the director of the Evansville Indiana Rescue Mission. He was crippled from an accident and had braces on his lers and canes in his hands. He was a man committed to deep, sincere prayer. One day the rescue mission was in debt for $100 dollars with no money in sight to pay the bill. So Fappy called the staff together for prayer. Since he could not kneel he stood, while the rest of the staff knelt. As he prayed he rocked to and fro with his hands behind his back. And while he was praying his fingers were opening and closing. A friend passing the open door of the mission looked in and saw the prayer group with Pappy leading the prayers, with his back to the door. Thinking he would have a little fun, the friend tiptoed in and slipped a crisp ten dollar bill between Fappy's fingers. Without pausing, Tappy brought the bill to the front and looked with his eyes and said, "Thank You, Lord, now where's the other ninety?" The teasing friend felt a compulsion to join them in prayer whick he did. Very shortly they were done praying and the mailes arrived with a stack of letters. In one of those letters was a check for ninety dollars.

In the eyes of the world happenings such as this are a coincidence. But to those of faith it shows once again God's mysterious providence for those who persistently dome to Fim for everything. Thillips Trooks said, "I prayer in its simplest form definition, is merely a wish turned heavenward." In the two perables of our cripture Jesus is teaching about prayer. I think we need to look at the second parable first and the first parable second. In this way we can see first the proper attitude of prayer and then see an example of persistence.

To understand the motives of Jesus at this point we need to look at the 9th verse. We gets the scene by saving, "And Te spake this parable unto certain which trusted in themselves that they were minimeous and despised others." The were those who "Certain who trusted in themseelves?" They were minime the Jewish religious leaders commonly known as Therisees. And to point this out Jesus werks rives an illustration shout one of them. We read in the 10th verse, "Two men went up into the temple to pray; the one a Pharisee, and the other a publican."

Here are the two extremes. The charisee was a super Jew as far as the law was conterned. while the Tublican was in all probability an excommunicated Jew. These Jews were likeling that has to pllect taxes and in elmost all cases they cheated and swindled to collect whatever the traffic would bear. Now that Jesus has identified the two prayers in the temple He berins to tell how and what they prayed. "The Dharisee stood and prayed thus with himself, 'God, I thank Thee, that I am not as other men are, extortioners, unjust, adulterers, or even as this Tublican. I fast twic in the week, I give tithes of all that I possess."

Jesus points out that this man didn't pray to God, he prayed instead, to hipsel?. This Marisee was actually giving himself a testimonial before God. Forst, he says that he isn't like other men, and he names their faults and sins and points his finger at the Publican as though he was guilty of all of L' se sins. "hen the Pharisee reminds God that he fasts twice a week which on the surface is commendable. "To Jowish law set forth only one obligatory fast, and that was on the Day of Atonement. But in order to be seen by men and to be thought of as holy many of the religious leaders so: "order face twice a week. "The "the religious leaders so: "order face twice a week. "The "the religious haders when Jerusalem was filled with people. Now these people didn't just fast but they whitened their faces and appeared in public with the white faces and dishevelled clothes so that any and all who saw them could say, "Look, that Fharisee is fasting." There is a recorded prayer by Rabbi Simeon Ben Jochai which says, "If there are only two righteous men in the world, I and my son are these two; if there is only one, I am he!"

So we can see that the Pharisee diln't really so to pray, he went to tell God how good he was.

Then Jesus said, "The publican standing afer off, would not lift up so much as his eyes unto heave", but smote upon his breast, saying, God, be merciful to me a cinner.'"

And then Jesus saws of him, "J tell you, this man went down to his house justified rather than the other: for everyone that exalteth himself shall be abased; and he that humbleth himself shall be exalted."

Jesus is seving that our attitude about prayer needs to be one of burility. Le must come to bod in simple trust. Ind in one place of cripture Jerus said that except we become as littl children we cannot enter the kinder of heaven." Ind where else do we nee simplicity, but in little children? Here are some prayes of children - (Filustrations of these)

Fon't you think that God must smile and even leach a little to have such boneety in prayer? I do! I believe that children must oute often make God's day because they are uninhibited and unretentious. The don't need to tell God how wonderful we are because We already knows all about us. That We wants instead, is humility from us as we make our desires known to Wim.

"hen we have a mood example of prayer and Jesus begins this example with the words, As luke tells us, "Ind We spake a parbale unto them to this end, that men ourbt always to pray, and faint not."

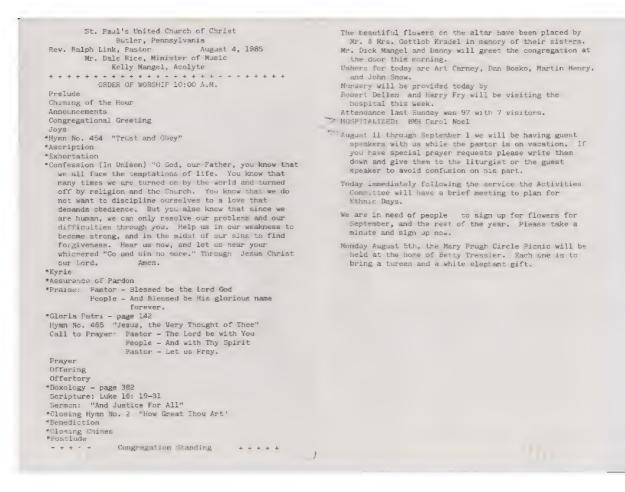

Then follows the parable, "There was in a city a judge, which feared not God, neither regarded manP and there was a widow in that city; and she came unto the him, saying, 'Venge me of mine adversary.' And he would not for a while but afterward he said within himself, 'Though I fear not God, nor regard man; yet because this widow troubleth me, I will avenge her, lest by her continual coming she weary me."

In must understand that the judge in this instance is not an example of God. Here is a judge who is not religious, neither is he a humanitarian. He just seeks to do his job. The wiodw was wronged in someway and so she keeps coming to the judge to have her case settled. The judge acts not because of the insistence of the widow actually, but because he is afraid not to act.

The judge is afraid as he cays, "Jest by her continal coming she weary me." "hat is literally being said is, "Lest she give me a black eye." The judge is afraid of the woman doing him physical violence. "herefore, the widow is not an example of how we should come to find and demand of Nim. That we are seeing is a set of contrasts. First, there is a man in authority who acts because of the persistence of someone who finally scares him. Tecond, there is a woman who asks again and again to the point where she appears as a threat to the judge. To Jesus ends the example with the words, "And shall not fod a ende Wis own elect, which cry might and day unto Wim, though We bear long with them?"

In other words, if a human judge, a worldly map at that will finally give the help requested from a maxik worldly woman, won't God do likewise for His children? And the answer is, "Ves, of course Te will." God doesn't want us to bes and bes, or nas Him about what we want. Jesus days, "Your heavenly Father broweth what you have need of before you ask." But Tod does want us to ask and then We will rive us the good things out of the won good pleasure. The real recret of what Jesus was trying to impart to these meetle is found in the lat warve of this cripture. Te said, "That men ought always to pray, and not feint."

The word "outht" means a compulsion, a desire to do this shows all else. "To faint," means to mive up, to stop previne because as some encoreously believe, God does not hear or is not listening. But dod is always listening. (Thus which of Tr. Drimp being prayed for and seved from plane crash.) nother coincidence? You're welcome to think so if you like, but J believe that the people at the Gideon head warters, people within the organization are beld up to Tol in providence? Yoy. These people are persistent and "Jersistence Tays."

"ind Justice for 111"

cripture: Tube 15:10-31

(ne of the more popular slowans of today has become, "You deserve a break today." "Parles Bray writing about this in note manazine in January of 1981 soil this: "Te have come to the a time where we say, "You deserve a break today." Too many of us believe that. If we're noor, we deserve welfare; if we're rich, we deserve a tax break; if we are workers, we deserve better fringe henefits; if we own Chrysler, we deserve a bail-out; if we are a .j-citl interest, we deserve a special hearint."

In other words, we have come to the place where most of us believe we should not only have what we have, but we should have more besides. The closing line of our pledge of alleriance to the American flag states, "With liberty and justice for all." It is a wish, but unfortunetaly, it will ever remain wishful thinking. ', talk and think about justice as meted out by man. Landit Tharak Singh an old man in India was asked about the death of Christ for man and the justice involved in that deed. He answered:

for man and the justice involved in that deed. He answered: "Cur ideas of the justice of God, or of justice for all, we very crude and and imperfect. For example: a man steals 20 rupees and s end it. He is caught and punished as a thief. But the stolen money is not restored to the man from whom it was stolen-justice is not done for his; and the thief suffers for his crime. This is man's justice - loss and pain. Or suppose a man kills three children. He should be hanged three times that strict justice may be done. The children are not restored to lifejustice is not done to them. Neither are they restored to their parents or to the community. The man who killed them is put to death, and thus man's justice again is resolved into loss and pain!"

As we ponder words such as these we come to the realization that as someone once said, "There just ain't no justice." All around us we see injustices EXXAUXE in every segment of society. There are those who have more money and material goods than they could possibly use in two lifetimes, while many others barely have enough to keen body and soul torether from one day to the next.

The parable we are locking at this morning deals with just this condition. It has been pointed out that there are two groups of people to whom Jesus was relating this incident. First, there were the Thanksees and it isn't herd to hull the case that Jesus was tolking directly to them and all we need do is look at the preceding verses. To it is a very mood probability that he was speaking directly to the Thanksees. Tut, since the xingx incident deals with life beyond the grave, it is possible that Jesus was directing Wis remarks to the Tedducees who didn't believe in a life 'remore this one. In fact, they didn't believe in angels, or spirits, or anything beyond this life and that was what made them "sed", you see.

Eut I believe Jesus was relating thi incident to any and all who had ears to hear. Jesus begins by stating, "There was a certain rich man, which was clothed in nurple and fine liner, and fared sumptuously every day."

vs 19

It is evident by the description of this man's clothing that he was very wealthy. .urple and fine linen were the materials kines and royalty wore. To this man must have been in a high position.

Then Jesus adda, "And there was a certain beggar named Lazarus, which was laid at his mate, full of sores."

Bo you see what makes this parable different from all the rest that Jesus told? If you haven't spotted it vet, the certain bermar is given a name. Now first of all, in all the other parables Jesus never named any of the people in the parables. It was always, "A certain man, or a certain widow," and so on. But in this parable, Jesus gives the bermar a name. And because of this, most Biblical scholars believe that this is not just a story, but an actual incident which Jesus is relating. The name Lazarus means, "God helps." This is also an indication that this man Tazarus was considered above the rich man. The rich man may have had wealth and power and influence, but he was not named by Jesus. You may have heard the rich man riven the names of Dives, and that name comes from the Latin word for rich. But in this incident he doesn't have an identity other than, "A certain rich man."

Then Jesus tells how "ezerus was soucht to eat the crumbs which fell from the rich man'setable, and the doss hune around him and licked his sores. Reople who were wealthy could afford the luxury of having an abundance of bread. A must memember there were no krives and forks and food was eaten with the hands. In the course of the meal the hands would become sticky or measy and bread was brockn by the rich on which ther wired their bands. This bread was then thrown to the dors who were in abundance in the streets. A it was that lazaru had to literally fight the form for this bread.

When Jesus saws, "ind it came to mass, that the become died, and was carried by the ancels into "braham's bosom." vs lla.

The term, "'braham's bosom," meant maradise. Intil the resurrection and accension of fesus, the place of the dead was called, " beel" in "ebrew, and "Lades" in freek. "" contained two places. One was the place where these who belonded to the ford went to, and the other was the place where these who belonded to the ford went to when them died. Indige can see the example of this as we finish the 22bb verse and read the 25bb verse as well, "..." The place to which fazerus wert was faredise, and the place where the rich man wert was fell or falses. In we see first of all that there is a life beyond the mave, and there is a place of reportion of those who are the forl's in those who are not. The theological belief is that when Jesus ascended "E took the place called paradime and made it what is now called the third heaven which faul croke of seeing in his vision. Ind Tales, or ell, i not the final fell which will be at the final independent. It is merely where the unbalieving dead to to avoit the daws of the top!. This merely where the unbalieving dead to to avoit the final beaven which will be, but the clace of the believin: dead.

When we see the difference between the two places as Jesus explained, read verses 23 and 24. The place of the unbelieving dead is a place of torment. Jesus then explains, read verses 25 and 25. The two places are separated and the people in one cannol cross over to the other. Fur thraham points out that the roles are now reversed. There once the rich man had exampthing his way and could overlook people like Lezarus, now the Jezarus was in the position of being a relect person.

Then we read, read verses 27 through 41. Tene we see there is a serve of remembering life on earth. The rich man could not see his celfish life and was aware that his Trothers were living the excel same lives. But throham cells him that they wouldn't believe even if someone came buck from the crave, desus was living proof of the statement. The jewich leaders didn't believe tim while Te was minimum in the trother to the orders didn't believe arave, they still didn't believe it.

Now from all of this we learn that there will at one time be "-ustice for "11." But for many meanle is will not be a justice they will enjoy. This will be a time when all of the injustices of this life are set aright. All of those who man not charbed over their fellowman will find themselves taking a place in the house of torment; all of these who have others by wealth, or fame and fortune, will be taking backseats to the ones they lorded it over. But the sad commentary of all of this incident is the fact that the rich man knew better. By his very recognition of Abraham as seen from his place in Hades, tells us that this man knew about God. But he chose to ignore all of that.

The Indian we quoted speaking about justice concluded his remarks by saying: But God's justice is different. It results in gain and joy! Lost souls are found, losses are made mood, happiness takes the place of misery, and all because the Gon of God gave Himmelf a willing sacrifice to save men and restore them to God."

God isn't content that anyone chould perish in hell and so He gave man the opportunity to live eternally with "im through Jesus Christ. Tan need not come to death and most the justice of Tod there. We can be justified before hellow before he deperts this life. That is the measure of Jesus Christ; that is the Gospel we chould hear and partake of. Is we live this life we will always set injustices either to ourselves or our loved ones. The we must remember they are only temporary afflicitons and will be overcome in eternity. Teeling this way, the mostle faul could write in 2 ° r. 4:8-10, read these. The then faul could state firmly and with conviction, wes 17-18, (read these). Teling this loved up with an everlastion love and one day Te will must "Justice Tom 411." To some the curprise of all eternity to be senarated from Tod, and to others, the joy of living eternally with Tim.

on the evening of the second day of the General 'wood of the Mnite' Thurch of Christ in June of this year, a feminist theologian lizabeth . Wiorenza spoke to the the delevates and this is a nortion of what we said:

The explicit decus traditions perceived the " of of gracious condness in a workn's form as divine wisdow." Lis hod, recornizes all "sealiter on her clildren and she is proven right by all of them.

The apprival at the feripinet view cirt by lothing a luke 7:35 which same, "The window is fustified baxaxit of all her children." In the word for wisdom in Treek is only, which is a woman' name. It the not cold words to claim had as female, she wants to claim the test's of Jesur was not the stonement had interclaim for morehing. The same:

Here is a cod example of what is taking place in our society today. We have a XXXXXXXXXXXXXXXX great deal said shout relivited in many areas of sociely, such as hip-pollution, environmental-pollution, union-will hips, or or it. The theory of the which is silently entire amplet our society in the pollution. (ne way is which this is takin place is in the motor of locfrire. Let unfortunately, because not many entire high factions must be concluded intellectual or which is around entire, it is too stiff and form-el to le telke shout. In fact, many reuple do not even 'now what we are talking shour when we mention the word " actrine." I 'on't know how true it is, but supposedly the question was taked amony a macuy of recople, " but is octine." of the answer one man mave was, "Tan't he a famous forerin doctor? "Loctrine" is the basic, fundemental things we believe, or should believe. Fut if we don't know what we believe, then we have no Docrine.

. John inclution where a start the start a prescher who presches very doctrinally, was asked by a book company to prepare a start of the commentary Testament book of Romans. The only stipulation was, "We prefer the commentary not be doctrinal." He refused. And rightly so. How could anyone possibly write on the book of Romans and not write doctrinally? The entire book $$ filled with doctrine.

The Apostle Faul probably nearing the end of his life, wrote to his very good young friend and companion Timothy at Ephesus. The Paul had founded introduced Christianity to that wity and now there were probably thousands of converts there meeting in many, many homes. There were literally hundreds of pastors, most of them common ordinary men and they were leading these little individual confregations scattered throughout the city. It becomes very clear in reading this first letter to Thmothy that problems had arisen in within the confregations in Theses. Took at chapter 1, reading from verse 2, throug verse 7, (read these). e can readily see that false teaching had crept in and was tearing at the very roots of the foundation which had been laid.

Full lnew that the church would always be under stack only therefore it was in enstive that the leaders had a strong foundation is the faith. Is time nowed on and one are succeeded another, bull was also sware that the rhurch bunch Doctrines, or beliefs were the thinds which would be undermined. This is why he told Timothy as we need in charter 4;1-3, (need these). These levelists were teaching on increlevanties, and inconsequential issues. By doing this they were divertiant the stantion from major thinds and cauding the church to dwell on minors. Thatend of arguing about who should or should not marry, or what the proper Drintian diet is, and tells 'imothy, verses 4-5 (R⁻¹), and then he advises were 6, (M⁻¹⁰). Winothy will be a mood minister if he reminds the morphs of the basics of the faith; feeds them the words of faith, as well as giving them MCD CONTRINE. In other words, he is to enlighten them to the truth. This is somewhat like a man named Tom who worked in a certain company which was in the process of switching over to a new group insurance policy. Fut every employee had to sign up for it, or the insurance company would not issue the policy. Tome refused to sign. The foreman begred with him, but it was no use. The general manager and the plant superintendent begged him, but Tom would not sign. Finally, the owner of the company sum oned Tom to his office. We said, "Jook, you idiot, unless you sign up I'll fire you. All your fellow workers want this insurance and you either sign up now, or you're out in the street." Tom grabbed the pen and signed immediately. "Low," said the owner, " by didn't you sign this thirg before when the other men asked you?" ""ecause,' replied Tom, "Lobody explained it as clearly as you did."

In order for us to understand what we believe, we must know what we believe. It must be clear to us and this is what loul is telling Timothy in this 5th verse. "Of rood doctrine, whereunto thou hast stained." The same teachings that "imothy has received, he is to pass them on to others. Paul emphasizes this further in the 15th verse by saying, "Take heed unto thyself, and unto the doctrine; continue in them: for in doing this thou shalt both save thyself, and them that thee."

The message is to be clear and concise. It must be understool thich makes it imperative that what we teach is not couched in Theological junction which noises it is possible in the second of a new song which is supposedly to be sume by all of the world to make the world what it should be. The sone is entitled, "le the The orld." To begin with, we must ask, "who is the author of this sone" ind the snawer is, lichael Jackson. In who is lichaed Jackson to is a dedicate' Jebovah's "itness. This man writing a cond which calls for all of our alleriances to everyone in the world, is dedicated to not pladmin alleriance to the flar of the country the lies made him a millionaire. That of the first verse says: "There comes a time when we held a the the world must come together at one."

The Tible tells us that in the latter days there will come forth a smeat noveter toward the world; one world movernment, and one world leader, the inti-Christ.

mother montion of the converge: " is are all a mart of God's whent him family and the truth, you know, love is all we need."

In that true, that evenyone in the world is a cert of the family of fod No it isn't! The truth is, that unless one is born spinitually into the family of fod hy accentize Jeaus "wrist as ord and "viour, that repson is not a child of fod. That deern't mean be tanks wasn't created by fod. It just means that well that colutionally that there, but the family for didn't want it that well that is how man has charged what fod writed. And is "Love all that we need" to change the world? To, it will take the love of fod shed into every heart, hearing the Sospel and accepting the calvation fod so freely offers to change the world and nothing short of that will do it. The song also says: " and them your heigt to they'll know that someone cares and their lives will be stronger and free.

and their lives will be stronger and free. 13 fod has shown us by turning stone into bread, one all rust lend a helpin in 18."

There is the humanistic philosophy that each day we will get better and better by cur nore 'upon efforts. 'nd did God turn stone to bread'. Ho! The devil told Jesus to turn the tops to 'will' ing "is torbition. Had Jesus done that, He would have been acknowledging Satan as God and He would have been worshiping him instead of God.

"We are the world," identifies them as being of the world and not of God. Jesus said we were either for Him or against Him, we can't be both. It's either the world, or God.

"We are the children," that may be true, but children of whom? Of God? Or of Satan?

"We are saving our own lives." Can we save ourselves? No! There is no salvation in any other name than Jesus Christ.

"W_ make better days." Can we make anything? Jesus said, "without Ne ye can do nothing."

I think we can see by this that we must wake up to what it is we believe. If we are singing this song, a need to stop and instead begin singing "'mazi g "race, how sweet the sound that cave? a wretch like me." a need to wake up and begin looking for the hidden meanings that our humanistic, uncodly sociely is quietly and secretly imposing on us.

"hat's the unliest don I've ever seen. Het kind is it! Look at that yellow b aly eyed, low mosed, short-leaved wily dor. I'll tell you what I'm going to do. If you don't join my game by tomorrow micht, I'm moint to have my dog short-tailed dog of yours. You be here tomorrow micht or else." The boy answered, "I'll be here, but I don't think I can join your cang. It just isn't right." The next might the boy and his pet were at the school yard. Here came the gamp down the street and it looked like all of them were hold-ing the chain on a huge german shepherd dog. Tiller was pulling them along ing the chain on a huge german shepherd dog. Willer was pulling them along and they stopped him as they were near the boy and his pet. The leader a ked, "Are you going to join my many or do I turn Killer loose on your usly dog?" The boy answered, "I can't join your many, it isn't right." The many leader released the chain on Killer and said, "Go get him Killer." Filler circled around a couple times and then he jumped in on the boy's net. In the middle of Willer's leap the boy's pet orened the largest mouth filled with teeth the gang had ever seen and in one bite killed Willer. The many waxxxxxxx and their many leader was shocked, horrified, they were speechless. "inally, the gang leader turned to the boy and said, " hat kind of dog is that usly yellow, besty-eyed, short-tailed, long-nosed, short-leaged thing anyway?" " ell," the boy replied, "before we cut off his tail and painted him vellow, he was an allimator." ing the chain on a huge german shepherd dog. Filler was pulling them along "ell, he was an allimator.'

I think this is the truth we need to see in real lifeI Looks many times are . deceiving. " may not always see the true picture. "werefore we must dig beneath the surface to set ut the truth. I mood example of this is to be found in the 16th verse of the Ard chapter of this letter. Taul snells it out in this way:" and without controversy meet is the mystery of Red." hat is that mystery? "Red was manifest in the flesh." "avl is saying that God "as men in the "lesb. Tow? In the person of Jesus Shris ! "e was, "Justified in the "mirit." Scripture: 2 Chronicles 20:1-13

everal years a o there was a norular sore entitles, " hat's It 'll bout?" It asked this searching question of a person named "'Irbie." ind the first line was, ""hat's It 'll 'bout, 'lohie"" It spoke of the questions of life and their meaning. For each of us there are many questions about life and in particular, questions about what we believe. Is there meaning and purpose for these lives we are living?

(Illustration of 'ldous Huxley, English author) Huxley was almost blind but yet wrote many novels. In his book, "Ends and Means," he says something that every agnostic will find worth contemplating. He writes: I had motives for not wanting the world to have a meaning; consequently assumed that it had none, and was able without any difficulty to find satisfying reasons for this assumtion. No t ignorance is vincible will that decides how and upon what subjects we shall use our intelligence. Those who detect no meaning in the world genereally do so because, for one nerrow or soul meaningless We objects to the morality because it interfered with our sexual freedom.

In this short essay we can see the basic hindrance to many people having any type of belief, and that is, it may interfere with whatever freedom they are following. Perhaps much of this freedom is somewhat expressed in the story of two women involved in a conversation. The one said to the other, "Sue has suffered much for her belief." The other rirl asked, "Is that so? What is her belief?" And the first sirl replied, "That she is able to wear a size five shoe on a number seven foot."

' mistaken belief of course! 'nd life is made up of things we believe. For those who have no spiritual beliefs life may well be a complete mystory and those people markably to through the motions of living. But even for those gio do have a spiritual foundation of some opt, life atill olds many questions. This is why as we moisted out last week we must know what it is we stand on and just what it is we believe. Ill of this comes unlar the beading of " octrine" as we also said. e will be looking at these doctrines as time roes on and I trust that we will have an understanding about doctrine. .oday, we are looking at the very be inning of "loctrine" and that is, just what it it all shout? That is the first incredient we need in our lives? Te answer lies within our cripture for this morning.

Jehoshorint was on the throne of Judob. He had succeeded his fother sa as Fire. is before him was a cood kint and so was Jehoshaphat. Our cripture takes place in approximately the year 896 '.C. 't this time Jehoshephat was in the 19th year of his 25 year reign in Judah. Jehoshaphat was a very religious and codly king. He had instituted a system whereby the public was given religious instruction. Heapriests and levites on regular circuits throughout the kingdom to teach the people the "book of the law."

Now in cripture, what we call "Poctrine" is called, "The Paith." o the very first this, we must have is "Faith." And in order to do so we must analyse faith, and to do so will require that we look at the six things which make up faith. Today we will look at three of them and next week we will look at the other three.

The first thing about faith is that it must be "Doctrinal Faith." People ask many times, or complain that they don't have enough faith and they would like to have more. In fact, many people pray to God, "Give me more faith." But we don't get faith that way. The first way to have faith is to have "Doctrinal Faith." And how do we get that? Faul sums this up rather nicely in his letter to the Romans. In the 10th chapter, verse 17 we read, "So then faith cometh by hearing, and hearing by the ord of Gol."

If we want faith, or more faith than we already have, we must not into the ord of fod. For I know there are those who dislike hearing this because they don't want to the time to read fod's ford; or some meanly use the excuse of not having time, or not being able to read, or not liking to read. Fut the truth of the matter is, that od has provided us with his ford and if we make the effort to read it regularly, fod will bless those efforts by increasing our knowled e of fin, and by giving us more faith as we read. In the lew festament faith and Doctrine are used interchangeably. For faith has the an article preceding it as in "the faith," it means, "the statement of faith. To have correct faith we must have an accurate statement of what we believe.

(Illustration of lady complimented on her meat faith) lady of strong fetch was complimented about her "great" faith. "he responded by saying, "T have a little faith in a great fod."

He can only get to know this Great God by understanding His Word and it is from His Word that we will have a statement of faith, or just what it is we actually believe.

The second thing about faith is it must be a "aving Faith." ", can have all sorts of faiths about a lot of things. But when we are talking about faith in God it can only be a "saving faith" as provided by Him. In Ephesians 2:8 haul writes, "For by Trace are ye saved through faith." God provided His Trace, or His free gift which is what Trace means, through Jesus' death on the cross. That death bought for anyone who accepts it, alvation. But look what haul adds to this: "Ind that not of wourselves: it is the gift of Pod." what haul adds to this: "Ind that not of wourselves: it is the gift of Pod." we cannot save ourselves. I can only be saved through Jesus Christ. Ind we must read the next verse as well to completely understand this. "Fot of works lest is man should boast." That means it doesn't come about by working for it. The amount of time we may spend in a confirmation serving the Ford in ushering, single in the choir, serving on boards or committeess has nothing to do with salvation. It is merely theought the acceptance of Christ that we receive salvation and that hat comes about by faith alone. Is come to the place where I are, "I believe in Jesus "hrist," and that i "Sevine Faith." "We third thin about faith is it is a "Justifying Paith." Now here is where our faits actually cores into law because we know that all how sinned and come short of the whorm of "od. That means there is not one person who ever came into this world, (other than Jesus Erist), who entered this world without sin. Treatle, and struple with this as we may, we are horn sinners and we will die unjustified sinners unless we come to "mist. Ind when we do come to salvation through Arist we can say, "J am justified", "or,"I am made right with God. and this mighteourness, or this being made "dust" with God only is possible because Jesus pair the price for our sins. Ind once arish and iells this in "alstiens 2:20, (read this). The word "For" of the end of the verse sums it all un. Jesus died "for" may be died "for" ovu; "e died" for" everyone, and that makes anyone "Just" or "Justified" when where for for who come to 'im.

(Jllustr tion of 'm. obertson and wriest on "main and ' ord of 'ed") his in escence is what "faith is. " hat's It 11 cont"" It is faith which we approache learn of through "od's ord; iixis and "his is where we form our "Doctrine" of faith; it is faith which we can only have through the salvation boucht and given through Jesus Christ; and this is "faving Jeith'; and it is flith which makes us right before God, our bein Just, or Justified and this comes through Jesus' pacrifice on our behalf. He had a large standing army which is numbered in the 17th chapter of this book and relates that army as being consisting of b million, 260 thousand men. But the Nosbites, the Ammorites, and the Momites came to do battle arainst Judah. Jehoshaphat was advised that these foreign armies were coming against them and we read in the 3rd verse, "ind Jehoshaphat feared, and set himself to seek the Lord, and proclaimed a fast throughout all Judah."

The very first thing that "choshaphat did was to seek the lord. " don't read that he was absolutely unafraid. Instead, we need ?" feared," but alon with that fear he went to the only source which could help him at this time. If he had make well over a million troops, you can well impaire that . oab, 'mmon, and form had as large a force, or even 'arger.

Fut notice also as we read in verse 4 what happens. "Ind Judah gathered themselves together, to ask help of the Ford: even out of all the cities of Judah hey came to seek the Ford."

This tells us that Jehoshaphet had done his job well as their king. Not only was he the leader tecking God's direction, but his people were following his leading. He hid tought ther rightly and well and they were doing the thing which reeded to take precedence over all else, ind that was, to neek fod at this time.

The kinn and the people are assembled in the Temple and we read, XEXXEX that Jeroshaphat prayed, verses 5 7, (read these). Te is recalling the past deeds which for had renformed for his people.

"hen we read in verses ? " ? that he recells the building of this marnificent structure is which to worship "nd and how when they had a need they were to come here and seek od's help.

In verse 10 the king overks to "of concerning the past history in which fod did not permit the Israelites to destroy these people when they passed their land on the way out of a ppt.

ind in the 11th 10th verses we xxxxxxx read the urgent request of the king for God's help.

Lut at the very end of the 12th verse we read of the secret which will rive them the victory. Jebes'aphat press: ""ut out eyes are upon Thee." Two in the midst of these directoretances, Judeb had their eyes upon the hey fod. It wan't in their own strength or might they were trusting. It was in God. In the speed of that i found in the 13th verse, and AIL Judah stood before the ford, with their little ones, their wives, and their children." It was not just some of them; or part of them; or a few of them; it was 'II of them. The bing and the people may well have stood around shrucking their shoulders and asking each other, "What's It 'II bout?" "That does all of this mean?" Instead, they didn't trut is the their army; they fidn't trust in their own strength; they trusted in God. Ind what do we call this type of trust? It is called "TITH."

he author of debrews writes in the 11th chapter versel, " or faith is the substance of things house for, the evidence of things not seen." will simply be is serier that faith is believing that conthing can happen, or be cone when the evidence contradicts that belief. The believer says, "I believe that hod can do the impossible." The unbelieving ask, "Do you really believe God can work miracles" and in the eyes of the world, our fermon titl this morning is a play on words. The xonths unbelievers of the world would tell us that to believe God can do things which we cannot explain or which lack definite proof is to exercise "LORON Taith." The faith of a believer is looked upor as having the mentality of someone who is mentally deficient. Lut this morning we are not coing to look at "long on Taith." Last week we had looked at three of the elements of faith which were, "Doctrinel Faith, favin faith, and Justifairs with."

first of these is what is called, "Indwelling "with" "ork records that Jesus was on in way to the lemple and te parsed a fin tree on wince it film't have firs on it, 'e spoke a curse to it and then went on. Later, the next morning they came to the 'ree and it had withcred and died. The disciples didn't understamm whis the power of field, and leter asked Jesus how this was possible. This is recorded in the 11th chapter of Fark, and in the find werse we read: "...d Jesus answering soith unto them, "Tave faith in od..."

Here again is a verse that has lost comething in its translation. Although this is the literal translation from Tree's, because of its context an what desus was trying to trach, it could be translated, "Here the faith of God." In other words, desus was train to tell "is followers that this tape of really a possible with score who he followers that this tape of is wix is close comparished of het followers that the manage who is not allower is not our faith, but foll faith within them. The more that is is close comparished our faith, but foll faith within us. Is the fill as most one of the foundational truths which that's faith is referring to Fod's faith, not men's faith. Indwelling faith is someone else's faith at work for us. faiths of the law, but by the faith of Jesus Christ."

The faith of dous Thrist must be planted in our hearts and this is inivelling fright. Some save that apart from Tim we can do nothing and so He is telling us that we must have Tis indwelling in order to accomplish anything. This is the "Indwelling Faith" which we need in order to exercise faith.

 the ford of Jod. This is very vital but along with reading and knowing the word of fod there must be a seeking of the Lord. Not too many people are involved in trult seeling the Ford is that should. The problem we have is that the are in which we live does so many thinks for us instantly. To have all some of the second control to near in a matter of minutes wexxilixies it is ready to eat; we push a button and we can be transported to a foreign country via sacellie vireout isani a well i. All of usxkaxxa this has made us lazy to the extent that we want all of our information fed to us without any effort. There are those who get all of their knowledge of God through attending seminar after seminar and hearing what Dr. somebody or other has to say about God; there are those who listen or watch program after program of Biblical preachers and hear what they have to say about the Bible and God. These actions are not wrong in themselves but they have a te dency to make people spiritually lazy. It is much easier to absorb what someone else thinks or tells us alout a certain subject. But the real value is to glean that information for ourselves by seeking God's answers direct from Mim.

Tus seeling follelse involves a self-searching of our lives substitution if we have laid everything on follo alter. In the bld bettement the wright half the scorifice on the alter for the people. But is the lew testament, the cross of desus became the alter for the people. But is the lew testament, the cross of desus became the alter for the people. But is the lew testament, the cross of desus became the alter for the people. But is the lew testament, the cross of desus became the alter for the people. But is not have the for us all the for us. Instead, it is each of us individually begins our very scale to fold throw is the blood of Burist. Have I done this, or am I doin this and letting fod take over in my heart to indwell me with Fis daith. Is desus Arist in control of my life and living in met. This is what "Deily faith is all alout. In this is what all was writing about in xtillxxneithervetxmentxcfxithxixxwaakxwexcesidxcmittxfitexcfxfxithxix konxwexdexfxxxsftamxtkixkxefxithxixxwaakxwexcesidxcmittx the lat verye of our cripture this morning. (Read this). (un reasonable carvice is our daily living and our exercising of "Daily faith." "till another element of faith is what we could call, "The mift of faith." It don't often think of faith as being a fift. Each person who comes to Christ does so in an act of faith. This is not a mift in itself. Christ Wirself is the mift fod gives to us and we can only appropriate Him as our Caviour by faith. For then, what is faul trying to tell us in this for inpure for this morning? In the 6th verse we read, "Saving then wifts differing according to the proportion of faith."

The word "prophecy" here is used for preaching. It is from this verse that some say that faith is like the other mift from God and is just that - a mift and can only be received that way. I happen to believe that each person who comes to the Lord has faith from that point on. But some have more faith and more have less. To why the difference if we all have faith? It is simply a matter of developing that faith as we live our lives.

"D_finition Of A Friend"

Scripture: Luke 5:17-26

For the Sundays of this month we will be looking at the different aspects of "Friends" and "F"iendship" culminating in our "Friend Day" on October 27th. This morning we are looking at a "Definition Of A FRiend." We could ask, "What is a Friend?" There are all sorts of answers which have been given. Some of them are humorous but mostly they speak volumes about friendship. Here are some I have gleaned from several sources:

"A friend is one who dislikes the same people that you dislike" - Anonymous -

"God save me from my friends, I can protect myself from my enemies." - Marshal De Villars -

"There are three faithful friends: an old wife, an old dog, and ready money." - Franklin -

Then there are those which speak seriously about friends:

"The proper office of a friend is to side with you when you are in the wrong. Nearly anybody will side with you when you are right."

"He is willing to share his heart with you, when others have taken your's out; he puts a warm arm around your shoulder after others have given you the cold shoulder; he puts you back on your toes when you're down at the heeld; he still says hello to you after all others have said goodbye; he is the one who is never quite able to get to you when you were on top, but manages to get to you when you are down. HE is your FRIEND."

- "A friend is someone who knows all about and loves you anyway."

(Ilustration of King and Queen of Belgium honoring President Hoover) At the end of the first World War, the King and Queen of Belgium wanted to honor President Herbert Hoover for the aid they had received during the war from the United States. After considering what honors could be bestowed, the King offered Hoover his choice of three decorations. He rejected them all stating:

"You have stood at the gateway of civilization and held back the tide of a ggression, while we have only thered with you what we had to give. For that one does not ask for honors."

The King and Queen responded:

"He is our very great friend."

And desiring to adequately express their appreciation for his efforts, they created a new order to which Herbert Hoover belonged, "Friend of the Belgian people."

Just what is a Friend? I believe our Scripture this morning gives us not only the definition but a good example as well. MEXMEXMENTIME PERSON T is incident is recorded in axi Matthew and Mark's Gospels as well. It's a very often repeated illustration of the healing power of Jesus and the faith of some men. You may have heard this passage preached on on different occasions. But this morning we are not going to look at the passage concerning the healing of the man; nor are we going to look at the faith involved. Instead, we are going to focus on another aspect of this incident.

Jesus was in Capernaum and was in a house there. The house may well have been the residence of Peter. The house was packed and there were many of the religious leaders present at this time. Four men brought a man who we are told palsy. Whatever he may have had is uncertain, but what is known is that he could not walk. The four men carried him on a bed and when they arrived at the house, there were so many people gathered, they could not enter the house. So they went up the outside staircase of the house to the flat roof, removed the tiling of the roof and when they had a large enough opening, they let the man down into the midst of the people and in the presence of Jesus. To the question, "What Is A Friend?? we see in this incident first of all the true "Definition of a Friend" is, A Friend is one who knows you. These men knew their friend was bedfast. They knew he wasn't going to get any better. But they had probably heard of Jesus; or perhaps they had even seen Him when He passed that way on another occasion. And since they knew their friend and knew what his needs were, they came up with a plan to get the only help for him they believed would help him. It wasn't a question of these men seeking anything for themselves. They knew wkwixthwirxfriend their friend and they sought to get the help he needed.

Then a Friend is one who loves you. We don't know how long nor how far these men had to carry their friend. But whatever the time or distance they did it. And then to carry him to the roof and work to open that roof to lower him into the presence of Jesus was an outward display of love. They could have visited him at his house and talked to him and kept him company daily and frequently. And perhaps they did this until they hit upon the idea of taking him to Jesus to be healed. But the whole episode speaks of their desire of wanting the very most for their friend which could be had.

(Illustration of Jehu and Wehonadab as friends)

There is an illustration found in the Old Testament of two friends. King Jehu was going to war against all of the remaining members of Ahab&s family, On the way he saw Jehonadab a firend of his coming toward him. So we read in 2 Kings 10:15a. Then we read that, hexaked "he saluted him and said to him, 'Is thine heart right, as my heart is with thy heart?' And Jehonadab answered, 'It is." As proof of that friendship Jehu said, "If it be, give me thine hand.' And he tave him his hand; and he took him up to him into the chariot."

A friend is one who loves you through thick and thin, through good and bad and that friendship isn't dependent upon everything always running smoothly. (Illustration of Sam Davis Confederate spy)

Sam Davis was a confederate spy who was captured by the Union Army. When he was captured he had in his possession some important papers and immediately the Union officers knew that someone had supplied him with this information. He was working with an accomplice, a friend. He was ordered to be executed. So he was led out to face the firing squad. He was blindfolded. And then the officer in charge said to him, "If you will give us the name of the man who furnished you with this information, you can go free. Without any hesitation at all, Gam Davis replied, "If I had a thousand lives, I would gladly give them all before I would betray . friend."

Jesus said, "Greater love hath no men then this, that a man lap down his life for his friends." And Jesus showed His love in just this way, by giving His life for mankind.

A friend is one who is interested in your spiritual well-being. If these men knew snything about Jobus they were aware that He not only ministered to the physical needs of people, but also ministered to their spiritual needs. It wasn't just a matter of healing the body, but also healing the soul. These men were that concerned for the spiritual well-being of their friend that they gave of themselves to see that he received physical and spiritual help from Jesus. A friend wants the very best for his friend and that involves the meeting the needs of the friend whatever those needs may be. (Illustration of George and Friend with inflated opinion of self)

A friend is not dependent on one or the other being of great importance. Look at the men who surrounded Jesus. All of them were common ordinary guys and yet, their names are still spoken 2000 years after they their lives on this earth. This is because Jesus sought to be their friend by knowing them, by loving them, and by looking out for their spiritual well-being. As we think of the "Definition Of A Friend" we need to take inventory, and ask:

What common interests do I share with my firend?

Would my friend be offended if he knew what I said behind his back last week or a few days ago?

Do I listen to my friend when he comes to me with a problem?

When was the last time I prayed for my friend's needs?

Am I certain my filiend knows the Lord as his Savior? Am I concerned about that?

Would my friend say that I know him, that I love him, and that I am concerned about his spiritual well-being?

What is a Friend? Do I know, because I am one?

"How To BE One"

Scripture: 1 Samuel 19:1-7

(Illustration of Rhinocerus and Buffalo Bird)

In East Africa some of the world's most fascinating animals live. One of them is the Bhinocerus. This animal has two horns, is very large, but has tremendous speed, great agility, and is feared by all the other animals around it. The Bhinocerus is one of the most dangerous animals in the world. Now if you were to observe this animal in its natural habitat you would notice that birds perch on his back and stay there for extended periods of time. In fact, you would frequently see these birds pecking into his back and sides much like a woodpecker on a tree. Wherekinds Tou would also observe other birds flying about his head, and still others lighting on his ears and pecking away. But the surprising thing is, the Rhino dosen't attack these birds or try to get them off his back. Thy? These birds are called "Buffalo Birds" and they are on the Rhino pecking away at a parasite which he cannot control. These parasites are on his body like barnacles grow on the underside of a ship. These birds are given this opportunity to be of help to the Rhino because they are friends. The Rhino in has very poor eyestight from birth. So while these birds are perched on the Rhino, if there is any danger in the area, they let out a shrill call warning him of what he cannot see. So in return for this service they are protected from their predators by the Rhino. In a sense, these two totally different creatures enjoy a mutual friendship.

T_k is is what we are going to look at today. Last week we discussed "What Is A Friend." This week we are looking at, "Fow To Be Cne." 'omeone asked me "How To Be One What?" I'm sure this particular title could be a play on words in many respects. But quite plainly and simply it is, "Hoe To Be A Friend." A very good example is the friendship as set forth in the Biblical account of David and Jonathon. This friendship was one of the most unlikely perhaps because of the backgrounds of the two men. Jonathon was the son of the king. He was of royal blood and like all royalty, he had access to mobe of the things of life than commoners do. Yet, his very best friend was one of those commoners, nothing more than a lowly dhepherd.

David had killed the giant Goliath and because of this had endeared himcelf to hing faul. faul had taken David into his court and he was accepted and loved by everyone. Because of his popularity, Baul soon became jealous of David and tried to kill him. Our Scriptrue this morning points out that Saul had instructed Jonathon and all the servants that they were to kill David. So Jonathon knowing this takes steps to first of all prevent this and we read in the 2nd verse, "But Jonathon Saul's son delighted himself much in David."

This means they were very close friends. "And Jonathon told David, saying, 'Sabl my father seeketh to kill thee: now therefore, I pray thee, take heed to thyself until the morning, and abide in a secret place, and hide thyself: And I will go out and stand beside my father in the field where thou art, and I will commune with my father of thee; and what I see, that I will tell thee."

Jonathon was going to intercede for David. And so we read in the 4th and 5th verses the conversation Jonathon had with his father the king.

"And Jonathon spake good of David unto Faul his father, and said unto him, 'Let not the king sin against his servant, against David; because he hath not sinned against thee, and because his works have been to thee-ward very good: for he did put his life in his hand, and slew the Philistine, and the Lord wrought a great salvation for all Israel: thou sawest it, and didst rejoice: wherefore then wilt thou sin against innocent blood, to slay David without a cause?'"

At this point Jonathon is acting as a peacemaker. Jesus said, "Blessed are the peacemakers for they shall be called the children of God."

Iaul writing of what God did tells us in Ephesians 2:12-17, (read these verses and explain). In the 15th verse Paul points out Jesus overcame the "enmity" and this is hatred and He replaced it with His "Peace." And the final result of this "Peace" is, "For through Him we both have access by one Spirit unto the Father." vs 18.

Jesus was the peacemaker between Satan and God, between sin and righteousness between hatred and love. Jonathon could have stood by and let his father do what he desired. But it took extra courage to be a good friend and to intercede on his behalf.

(Illustration of Dr. Charles Mayo polishin; choes)

D. Carles Mayo elong with his father and hoother, founded the world-famous Mayo-Clinic. A group of European medical experts were visiting the clinic and were staying at the home of Charles Mayo. They had all retired for the night and later when Dr. Mayo went to his room he noticed that these men had placed their shoes outsdie of their doors. In Europe it was the custom to do this and a servant would polish them. Since it was very late and all of the Mayo servants were in bed, Charles Mayo picked up the shoes and with a sigh, took them to the kitchen and spent half the night polishing their shoes. He could have summoned his servants to do this. Or he could have neglected the chore and gone to bed which would have created an embarraasment the next day. And he could have informed the men that it was not only not our custom to do in this country, but was beneath his dignity and created ill-will.

But Dr. Mayo chose to be a "peace-maker" in this situation. To do so takes humility and "How To Be One," how to be a friend, takes just that. This is the example God gives us in the life and person of Jesus Cyrist. Although He was God in the flesh here on earth, it wasn't beneath His dignity to settle accounts between God and man by His sacrificial death on the cross. That was the act of a true friend.

The plot by King Baul to rid himself of David didn't cease even though in our Scripture this morning David was permitted back into the king's presence and saul swore that he would not kill David. In another portion of this 19th chapter we read of Saul's desire to kill David once again. So David came to his good friend and son of the king Jonathan and told him of Saul's desire to kill him. We read of this in chapter 20:1-9. Jonathan didn't believe David, but he agreed to protect David until the charge could be proven and thinxinxim we read this in the 13th verse. "The Lord do so and much more to Jonathan: but if it please my father to do thee evil, then I will shew it thee, and send thee away, that thou mayest go in peace: and the Lord be with thee, as He hath been with my father." So then we read in this chapter Saul talking to Jonathan and he said, "For as long as the son of Jesse liveth upon the ground, thou shalt not be est-ablished, nor thy kingdom. Wherefore now, send and fetch him unto me, for he shall surely die." vs 31.

And Jonathan answered his fathe - read vs 32.

Then we see the results of Saul's anger in vs 33 - read this.

And Jonathan's response in vs 34 - read this.

So Jonathan maxes a plan with David extrientherfield. To is to hide hinself while Jonathan does some practice shooting with his bow. I young boy is to fetch the sprows efter Jourthan shorts them. The secret words to identify the situation Letween ", vid an' "aul had to do with Jonathan's conversation will the bey when he cont for the emower. If he said the second ware close by, bavid would know be could return sefely. Wy if is id the provement begins the boy, David would know that there was still danger for his life. So David came out of hiding and in the 40nd verse we read, (read this). Jonathan had helped his friend in the only way he could.

This little girl was having problems in the first grade and Mrs. Towneds with her years as a guidance courselor thought she might be able to hel, her, so the called Deri into her office. The said to her, "Theri, I want to be our friend. I will never tell your money, or your dadde, or our teacher anything we talk about if you don't want me to. I want you to know that you can always trust me." With tearful eyes, she looked up and said, "Gee, Mrs. Edwards, you're just like my dor." you're just like my dog."

Vell perhaps that isn't nuite like a friend should be, but he point is will Laken thea to be like that a pet like a dog is around and willing to be a friend in all circumstances. A true human friend is like that also. In Proverbs we read, "A man that hath friendsomust chew himself friendly: and there is a friend that sticketh closer than a brother." Froberbs 13:24

The Friend who sticks closer than a prother is our Lord and faviour whom fod provided to be with us and no with us throughout all of life.

The end of the friendship between David and Jonathan is told in the 33rd chapter. At least this is the lost recorded time they due to the condition to a Tri al. In the libb werse we ward, "ind Jotathan feed to be above, and ment to David into the pood, of streamthened lib to a in sol."

After a particulalry rough game against St. Louis in which he thought he performed very poorly he returned home weary and battered after a long plane ride. He went into the bedroom and there taped on his pillow was a note. The note said, "Dear Dad, I thought you played a contract great game, Love, Bart." And taped to the note were two dimes.

 T_{k} at's the kind of encouragement that all of our friends need. A little boost along the way to smooth over the rough places when life may seem to be taking its toll on someone we love.

(Illustration of Rufus Jones measuring up to his sons thinking of him) The late Rufus Jones told of overhearing his son and some of his friends talking about what they wanted to be when they grew up. When it became Lowell's turn he said, #WHERCEXEXTOWNED "I want to grow up and be and a man like my daddy." Lowell died at the age of 11. But Rufus Jones never forgot those words of his son and it is said that he spent hulfxof his lifetime measuring up to what his son thought of him. He said, "Few things in my life have ever touched me as those words did, or have given me a greater impulse to dedication. What kind of man was I going to be, if I was to be the pattern for my boy!"

A friend can touch our lives like no other person can. ixfriend "How To Be One" involves getting involved in the life of the other person. It means being there through thick and thin; ixxmeanxxefferingxhelpxmedxenserragement; it means just being there and showing that you care; and it means offering hel and encouragement to life that friend up when he is down or things are going badly. When I think of Friends, I must ask myself, "Do I know How To Be One?"

During the mid-fifties, a young man was fratures a country and western singing sensation. "He was featured at the Grand Old Opry and was fast making a name for himself. But what the public didn't know was that this young man though outwardly appearing successful and on the way up, was hooked on drugs and on his way down. One night after a concert he went berserk and began smashing the stage lights. Following this he was told that he would never sing at the Orry again. His use of drugs not only affected his career, but his voice, his wife, his job, and his sense of dignity. For seven years it continued resulting in seven ar ests for that he coll of this rough in the release him. It for the should have a site jull and that night in jull. (1) the unineer friend, the shariff, the very best was able to be brought out in the life of Johnny Cash. That's the third thing a friend is which we will be looking at this morning. We first read of a man named Barnagas in the 4th chapter of the book of Acts. Throughout this book and all we know of Barnabas, is that he was a friend of the church. His real name was Joseph, or as fripture records it, "Heses." But the anostles named him "Dernabas." This was not accidented because the raw means, for of conscleptor, "or, "The frequential as a pro- of neourgary and the anostles action is set of 100 by the uppetil as a pro- of neourgary and the arms of the till be mented in the first and the arms of the set of the set of 100

Barnabas first showed his knack of encouragement after the conversion of Saul of Tarsus. He Saul had sought the death of all those who followed in what was known as 2the Way." These people who were followers of Jesus Christ were avowed enemies of Saul. But then he met Christ on the road to Damascus and his life was forever turned around. Now HE was a follower of "the Way." Eut who would believe him? Who would trust him? We read in the 9th chapter of Acts, verse 26, "And when Saul was come to Herusalem, he assayed to join himself to the disciples: but they were all afraid of him, and believed not that he was a disciple."

Nobody trusted him because of his past record of persecuting the Christians.

Nobody that is, except a man named Barnabas. So we readi in the 27th verse: "But Barnabas took him, and brought him to the apostles, and devlared unto them how he had seen the Lord in the way, and that He had spoken to him, and how he had preached boldly at Damascus in the name of Jesus." (Illustration of boy in restaurant and "She thinks I'm real!) A family went into a restaurant to eat. The mtoher and father sat t a table with their young son and one of those waitresses who are few and far between, an exceptional person at the job was taking down their order. She took the order of the mother and father and then turned to the boy. Somewhat hesitating because he knew what the inevitable would be, said, "I want a hot dog." But before he could say another word, both parents said, "No hot dog." And the mother went on, "hring him the roast beef with mashed potatoes and the two vegetables." But the waitress wasn't even listening. When the mother had finisihed giving her instructions the waitress said to the boy, "What do you want on your hot dog?" He flashed and amazed smile and said, "Ketchup, lots of ketchup, and - and bring a glass of milk please." "Coming right up," she said as she turned from the table, leaving behind her the stunned silence of dumfounded parents. The boy watched her go and then he turned to his parents and happily said, "YOU KNOW WHAT? She thinks I'm real! She thinks I'm real."

We said last week one thing about How To Be A Friend was to be an encourager, and this apllies in bringing out the best in our friend. T_wat person needs to know that he is for real. Jesus stressed this over and over in His earthly ministry. T^{*}e value of those who were considered the dregs of society was what He emphasized. It was these monsidered as sinners that He rubbed elbows. It was the publicans, those hated tax-collectors, the harlots, the drunks, the sick and diseased. All of these received His encouragement that they were "Real." And this example is what Barnabas displayed in his life. We need to encourage our friends to let them know we think they are "For Real" as well, to bring out the best in them.

Do you recall the first time you ever tried to drive a car? Or the first time you cooked a meal? Or the first time you ever did something you never did before? I'm sure those first efforts were awkward and maybe even hilarious now that you can look back and laugh at them. But at that time they were the most serious things you were doing. We read in the book of Acts of the ministry Poul had with Barnabas. In 11:25-26? we read that Barnabas went to Tarsus to get Saul and they were in Antioch for a year; then Saul went with Barnabas to Jerusalem with an offering, 11:29-30; Saul continued in the ministry with Barnabas as pointed out in 13:1; and then in this 13th chapter we read that they formed the first missionary journey together. As this relationship developed, it becomes apparent that when Faul came back to Jerusalem for the Jerusalem conference, he was one of the key speakers and a recognized leader of the C. hristian Church. And it also becomes apparent that Barnabas sort of fadews into the background. The lesson in this is that the pupil should excell the teacher. What the teacher teaches, must be grasped by the pupil and make the pupil more effective than the teacher. In this sense we see that bringing out the best in a friend requires that we let that friend excel while we diminish.

When Sir Walter Scott was a boy in school he was considered a dunce. Juite frequently his place in the classroom was sitting in the corner with the dunce cap on his head. When he was about 12 or 14 he was in a house where some littrary guests were being entertained. Robert Burns the Scottish poet was looking at a picture under which some lines of poetry were written He asked if anyone knew who the author was and no one knew. No one that is except fix young Walter Scott. Timidly he crept up to the poet's side, named the author and then rectied the rest of the poem. Burns was delighted and surprised. He put his hand on Scott's head and said, "Young boy, you will be a great man in Scotland some day. From that day on Walter Scotwas a changed boy. One word of encouragement set him on his leterary career which made him world famous.

When John the Baptist was preaching and baptizing before Jesus, he came to the place where he knew that he was merely the messenger preparing the way of the Lord. And so he could say as we read in John 3:30, "He must increase, but I must decrease."

A, we grow in our lives, Jesus must increase and our personal selves must become less and less and more in tune with letting Him kaws take precedence in our lives. And as we seek to be friends we must let our friends grow and increase in their spiritual lives and this is only possible when we are willing to let them increase by Fringing Cut The Test in them.

bu Tarnabas was also an encourager of comeone who was considered of no use. His nephew John Mark wwit excompanied Taul and Bernubas on the first missioner journey but for some reason he out and were leas to Abcusalem. To the considered - failure. In Tarnabas believed the lad needed another chance and because of this he had a falling out with Paul. Paul refused to reconsider taking Mark with him and so he and Silas went cut, while Mark and Barnabas went their own way. This siding with Mark cost Barnabas dearly in the eyes of the church and Barnabas lost his prominence in the church. Not only that but his name is never again mentioned in the book of Acts following the reading of our S ripture from this morning. (read and explain verses 36-39 as you go through the above).

Now although Barnabas is considered a minor character of the New Testament, two of his friends wrote much of the New Testament and with the possible exception of Luke every author of a New Testament book was a friend of his at one time. By his acceptance of Mark and demonstrating to Faul that Mark did have value, Paul came to the point where he renewed his friendship with him. And Mark also wrote the Gospel of Mark which may not have been done had not Barnabas worked at "B"inging Out The Best" in him.

(Illustration of "Sparky" and his value later as creator of Charley Brown) When he was a little boy the other children called him "Sparky," after a comic strip character named "parkplug. And he never did shake that nickname. "parky was a failure in school. He failed every subject in the 8th grade. He received a flat zero for the course and distinguished himself as the worst physics student in his school's history. He flunked Latin, Algebra and English. Everything! He even flunked sports although he was was on the colf team. But he lost the might important match that year as well as the conceletion match. He was not much of a mixer and most of the other children ippored him outsile of school. The wasn', much at dating either because he was too official to peak to a firl. After he graduated from high school he wrote to Walt Disney studios telling them of his desire to become a cartoonist for them. He received an asswer asking for some samples of his artwork. It was suggested that he show a Dis-ney character repairing a clock by shoveling springs and gears back inside. ney character repairing a clock by shoveling springs and gears back inside. ney character repairing a clock by shoveling springs and gears back inside. He drew the picture and sent it off and then waited anxiously for a reply. Finally he received a letter and his work was rejected. He was loser and he accepted that fact. But do you know what Starky did? He began to write his autobiography in cartoons. He described his childhood, the little boy loser, the chronic underschiever and he did it is a certoon form everybody now knows. This is a vivid example of "Bringing Out The Best." Deep within each person there is and are values that if permitted to come forth can be a blessing to mankind. No one is worthless regardless of the circumstances of their lives. "od has placed in each person qualities which need to be brought forth. 1 good friend is willing to pay the reise to bely a friend. Ometimes that prize costs a meet deal. In price the way only for order of us become . "The One Who Counts"

Scripture: 1 John 4:7-10

(Illustration of Arthur and little Timmy)

To anyone seeing a man named withur stepping off the bus in Kingston Ontario, he looked like any other man in his suit and topcoat. He could have passed for a salesman or simply a grandfather coming home to visit his grandchildren. He was 53 years old and the incredible thing about that age was that he had spent 42 of those years behind bars.

His prison career began at the age of 11. No prison seemed capable of holding him; and no prison system seemes capable of breaking his spirit or reforming his behaviour. He served 24 of those years in solitary confinement. For 17 months he sat on death row. He took part in prison riots; broke a guard's arm; antoher's collar bone, and brought about the death of a sherriff. In a prison in Indiana he stole 40 p pounds of cyanide with the idea of poisoning the entire prison staff. He spent 31 months on Devil's Island in a 5 x 7 cell, chained by his neck. Society had no hope for him, they just tried to confine him. Hut something happened in Arthur's life in eavenworth, Mansas that drematically changed his life. A minister and his son visited the prison one day. As 14 year-old Timmy followed his Dad down the row of cells, for some reason he paused at Arthur's cell, and smiled and winked That did it. Arthur responded by calling Timmy back to his cell and he began to verbally abuse him. He called him every name he could, and cursed and swore at him. The boy stood there taking what Arthur dished out and broke down in tears. When Arthur had finished his tirade, Timmy said to Arthur, "I love you." all of Arthur said later, "That's the first time in Arthur life anyone ever told me that."

A "riend is one who can say "I love you" and mean it. If you had the chance to become friends with someone in this world who perhaps was of national fame or reputation, or known world-wide, who would you choose? Nould it be the President of the United States? A move star? Or a DV personality? Who would be the most iffluential person you could pick to be your friend. "Sould you perhaps choose to be a friend of God? In the Rible a man named Abraham is mentioned three times as being just that, ". Friend of God." But to be a friend of God it works both ways and we learn from the Bible that God desires to be a friend of God person individually. This is what John is saying in our portion of Scripture this morning. In the 7th verses he writes, "Beloved," and that word means "Dear friends." Dear friends, let us love one another: for love is of bod; and every one that low th is imm of Tol, and knowsth God."

There are the periodements of being a friend of . d. The first one is to love. In our society we have a somewhat distorted view of love. We speak of love anxiening very loosely and have many misconceptions of it.

(El'ustration of boy writing note to gladamiand)

A round man where a mole to ble cirl Crienc and entit, "I love you so much, I's weight be wide to hiver 'o be carm pon; I's climb lie bijest moun sin; I's order for burning descripto be circum side; I's flybs wire chimis ito of a you, Tone Durley. P. . I'll be over on 'studey sight, if it cooked on in.

Now there's real love in action. And this isn't what John was writing about

His stipulation about love is that, "Every one that loveth is born of God, and knoweth God,"

But he adds in verse 8m "He that loveth not knoweth not God; for Gos is love There is the true definition of love and one of the first Bible verses almost anyone learns is, "God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son, that whoseever believeth on Him, will not perish but have everlasting life. John 3:16.

The first step to being a friend of God is to "Know Him."

(Illustration of Mark Twain in Europe and daughter's remark) Mark Twain was visiting in Europe and he received an invitation from the Emperor of Germany to dine with him and the royal family. His little daughter when he told her of this said, "Daddy, you know most everybody in the whole world don't you? Except God!"

One of the sad commentaries of life is to know many people of all walks of life and yet not to know "The One Who Counts."

John goes on further to explain, "In this was manifested the love of God toward us, because that God sent His only Son into the world, that we might have xife live through Him."

God desired to be a friend of each and every individual to ever walk the face of the earth and He did it through His Con Jesus Christ. Jesus lived the same life that you and I live and yet we read it in Scripture that He did it without sinning. He had all the same temptations, all the same desires, all of the things which seek to lure us from God, and yet He was able to overcome all of that and not sin. He was showing us that we could have fellowship with God. A new fellowship which retored us to the relationship God originally wanted for mankind when He placed man in the Garden of Eden. Man sinned and turned from God and this broke the eternal relationship which God wanted to share with man. The entire Old Testament is a testimony of God's efforts to restore that relationship. He sent judges; then He sent priests and prophets; then He sent Kings and all to no avail. Man simply would not return to Him. He would come to the realization that he was a sinner, repent, be restored and then go off on another tangent of deeper and worse sin. The only way God could overcome this was to enter this world in a way in which man could inverties understand. He couldn't come into the world in the form of a super-human because man would know that he himself could never attain that stature. So God chose to come into the world in the form of another human being, someone man could relate to; someone man could identify with. And so We came in the person of Jesus Christ. This is what John is explaining when he says, "That we might live through Him." Jesus showed the way, he lived the life. He said, "I come to give you life more abunadantly.

And what is the "Abundant life?" It is a life which has answers which the world cannot give. It is a life that is lived in and through God Himself.

John tells us further, "Herein is love, not that we loved God, but that He loved us, and sent His Son to be the propitiation for our sins." That fancy word simply means "the atonement," for our sins. The Jews in the Old Jestament days celebrated a day on which their sins were supposedly forgiven in the temple and that day was called, "The Day of Atonement." On that day the high priest sprinkled the blood on the mercy seat and this was to forgive men of their sins. That day is still celebrated today by Orthodox Jews around the world. But John tells us that the blood of bulls and goats could not give man the atonement and it took the blood of Jesus Christ to do that. That sacrifice of Jesus was the "atonement" for our sins. John goes on to tell us in the 14th verse, "And we have seen and tesitfy that the Father out he for to be the faviour of the world."

Do you get the full meaning of what John is saying? Would you rather be a friend of another mere mortal, or would you like to be a friend of "The One who Counts?"

(Illustration of revival in Denver, Friday January 20, 1905) For two hours at midday all Denver was held in a spell... The marts of trade were deserted between noon and two-o'clock this afternoon and all worldly affairs were forgotten, and the entire city was given over to meditation of higher things. The Spirit of the Almighty pervaded every nook. Going to and coming from the great meetings, the thousands of men and women radiated this pirit which filled them, and the clear Colorado sunshine was made brighter by the reflected glow of the light of God shining from happy faces. Sledom has such a remarkable sight been witnessed-an entire rity great city, in the middle of a busy week day, bowing before the throne of heaven and asking and receiving the blessing of the King of the Universe."

T, is was revival, but did you notice how it describes God? "King of the Universe" Could a mere earthly monarch ever attain such stature? No a thousand times NO. God the Omnipotent reigneth!

But why did God come to earth in the person of Jesus Christ? First, that man could have forgiveness. Look at what John says in the 15th verse, "Who-soever shall confess that Jesus is the Con of God, God dwelleth in him and he in God."

A relationship is established and it is done through faith. T, at is what John means by confess. To confess something is to say I believe it and to believe is to have faith. So if a person says I believe that Jesus Christ came into the world to save sinners and He did gave His life for sinners, then I have forgiveness through Him. And back in the Gospel of this same John in the 1st chapter the 12th verse John says, "But as many as received Him, to them gave He power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on His name."

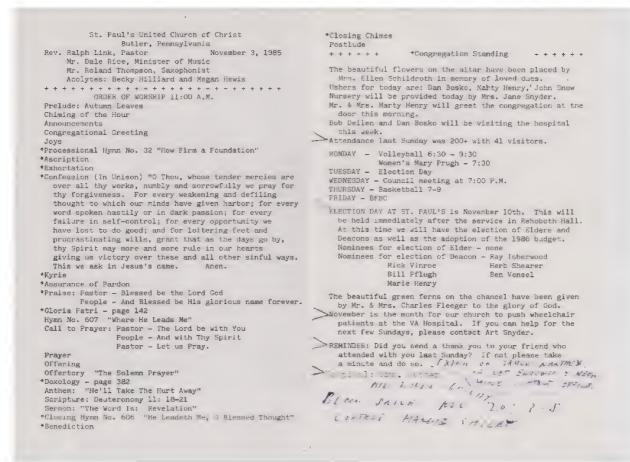

Do you get that? To those who receive Him as Saviour and Lord, those people become Sons of God. That means they are born into the family of God. They become the heirs of all that God has in eternity for mankind and the broken relationship is mended. Man can again have access to God to share in His riches in Glory. He is an heir of God and a joint-heir with Christ. Do you remember Arthur the prisoner we mentioned at the beginning? There is more to his story.

(End of story of Timmy and Arthur) Timmy began to write letters to Arthur. He would write to him and share his concern. Timmy prayed for him. For seven years those letters kept coming. concern. Timmy prayed for him. For seven years those letters kept coming and correspondence was exchanged between them; until Arthur finally broke down and he said, "Tvery letter was stained with his tears. I couldn't take it anymore. I got on my knees and came to the Lord." But God did two miracles in Arthur's life. The first was to transform a hate-filled, more violent man into a man of love and with the ability to care for others. Then God saw fit to have him released from proton in spite of his background and record. Thoug he had cancer, he set about telling others about Jesus Christ with the years he had left.

This is the Gospel message of Jesus Christ. Perhaps you have had this transformation take place in your life and you know what I'm talking about. But maybe you have never surrendered your life to Jesus Christ and accepted the forgiveness He so readily offers to any and all who will come. This morning, God's Holy Spirit may be dealing with your heart that you need to accept what God has so freely given through Jesus Christ. I'm going to ask you to make that commitment this morning before you let another day pass without doing it. You may get another opportunity, but again you may not. You don't know that.

Iet's stand please and bow our heads. You may not be sure that you have God's salvation, His forgiveness through Mrist. You may have made a commitment sometime and, but you need to re-dedicate, or re-commit your life to Him. Matevar the circumstances, if dod is specking to your heart, if the Holy Spirit, God's Holy Spirit is speaking to your heart, I'm going to ask you to come forward. Don't let anyone or anything keep you from coming. Your wife or your husband can't make this commitment for you. Only you can settle where you will spend eternity. It will either be with God, or it will be separate from God. This is the most important decision you will ever make in your life. Let's pray and then we will sing our closing hymn during which time I urge you to respond if God is speaking to your heart.

"The Word Is: Revelation"

Scripture: Deuteronomy 11:18-21

For the next several weeks we are going to be looking a. Detrine "mom the such size of the Title, "A is with the File for all unchiles to all'y starts. Asart "rop side dible on threath aris for belief, because it is from the Bible that we learn all there is to know of and about God. Suntha Therefore, we see that the Bible, God's Word, is first of all "Revelation." "The Word Is: Revelation."

(Illustration of Johann A. Strindberg and his regard to the Hible) Johann A. Strindberg was a brilliant media' novelist of one born in 1027 a field in 101. Infort that import a born in a set a very gifted writer, is his regard for the Bible. He absolutely hated it. He attacked it for years in a most ruthless and vicious manner. This man received many of the world's bonors, and the fringe benefits that go with them but like Isaiah promesied, "here is no peace, suith muro", to the wicket." saish 97:21. He had three troubled and stormy marriages and his life was filled with frustration and problems. But in spite of his his life was filled with frustration and problems. But in spite of his hatred and hostility to the Bible he had never read and studied the Scripture to find out what it said.

(Illustration of Sir Walter Scott and "The Book")

Sir Walter Stott was another brilliant writer in Scotland. Just before his death he was taken into his library and seated by a large window where he could look at the scenert. As he sat there, he called to his son-in-law to xetxhim "Get the Book" and readerto him. During his lifetime he had accumulated one of the largest libraries in the world and so his son-in-law asked, "From what book shall I read?" Scott replied, "There is but One." He son-in-law read from the 14th chapter of John and Scott listened devotedly and then said, "This is a great comfort. I have followed you distinctly, and I feel as if I was to be myself again."

Here's the contrast as seen in all of life. Wither the Bible has purpose and meaning for an individual, or it has nothing to offer. So if the Bible is to have any meaning or purpose for anyone's life, it must be seen for what it is. And the very first thing that we see that "The Word Id," is that it is "Revelation." So in order to understand this we must understand first of all the "Importance of Revelation."

To understand this we need to go back to the Old Testament and look at what had taken place in the life of the Israelites during the time of Moses. Mosesi is speaking to the Israelites as we read in our Scripture this morning He is giving them instructions for their lives and he tells them, "Therefore shall ye lay up these words my words in your heart and in your soul. The words he calls "My words," are the foregoing things he has spoken to them of the Lord. They are his words from the standpoint that he has spoken them, but in actual fact they are the words of the Lord.

So he continues, "And bind them for a sign upon your hands that they may be as frontlets between your eyes." What Moses is talking about was the custom of taking four specific pieces of Scripture and writing them on a strip of parcheent and then placing them within a last ber small leather box and wearing them on the arm and on the forehead. The Tharisees supposedly wore them all the time, but the common people only worecthem at prayertime. But the purpose was to keep God's Word, literally in front of them. To remind them of what God wanted and desired from them. But more than this, Moses points out, "And we shall teach sired from them. But more than this, Moses points out, "And ye shall teach them your children, peaking of them when thou sittest in this house, and when thou walkest by the wayp when thou liest down, and when thou risest up What Moses is saying is that it is important to not only have God's Word in evidence in your life, but to teach your children when you are sitting at hm home; to teach it and talk of it when you are out about your daily chores; to think about God's Word the last thing before you close your eyes to go to sleep; and to think about God's Word the first thing when you wake up. If God's Word takes on that importance in a person's life, God will certainly have pre-eminence over all the worldly things which normally creep into our lives. W" are not only supposed to know God's Word, but it is imperative that we teach it to our children and others.

But Moses saw this as going beyond just talking and teaching because he adds: "And thou shalt write them upon the doorposts of thine house, and upon thy gotes: That your days may be multiplied, and the days of your children, in the land which the lord sware unto your fathers to give them, as the days of heaven upon earth."

First I'd like to point out a sidelight on these verses and that is to publicly refute that which I was taught in seminary about ancient writing. My Old Testament professor taught that Moses did not know how to write because there ware is no evidence of libraries during his time on earth. But if he didn't know how to write or there were no written materials around during his lifetime, know why would he tell anyone to write something undetkened of doorposts of their houses? What Moses is sharing here is the revelation of God through Wis 'ord. But he is telling of the importance of it. God wlways wanted a relationship with man and so when Moses says that God wanted to give them, "As the days of heaven upon the earth," he is actually stating what God's desire for His creation is. To have heaven upon earth would be to have the actual presence of God in the ridst of mankind. Moses added to what he was saying here in the 29th chapter, verse 29, where we read: "The secret thirds helon unto the ord our God: but those things which are revealed belong unto us and to our children forever, that we may do all the words of this law."

The "Things which are revealed belong into us and to our children forever." In other words, God wants us to have His revelation and that revelation can only come from Mis Word. The entire purpose of God's Word is to reveal Him completely and fully. And it is in His Word and no where else that we learn of His plan for the salvation of the world. He revealed that through Jesus Christ.

To it is from Tod'r Word that we not only learn the importance of revelation, ut we see the Means of Revelation. How did God actually reveal Himslef is the cuestion man repeatedly asks. "How can I honestly know God?" There are several answers of course, but nothing answers like a lefinite concrete EXEX answer. God answers the searching heart and a good example is found in the birth of Jesus. In the Gospel of Matthew chapter 2, verses 1 and 2, we read "Now when Jesus was born in Bethlehem of Judea in the days of Herod the king behold, there came wise men from the east to Arresten, sector, "There is le that is born Kint of the Jews. For we have seen His star in the east and are come to worship Him."

These men were astrolomers and stargazers. They made it a livlihood of studying the stars and what their movements meant. Somehow they knew that the appearance of a special unknown or waxsen star before unseen star meant the birth of some special merson. Them ascertained that it means the birth of morular. To when they says the special laight so is the same through such their quest for the answer. Ruterskarky and war are the answer and a state of the answer and a state of the answer and a state of the s theyx kearned x that These learned were firects' to Jerusalam. There they lowned, (read verses 3 through 6). Fo after hearing this special revelation we read, (read verse- " through 11). In Bethlehem they had their fullest revelation and for all time it was recorded that he haby soon in Book-son was none plane than the Taving of the world. From this we see that God uses khankannanefxRenstatianeneneeneen alle alle sallable to mole." Himself known. And even though we have the written Word of God, God continually reveals Himself to mankind in many ways to point man to His Word so he can receive the revelation of Himself. Which bring us to the third point and that is "The Furpose of Revelation." One doesn't have to read too much of God's Word to soon discover that one of the main purposes of its Revelation is that man is a sinner. From the beginning he sinned and turned from God. And then the purpose of revelation comes forth because God revealed Jesus as the only One who can save mankind from eternal damnation. This then gives us the R velation of Eternal life and the victory which can be ours over sin, and death.

(Illustration of Johann A. Strändberg and his conversion) In the later years of Johann Strindberg's life, especially during his fatal illness God's Holy Spirit continued His work in this man's life. He finally picked up the Bible and began to carefully read and study its pages. On the day before this death he called his family to his bedside and taking the Bible in his hand from the nighstand, he said, "Every personal grudge is now gone. I have settled with life, my accounts are closed, the Bible is the only true guide." Then he requested that they place on his breast in the casket the book that he had fought for so long. At his funeral which was attended by thousands, they sang one of the hymns he had learned to love after his late conversion, "Nearer My God To T"ee."

J. Danson Smith wrote:

Amazing Grace - that in the past Back in eternities so vast -The Tather God His Son should slay -The sin of unborn man to pay -I wonder much - how could it be: Amazing Grace - that He the Bon, The Bressed and Eternal One, Should leave at length the hallowed bliss Of Heaven's unsulled righteousness And come to earth and take the place Of every man of Adam's race.

Vell might angelie hosts have wept Then Christ to God His promise kept; And heavenly choirs had ceased to sing At sight of Christ's dark suffering. Tis all, indeed, too deep to trace; We can but say - "Amazing Grace."

"The Word IS: 'nspiration"

Scripture: 2 Timothy 3:15-17

Last week we looked at God's Word as being "Revelation." This week we are going to look at God's Word as "Inspiration." Or putting it in another way, "The Word Is: Inspiration."

(Guote by J.Sidlow Baxter)

"The biggest division between Christians is no longer between one denomination and another, but between those who accept the Bible as the inspired Word of God and those who do not."

The Doctrine of the Inspiration of Scripture has been the cause of division among believers, and the third doctrine we will be looking at next week has caused even more controversy and division. Therefore, it becomes very critical that those who are believers understand what is meant by the term, "The Word Is: Inspiration." When we speak of "INSPIRATION", just what do we mean. Let's look at what Paul says here, in our Scripture this morning. Paul was writing to his young friend in the Faith, a man named Timothy. Paul thought so highly of him he treated him as he would his own son. If we back up to the 14th verse we read, "But continue thou in the things which thou hast learned and hast been assured of."

Timothy was the son of a Greek father and a Jewish mother. We don't know if his father was a C, ristian or not. But we do know that his mother Eunice and his grandmother Lois were known for their sincere faith which they had taught to Timothy from boyhood on. Paul mentions this in the 1st chapter of this letter, the 5th verse. What Timothy had been taught was the Word of God as all Jewish boys were taught from little up. So Faul is urging his beloved friend to continue living the faith as he had it taught to him, but he was also to momember, "Inowing of whom thoy hast learned them." Timothy was to remember that he received these instructions from the school. First, they came from his family upbringing. His training and teaching in the faith as given by his godly mother and grandwother. But he also received these instructions in the frith from Taul himself. But those instructions came from and were rooted in the "Inspired" loots of Rod. Now naturally. the les istrament as not complete into the time. But the believers in the early Church had the withe a of the Cli Bestament which foll them of fol's Inspired Words concerning His love and future redemption mfxthem He would provide for mankind. and those believers had the witness of the (postles who had been with Jesus during Fis earthly ministry .

and then Tarl points out to Clusthy, "And that from a chief" thou hast known the Holy Scriptures which are able to make three wise wate solvation through "att which is in Christ Jesus.

There is the entire purpose of God sending forth Mis Word. It is all tied up in the salvation We offers through Jacks Jurist.

So having said these preceeding remarks, Faul now goes on the to the elaboration of the meaning of "INSPIRATION."

In the 16th verse he begins: "All Scripture is given." Now the word for"all" when used without the article, or in other words when "all" stand by itself as in this inclunce and locard, say "All the Scripture". but simply says, "All Scripture," then it actually means "Tvery." This then makes it nore lefinite. "Tvory Coristane" makes it the absolutely each Sm Scripture, all of them, with no exceptions "are given." But how were they given? "hey were "Given by Institution of God." Now what does the word "INSFIRATOION" mean? It is made up of two Greek words. Institutions The word is: ""HEOFNEUSTOS". The first word is "THEO." You may recognize it as being the first part of our English word "UNCOLDBY." "THEO" means "God." T.e second word is: "PNEUSTOS" which means "To breathe." You may recognize from the word ""neuslas" car Inglieh demivation of "Dreamatio" which and we have pneumatic tools, pneumatic tires, and that simply means air is used in those products. But the air Faul is speaking of is actually the "Breath of God." Into each and every 3 ripture, ALL, or WARY Scripture is fol Breathed. This sets them apart as simply being something insuired or written by a sublen burst of inspiration such as may motivate a songwriter, or an athlete when he is correting, and gets fired up for the moment. The deeper theological meaning of this word "Inspiration" is that God's Holy Spirit breathed into all of the Bible what God wanted there." You may recall from the book of Acts at Fentecost the disciples were all acsembled in the Upper Room and there came like the "Rush of a mighty wind tongues as of fire." There we have the same word for wind, that is, "Pneuma! That was God's wind, God's breath, God's Holy Spirit revealed for the start of the early Church.

So now that we have the meaning of "Inspiration" we need to look at the purpose of "Inspiration." As we continue in the 16th verse we see that Paul tells us, "All Scripture, (or, every Scripture), is given by God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness."

Now here we have four benefits or four things which the "Inspiration" by God will is profitable for the believer. The word "profitable" interpreted correctly means "advantage". So Faul is saying that "Inspiration is advantagous" to the believer and he then gives the wiffe four different ways. First, it is advantageous for "doctrine." "Doctrine" is literally teaching. And what is it that should be taught in the church for believers? It is what we believe and why we believe it. It is doctrine that we take our stand in the church against the things of the world.

Then Paul states that "Inspiration" is advantageous for "reproof. The word for "reproof" here is one that suggests "conviction, rebuke, and discipline." These words all have to do with the proper conduct as a church member, or as a believer. We are to be convicted in our hearts when we sin and err in -2-

In the 16th verse he begins: "All Scripture is given." Now the word for"all" when used without the article, or in other words when "all" stand by itself as in this instance and locar', say "All the Scripture". but simply says, "All Scripture," then it actually means "Every." This then makes it more lefinite. "Wery Coriphune" makes is the absolutely each fr Scripture, all of them, with no exceptions "are given." But how were they given? "hey were "Given by Institution of Red." Now what does the word "INSFIRATOION" mean? It is made up of two Greek words. Therefirst wordring "he word is: ""HEOFNEUSTOS". The first word is "THEO." You may recognize it as being the first part of our English word ". MICLORY." "THEO" means "God." T, e second word is: "PNEUSTOS" which means ""o breathe." You may recognize from the word "Pneusos" our Indial devivation of "Presmutic" which and we have pneumatic tools, pneumatic tires, and that simply means air is used in those products. But the air Faul is speaking of is actually the "Breath of God." Into each and every 3 ripture, ALL, or WORY Scripture is Gol Breathed. This sets them apart as simply being something insuized or written by a sublen burst of inspiration such as may motivate a songwriter, on an ethlete when he is conneting, and gets fired up for the moment. The deeper theological meaning of this word "Inspiration" is that God's Holy Spirit breathed into all of the Bible what God wanted there." You may recall from the book of Acts at Fentecost the disciples were all acsembled in the Upper Room and there came like the "Rush of a mighty wind tongues as of fire." There we have the same word for wind, that is, "Pneuma! That was God's wind, God's breath, God's Holy Spirit revealed for the start of the early Church.

So now that we have the meaning of "Inspiration" we need to look at the purpose of "Inspiration." As we continue in the 16th verse we see that Paul tells us, "All Scripture, (or, every Scripture), is given by God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness."

Now here we have four benefits or four things which the "Inspiration" by God will is profitable for the believer. The word "profitable" interpreted correctly means "advantage". So Faul is saying that "Inspiration is advantagous" to the believer and he then gives the diffe four different ways. First, it is advantageous for "doctrine." "Doctrine" is literally teaching. And what is it that should be taught in the church for believers? It is what we believe and why we believe it. It is doctrine that we take our stand in the church against the things of the world.

Then Paul states that "Inspiration" is advantageous for "reproof. The word for "reproof" here is one that suggests "conviction, rebuke, and discipline." These words all have to do with the proper conduct as a church member, or as a believer. Te are to be convicted in our hearts when we sin and err in our private lives and in our church lives. God's ford will do this. Dwight L. Moody said, "Dither the Dible will keep you from sin, or sin will keep you from the Dible. And if we think pf about that we realize that when we read and meditate on Dod's Ford we are convicted of what we may do that is wrong and we are led to correct it. Dut if we don't know what fol's lord tells us thout living the Puristica life we may be involved in all sorts of worldly this and this potential of the make the comparison of what we fid must before we came to know the Lord, and what we do after its we come to Nim, (providing we are working at moving in the fifth), we can ste a bla difference, gan' we?

"inn Paul sars part "Inginition" is alwants tons "or "composition." This word means, "To restore and improve." The meaning is to place the believer on the might path. It is also int realing to note that have be words "reproof and correction" are only found here in this text in the New Listament. This should speak to us the of the importance that is place' apon proper knowledge of behaviour for the believer. then Paul wraps this up with the words, ""or instruction in mighteousness." What that means is, "Education through fiscipline." The underlying root of the word "instruction in the first part of the word is, "child," or "little boy." Bo what Paul is saving is that the Inspiration of Pol's ford is to as like a reacher for a believer, giving him he recommended cipling for his life, much like a small boy is to be taught. And again, the meason for it is to train a believer in ri Weousness. After we come to Christ, then we begin basic training in the now, why, and what of being a Christian is. " strive coverl signeousness be ause Jour broame our sighterward and the of The second rade righteous before God.

And all of this Paul says as we pred in verse 17 is, "That the mea of of may be perfect, thoroughly furnished unto good works."

W, must point out amain that the word "perfect" does not mean without sin in this life, but it means that if we seek after odliness and rifteousness we are male perfect in fold in the seek after odlines and following our Saviour. Always, our aim is to "Be perfect, even as our "eavenly Father is perfect," as Jesus has said we should be and do in the formon on the mount. All of this furnishes us for the life of a believer.

(Illustration of woman who didn't believe what a preacher preached about) i preacher was in leattle, "ashington and after he had preached on night believe as will be in, " 'n a new 'orn "selfing," " He said, "That's great." "But," she said, "I don't agree with corrething possible. You don't believe in the women's liberation movement, do you!" He said, "I certainly do not." The said, "You even sound like you believe the man husband in the herd of the wife, and the is to submit to him." He said, "Yes, God and I do." Then she said, "There do you find that?" And he anthere', "Is the Bible in Faul's letter to the "pleating, chapter 5," and he musted the verses. In the aldel, "And further, my wife woolln't have it any other way, and most Cominction sives wouldn't have it and other way." She said, "Ell, I can't scrept that." To said, "I thought you said you were a Christian?" The said, "I am." To asker, "Tell, how did you get saved?" And she answered, "I heard someone preaching the Tible and "score to Conict." "How did you know what he was preaching was the of" "Well, it came from the Bible." "How do you know the Bible is true? If How do you know the part you heard is true? If God would lie about the Christian home, why wouldn't He lie about falvation?"

And you see, this is the point! If we don't believe the Bible we are calling God a liar. W either believe the Bible is the Revelation of God, and it is the Inspired Word of God, or then God is a liar and we may as well be atheists. Jesus said in John 17:17, "Sanctify them through Thy truth; Thy word is truth."

Now if Jesus C_urist the One we profess to be our Saviour prayed that God would sanctify those who come to Him, or in other words set them apart from the worldly life through His Word, Cod's Word, and then add that God's Word is truth, then whonkin what is anyone who calls God's Word wrong, anything but a liar?

We don't know all of the ins and outs of God's Inspiration with explanations of how and why He used certain people. But this we do know: If we are willing to read God's Word, looking for His enlightenment, He will open His inspired Word to us and wexwith our faith will be expanded and we will grow in our Caristian walk. But we must be willing to submit to the discipline of reading God's Word, looking to the author and finisher of our faith to open our minds, our hearts, and our eyes to Him. The submit was any submit we were the submit was any submit with the submit was any submit we were the submit was any sub (Illustrations of Sir William Ramsey and Charles Whitsholt) Sir William Ramsey was one of the intellectuals of his day who believed the Bible was absolutely unreliable. He set out to prove it. But as he began to gather evidence to prove his point by dirging in the ancient ruins, he doon discovered that the New Testament was accurate down to its smallest detail. Because of this he not only embraced Christianity, but entered the ministry. We went on to become one of the most important contributors to Biblical Archaeology.

"The Word Is: Inerrant"

Scripture: Matthew 5:17-19; 22:23-33

Standard Cil Company wanted to discover oil in the Middle East. But they had no knowledge that oil was present in that men. One of the directors of the company who was a Christian was reading the Bible one day. He was of the company who was a Christian was reading the Bible one day. He was reading from Exodus and one verse in particular stood out. He was reading from Exodus ?, and the 3rd verse struck a responsive chord. Te read, "in when she could not longer like Lim, she took for him an ark of bulrushes, and daubed it with slime and with pitch, and put the child therin; and she laid it in the flags by the river's brink." Being an oil man, his mind perked up at the word "bitch." He knew that pitch was a byproluct of oil, and if a slave could find pitch in Daylt, there must be oil somewhere near-by. And so on the basis of one word in one verse, Charles Whitsholt was sent to Egypt by Charlerd Oil to find oil. And he did.

We have takked about God's ford as being Revelation, and last week of it being Inspired. Today, we are going to look at God's Word as being "Inerrant." The word "Inerrant" means simply, "without error." And if you believe this, you are in a small minority. In fact, the largest majority of so called "Chriatian ministers and workers" do not kax accept this belief. Many of them will condede that God has givenn His revelation through the Dible, and many of them will concele that parts of Col's Word is inspired. But to believe that God's ford is without error as is the tiven in the original manuscripts is something only an iting yould believe. So if you this morning believe the Bible is Inerrant, then let me address you as "Fellow Idiots."

('uote by Richard ... DeHaan teacher of the Radio Bible Class) Some people think of me as a relic from the ancient past because I be-lieve the Bible was riven as the inspired, inspired for of the Living God. One man, for example told me he could hardly believe his ears when he heard our program. He then went on to xxx accuse me of being a nean-derthal, and a hopeless simpleton to accept as fact the "tall tales" (as he put)it recorded in maximum the Scriptures.

(Quote by Dr. James Hontgomery Poice) Juiting in Uplace, a publication of the Universitial Journal of Biblical Inerrancy, James Montgoemery Doice shared some advice he gives when speaking to students, especially to seminarians. He says to them: If you want to have a reputation for being very wise today and are vall-ing to risk looking like a fool 20 years from now, point out the "errors" in the Bible. But if like Charles Haddon (purgeon, you are willing to be thought a fool now, knowing that in 20 or 30 years your position will be vindicated, then take your stand on the inerrancy of this Book.

Now what both of these men are stating has been brought home to me in the ministerial circles of the United Church of Christ. The majority of the U.C.C. ministers that I have had contact with think anyone who believes the

Some good examples of these beliefs concern Abraham, Jericho, and Daniel. The Biblical scholars mixihenclation those "Form Jriticism" scholars wild that Abraham was not a real man, he never existed. Then archaeology dug up some evidence that Abraham was not only a real man, but every town and city spoken of about him did indeed exist. The theory was advanced that the walls surrounding Jericho never fell flat after the Israelites wrike marahed around it seven times. Archaeology proved that the walls all around the ancient town were flattened as though an explosion had suddenly occupred. They said there never was a man named Daniel, and discoveries after that proclamation not only provel there was such a man, but that he was everything written about him in ancient Eabylon. So you see, the Bible proves itself over and over and it is those who refuse to believe it is Inerrant who end up with edge on their faces.

But let's look at the Bible today and try to prove this for ourselves. First, what did Jesus say about God's Word. In our Conipture this morning we read first from With Termon on the Lount. He told His disciples and listeners, """ ink not that I am come to destroy the law, or the prophets: I am not come to destroy, but to fulfill."

Jesus made it known that His task was not to do away with what God had thus far given. Instead, Jesus was to bring to pass what God had promised. Then We added, "For verily I say unto you, "Till heaven and earth pass, nne jot or one tittle shall in no wise pass fror the law, till all be ful-

Here was that God in human form telling mankind that not one little punctuation mark would disappear from God's Word. The smallest letter of the Hebrew alphabet is the letter "Yod." There are two other letters which are similar to it and the only distinction is a small line at the bottom on them. What Jesus was saving was that even the smallest little part of a leter NOT CHARGE ON ARE, BE ALTERES

If the Bible had originally been written in English Jesus would have been saying, "Not one dot over an "I" or the crossing of a "T" will pass from the law before it is fulfilled. And then Jesus goes on to stress the importance "Thosoever therefore shall break one of these of the commandments by saying, "Thosoever therefore shall break one of these least commandments, and shall teach men so, he shall be called the least in the kingdom of heaven: but whosoever shall do and teach them, the same shall be called growt in the kniglom of "eaven."

To Jesus it was imperative that a person believe what Coshad written and it was not to be tempered with.

Deplaps a more vivid illustration is what we read to its first dia ser of this same Gospel. There we read of a group of people called Sadducees who wanted to trick Jesus with a trick runsbion. The Their question backfired on them and Jeass trught them a lesson about God and His Word. There are several lessons within this portion of Coripture, but the ope I would like to joint out i. found in the 32 for and 32 pd verses. Jesus said, "But as touching the resurrection of the loud, have yo not read that which was spoken unto you by Bod, saying, 'I am the God of Abraham, and the Bod of spoken unto you by God, saying, 'I am the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the Cod of Jacob'.' God is not the God of the dead, but of the living."

Now what impact did that have on the people? In the 34th verse we read, "And when the multitude heard this, they were astonished at His doctrine." Now what was it He taught that was so revolutionary? First He taught them about God's word. This was what we speken to them by God. They had not only the oral, but the written tradition of Red talking and working through Moses. Jesus was referring to the time when God spoke to xix Moses from the burning bush. Notice what God said, "I am the God of Abraham, Isaac, and Jagob. He didn't say, "I was the God of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob; now, I will be the God of A raham, Isaac, and Jacob; and the strange thing about this is that these men were long since dead. Now how could God be their God if they were dead? Jesus was proving that there is life beyond the grave, that there is an eternity to be lived with God. He placed His teaching in the present tense, these men were alive and living with God when God daid that to Moses. Jesus was speaking of the reliability of God's Word. and that it was not without error. Now if Jesus Himself believed God's Word to be completely accurate and true, shouldn't we?

But since we live in a scientific age, there are sceptics who will not take even the words of Jesus at face value. To them God has proved the value of Jesus' words when He said, "SEek and ye shall find, knowk and it shall be opened unto you."

Let's look at these latter day proofs. Job said as we read in chapter 26:7: He stretcheth out the north over the empty place and hangeth the earth upon nothing."

A statement like this was laughed at by ancient authorities. The Esyptians believed that the earth rested on pillars, and the Greeks believed it rested on the back of Ailas. But Job said the earth was suspended in space. How did he know? God revealed it to him and this theory has been proved by many scientists since. What keeps all of the universe from bumping into one another as each star, or planet, or sun, or surth keeps its appointed orbit. It couldn't have just happened. God gave His Word to Job living in an unscientific age to prove what would only be discovered centuries later by people on scientific quests.

Then we can see the prophetic and hostoric accuracy of 'cripture. In Ezekiel chapter 26, 'zekiel had predicted the downfall of tyre and within a few years it had core to past. But there was a sect of the prophecy which hid not come true and therefore, Daskiel was thought to be trong. He wrote in the 12th verse of that chapter, "And they shall make a spoil of thy riches, the 12th verse of that chapter, "And they shall make a spoil of thy richos, and make a prey of thy merchandise: and they shall break down thy wills, and destroy thy pleasant xinxes houses: and they shall lay thy stones and thy timber and thy fust in the milst of the same."

This did not come to pass. But in 334 B.C. Alexander the Great ordered his soldiers to gather the ruins of the old coastland city of Fyre and dump them into the water. His men even scraped the barerook ground down to the bure rock. They used these materials to build a causeway to a small offshore island which was one of the idlands the former inhebituat: of Two had fled to. The Greeks then marched over the causeway onto the island and captured these who had fled there. Rebiel's groplecy was fulfilled exactly.

There are over 300 prophecies concerning denue which have come to pass either completely or in part. Knwxiswitypessiblewithstathis can what are the odds of this taking place? They are astronomical. Now does this sound like God's Word is Inerrant? Xnyans any truly thinking person should come to the conclusion that it is.

One further proof that God's Word was protected in its translation from one generation to the other is in the fact how Jewish scholars did so. The Jewish scribes in transcribing the Tript Scriptures before Christ were very exacting. First, they would count every word, and every latter in each portion they were copying. After the work was completel, every word and letter were counted upsin at if the totals til not tally, the entire transcript were destroyed, and the work started all over a main. . certain kind of ink was used and the work started all over a main. . certain kind of ink was used and the work was pronounced alond by the scribe and then which how is the term "God" was written, the pen was wiped completely dry and fresh ink was used. Before recording the name Jehovah, the one doing the copying would wash his entire holy with weter. After the translation was completed, $f one mistake was found the entire manuscript was destroyed. Does that sound like dod's "ord was carelessly handled? Of course not.

But repardless of what we may believe about the Bible, all of it means nothing if the Fible is not demonstrated in our lives. The Bible should make a change in each of us individually. Noody and, "Either the Bible will keep you from sin, or sin will been now from the Dible. What do we believe about the Bible? How is it affecting our lives? Mahatma Ghandi was a man who had seriously considered converting to Upistianity. He is reported to have once said, "I would be a Thristian, if it were not for Christians." What he failed to see was the great principles of the Bible being lived out in the lives of Christians. W4 should believe that God's Word is "Revelation;" that it is "Inspired;" and that it is "Inerrant." But with these beliefs about the Bible it should show in how we live in our daily lives because God is using it to transform us into EC inc.

"Fear Not, Sacharias"

It was still pitch black early in the morning of a day in the first week of October in the year 748 and within the temple the superintending priest made sure that all was prepared for the morning worship. About 50 priests were on duty and were divided into two groups. They went throughout the temple by torchlight inspecting the temple. When they had completed this task, the two groups met at a certain place and marched to the Hall of Hewn Polished Stones to receive their assignments for the day. Twice before, and twice after the temple gates were opened for the day, the lot was used to designate who would serve where.

The first lot was cast and those priests went about the temple making the preparations working in the darkness with only the fitful flow of the flame which still glowed on the altar of burnt offering. Just before daybreak the lot was cast a second time to designate those who were to trim the golden candlestick and prepare the altar of incense within the Holy Place. A priest stationed on the highest pinnacle of the temple called out that the dawn had just broken and the huge temple gates were now swung open on their hinges, while a threefold blast from the silver trumpets was blown by still other priests.

It was now time for the morning sacrifice to be prepared. The lamb was broug forth and tied on the altar as tradition had said Isaac was bound and that whilesthespriestssentikiedschetheshtantesstertstrettertestertestert Transmissisteronyduipybax lot merespreparing thesessaya

While the sacrifice was being prepared the priests whose lot it was had mrepared the "oly Place for the most solemn part of the service and bloc was the offering of the incense. All the priests were g thered to gether while the priest in charge sprinkled the blood from a golden bowl on the altar. Now a third lot was cast and this determined who would be the chosen one to offer the incense. This bonor fell to a priest only once in his lifetime, and never again. One of those priests was man named Jacharias. He was at least 60 years old because at are 60 was considered the start of aredness. Zacharias was different from the other priests because he diln't resile in Jerusalem or Jericho where the other priests lived when not on duty. Instead he lived in a smell town cout' of Ferusalam. He was considered an idiot by the learned priests because he was unlearned. The term suggested one who was illiterate, ignorant, or very common. and all this marred the priestly function, supposedly. And so it was to Tachartas this honor now fell. He had to choose two special friends or relatives to assist him in his duties. One would remove the remains xixtle from the altar from the service of the night pelore, and plen reture moving backwards avon from the altar. The second one was to xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx from the altar of the burnt offening and to correct those coals on the altar of incense, and then retire moving backwards.

Then the organ sounded and this was the signal for the wors ipers to jow prostrate before the Lord and offer their silent worship. At a special signal, the priest selected to offer the incense then approached the altar of incense in the Holy Place to spread the incense on the altar. This was the most solemn part of the worship. The incense represented Israel's accepted prayers. Those prayers were in a sense ascending to God in the smoke from the incense. Jacharias was to waitk wait until the incense was kindled, and then he should have moved backwords out of the Tolm Place. So we read, "And there appeared unto him an encel of the Lordstanding on the right side of the alter of incense." vs 11.

and like anyone who would encounter an angel we read, "And when Zacharias saw him, he was troubled, and fear fell upon him.

But Zacharias had nothing to fear and we read, "But the angel said unto him, "Fear not, Lacharies: for thy proper is loard; shi the side Elizabeth shall hear thes a son, and thou shalt cell his name Join."

- scharing and Dizobet's had probably prayed over and over for a child. It was something that priests were to have. There were priests who divorced their wives and married others because their wives diin't bear sons to them. But Zacharias and Elizabeth remained married and had probably resolved to spend their days tomether childle . But now Zacharias was told this. No wouldn's he afraid:

The angel added, "And thou shalt have joy and cladness; and many shall re-joice at his birth. For he shall be great in the sight of the bord, and shall drink neither x*xxxxxx wine nor strong (rink; and he shall be filled with the "oly .' out, even from 'is motion' youb." you li-15

This boy was to be like Gamson who was a Mazarite. And he was to be filled with the Hely Tripit even before he was born.

And the angel added, "And many of the chillren of Israel shall he turn to the Lord their God. And he shall go before Fim in the spirit and power of Tri-jah, to turn the hearts of the fathers to the children, and the disobedient to the wisdom of the just; to make ready a reofle preparal for the Lori." Malachi ended his prophecy with the words found in the 4th chapter, verses 5 and 6, (read those). Now the angle was not saying that John would be the prophet Elijah, he was merely saying that he would have the spirit and power of Ulijah. The silence of over 400 years was now being broken with the message that God was going to intervene in the life of one of his servants.

Now that Zacharias has heard this he questions the angel and we read in verse 18, "And Zacharias said unto the angel, 'whereby shall I know this? for I am an old man, and my wife well stricken in years." "And the angel answerin; said, unto him, I am Gabriel, that stand in the presence of God; and am sent to speak unto thee, and to show they these glad tidings. And, behold, they shalt be dumb and not able to speak, until the day that these things shall be performed, because they believed not my words, which shall be fulfilled in their sector."

By Zacharias questioning how this could happen he was showing doubt. And although he didn't ask for a sign of this possibility, it is similar to that request. So because of this, the angel gave him a sign and that sign was his inability to speak until the child would be born.

But Zacharias had been inside the Holy Place for a long period of time and the people were waiting for him to come out and pronounce the benediction. His delay meant that something had happened to him. And when he did come out the evidence was that he could not speak. He pronounced the benediction with motions and the people were convinced that he had seen a vision. Then we are told that when his tour of duty in the temple was over he went back home to his wife who had conceived and now they were both in seclusion. There are several things we can see in this event. One of the glaring truths concerns age. That God did through Zacharias and Elizabeth proves that age is no barrier with God. We like to think that we can say, "I'm too old to do that. I'm retired," etc, and we make excuses. Look at what Zacharias did. Exactly the same as anyone would. "My wife and I are too old to have children. Now it may be a certainty that God does take away childbearing at a certain age, but He still wants our service far beyond our retirement years Our attitude should be like the 90 year old man who went to the doctor.

(Illustration of 90 year-old man and doctor's advice).

A man in his neneties went to the doctor with kneww trouble. The doctor said, "At your age, what do you expect?" "I expect you to fix my knee," was the reply; "my other knee's the same age and it works fine."

Are is only a barrier if we are willing to let it be that. God wants to use all of us regardless of age.

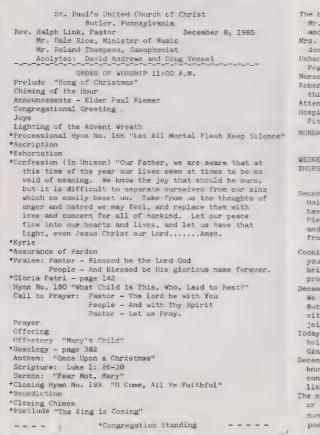

I think another lesson this story teaches us involves our approach to whatever the situation may be. I'm sure that Zacharias was visibly shaken by the event he was involved in. But don't you think that many, many times as life went on and there was no evidence that they would ever be parents that he griped and complained that things weren't just as they could be, or ourht to be? I would believe that "acharias was no different than any of us with the same desires, the same feelings and the same things that urset us. And face it, don't we all get impatient with life when it doesn't give us the desired effects we want?

(Illustration of boy, ice crear, and waitress) A small boy about ten years old or so, came into the restaurant and sat at the counter. The waitress came over, put a class of water in front of him, and asked what he wanted. "How much is an ice cream sundae," He asked. "Fifty cent," replied the waitress. The little fellow pulled his hand out of his pocket and studied a number of could be had clutched in it.

"How much is a dish of plain ice cream!" he asked. There were a lot of people at the counter and the waitness was retting impatient. "Thirty five cent," she said bruscuely. Leain, he counted the coins while the waitness stood arunning on the counter. "I'll have the plain ice cream please," he said. The waitness took the money, brought the ice cream and while away. Then she came back in a few minutes the boy was more and the empty dish sat on the counter. The stared at that onthy dish and then swallows: hard at what the same. Then, placed neatly beside the dish were two nickels and five pennies - her tip. The boy had the fifty cents for the sundae, but she wouldn't have gotten a tip. He had sacrificed on himself to reward her for her service. That waitness kept those coins as a reminder that the little person is just as important as the big one.

This is what fod fid with Sacharias. He was a little man in the sight of the other priests; a nobody; considered an illiterate. But God took that noboly and brought the fore-muner to the loss in from him. The world looks up to the makes somebodys and impores the nobodys. They did the same with Jesus. But To bold them, "the very stone which the builders rejected has now become the head of the corner."

", may think we're too old, or have nothing to offer to God with our feeble little lives. But Bod will take each of us and use up for His purpose. Whatever the may be and use up for His glory. But we must be willing and able to let Win do that with us. That mercare ix was to Eacharias, "Fear Not," which meant, "Don't be afraid of what well rants to be through you." That message is still the same today to up from God. "Fear Not," whatever your name is, God wants to do a work through you if you will let Him.

The beautiful flowers on the altar have been placed by Mr. & Mrs. Alvin Tait and Pam in memory of Ralph Tait and Mr. & Mrs. John Sweeney. Mrs. Betty Tressler will greet the congregation at the

"Fear Not, Mary"

Scripture: Luke 1:26-38

Recently we had two visitors in our country who caused quite a stir. They were going to be traveling among us and rubbing elbows with the most common Americans which caused a few controversies. This type of visit by them prompted TV stations to devote special time to advise Americans how to address them if they happened to meet them on the street or in a store. The couple of course were Trince Phillip and Princess Diane of Great Britain. Americans are not accustomed to meeting royalty and so their visit was something which made many people stand back in awe of them. How much more then do we stand in swe of God?

(Illustration of professor of psychology and children.)

A profeesor of psychology had no cildren of hi. own, but when he saw one of the neighbors scelding or runishing - cild he would say, "You should love your child not punish him." One hot summer day the proffessor was working or his driveway. He had fresh concrete poured in a certain area and had it smoothed and troweled just right. He decided to go into the house to take a break. He walked toward the house and just as he was ready to go in the door, out of the corner of his eye he saw a neighbor boy run up the driveway and step into the fresh cement. He yelled at the boy and pulled him out of the cement and turned him over his knee to paddle him. A neighbor was trimming his hedges and when he saw this he said to the professor, "watch it, professor! Don't you remember? You must love the child, not punish him." At this the professor yelled back angrily, "I do love him in the abstract, but not in the concrete."

Somehow we picture God in this manner. W. think of Him loving us abstractedly. It is some sort of mystical something we cannot explain, but it is real and we can accept it. But to believe that God actually loves us in a real m and tangible way is difficult to take, or explain. That is why I believe there is a thread running through the Gospels directly from God which is there to show that God comes to comfort and help mankind and in not to be feared. This doesn't mean that we treat God as a "Dig Buddy" or "Old Pal." God sought throughout all of history to dre w closer to mankind even though man guite often sought to withdraw from God. Thus God's intervention into the lives of Biblical people is seen in the words, "Pear Not." This is the theme we are using in our Advent series. Ist week we looked the angel Gabriel coming to Zacharias and telling him, "Fear Not, Zacharias." This week we are looking at the Virgin Mary and the message is, "Fear not, Mary," Our Scripture for this morning begins with the 26th verse of Luke 1. There we read, "And in the sixth month the angel Tabriel was sent from God unto a city of Galilee, named Nazareth.

Now what does that mean? Noll, if we remember the preceeding events ending in the 24th verse, we understand the meaning. Backing up to that verse we read, "And after those days his wife Flizabeth conceived and hid herself five months."

Elizabeth was a cousin of Mary and in the sixth month of her pregnancy, Mary was visited by this same angel Gabriel. Last week we had said to remember what this 24th verse said about "five months." We had also said that there is much evidence that the time of the morning service in which Eacharias was confronted by Gabriel was probably in the 1st week of October. Now if we count from October, (on hand, count five fingers, and this brings us to March.) Elizabeth hid herself until March of the following year. Knextet So, in the sixth month, April, Mary is informative confronted by the same angel Gabriel and we read he was sent, fead verse 27. Then the angel spoke to her, read verse 28.

The reaction of Mary was exactly the same as that of the priest Wacharias. We read in versel?, "And when he saw him, he was troubled, and fear fell upon him." When saw him, "She was troubled." The same feeling, the same fear. And who wouldn't have fear? Here was a messenger of the Most Wich Cod paying a visit to a mere mortal. Then we read, "And the angel said unto her, "Fear Not, Mary: for thou hast found favor with God. And, behold, thou shalt conceive in thy womb, and bring forth a son, and shals call lis name Jesus. He shall be great, and shall be called the Son of the Highest: and the Lord God shall give unto Him the throne of His Father David: And He shall reign over the house of Jacob for ever; and of His kingdom there shall be no end." verses 30-33.

But although Mary had the same feeling as Zacharias she did not ask for a sign that this would be so. Rather, she asked a practical question. In verse 34 we read, "Then said Mary unto the angel, 'Low shall this be, ...eing I 'mow not a man."

Here was only encoded to drawh and they would be pettin more in the near future. So the angel explains to her, verses 35-37. The main thing which is pointed out here and which should be stressed is that, "With God nothing shall be impossible."

God is always, the God of the impossible. He took an ordinary priest like Aacharias and made him the father of John the Baptiss the forerunner of the Messiah. As we said last week, "acharias was considered as an "idiot" because he was unlearned, unlettered, and as common as dirt. But God saw fit not only to use this common person, but to bless he and his wife with a child in their old age.

Now, He was going to take a common young girl and let her be the mother of the Messiah. We need to go back to the end of the 36th verse and read again, "And this is the sixth month with her, who was called barrer."

Here is a good place to speak about the date concerning the birth of Jesus. I'm sure that most of you have read and heard that the date of December 25th couldn't possibly be the date of Jesus' birth. There is the story that the 25th of December was a pagan festival which actually started around the 22nd of December celebrating the lengthening of the days leading toward the end of winter. This festival was chosen as the birth of Jesus to placate the pagangheathens who had been taken into the early C ristion church and gave them and Christians a reason to celebrate. Well, that may be, but we have a little same many people play when a young couple set married. Especially, if they get married in a hurry. I recall a young fellow coming home on leave from the army for a short period of time and he and his sirlfriend getting married right away. Many people knew for certain the girl was pregnant and they had to get married. And sure enough, 4 years later she gave birth to a baby boy. Well using that manner of counting as we do for some couples getting married, let's count concerning this Scripture. Elizabeth wasxid became pregnant in October and hidfor 5 months, then the angel came to Mary in Elizabeth's six month to announce she was to become pregnant. So that's, (count on fingers, October, November, December, Hanuary, February, March, April). So Arrithmas between March and April Mary became pregnant and then it is, May, June, July, August September, October, November, December. Do you see the possibility that it may well have been in late December that xix Jesus was born? It doesn't really make any difference, but it's nice to think that we are so very close to the actuall time of Jesus' birth in late December.

So after Mary is given the information about this event by Gabriel we read, "And Mary said, 'Behold the handmaid of the Lord; be it unto me according to thy word.' And the angel departed from her."

Once again dote first as last week, this Scripture points out two things which God did. The first is that He did the impossible. When we compare the two incidents we see that Tacharias and Elizabeth were married for many years and were childless. God made it possible that Elizabeth could conceivecin her old age and this she did. But in Mary's case, God took a young girl who was only engaged and she became pregnant through the Holy Spirit. This is important from the standpoint that the birt conception and birth of Jesus were not the result of anything done by man. In the eyes of the community Mary was guilty of being immoral and guilty of having an illegitimate child. This is one reason the Jews could not then, nor up to this time accept Jesus as the Messiah. He was considered to be illegitimate and no amount of reasoning with second or can convince certain Jews that God's Holy Spirit was responsible for Mary's conception.

The importance of this point is that it makes a great deal of difference whether we believe that Jesus was born of the Virgin hary. Much of the latest Biblical scholarship deals with disproving this doctrine. And the problem with not accepting this as the doctrine we should have is that Josus becomes no different than any one of us. So if Jesus was known in a normal manner, and born in a normal manner, why is He so special among all mankind? Why can't one of you men here this morning claim to be Jesus Christ? If everything about Jesus was and is exectly the same of my other man, ica I, couldn't participie the inviour hod sent into the world. God used a miracle to have the forerunner of the Messiah come to earth and He used a special miracle for the Messiah to be conceived and born. It is not easier to accept that Elizabeth could have a child after the childbearing are, than it is to accept the Virgin Birth of Jesus. If you believe the one, you xhowi shouldn't have trouble believing the other.

The second thing that God did in this incident is much like the miracle He performed in the xife lives of Elizabeth and 7acharias.

(Illustration of woman spending Christmas in San Fran & traveling on Christmas Day, (Sunday), in order to be back to work on Monday)

Mas bay, (Sumary, is to druck and bur in restaurant. Fric held out self the bur and he meld whith Take care of this baby lady" bur said. ARound lump in throat said, "I will." Bur pry Eric loose, but Eric hang on. "Twank you and God bless you Ma'am. You've given me my Christmas gift." God took the lowliest and gave the world its first Christmas present. That present came in the form of an unwanted baby, considered an illegitimate child, born in a dirty stable and He chansed the whole world. Haul was inspired to write, 1 Cor. 1:27-28, (read there). What is more foclish than believing in miracles? What is more weak than a baby? Put God chose there means to bring Jesus into the world. Jeen we stand in the presence of such majesty can we do anything elre but fear? Yet, God reaches out to the world and says, "Fear Not," because He wants to have a personal relationship with each one of us. And that is only possible through the miracle of a baby being born and becoming "Christ the Lord. He came for you and me. "Fear not!"

"Fear Not, Joseph"

Scripture: Matthew 1:18-25

The House of David had sunk to its lowest depths and the man who reigned on the throne as King of Israel was not the rightful monarch. In some manner of subterfuge the family of Herod's claimed the throne for themselves and their ancestors. Matthew records for us the proper line of succession in the first chapter of his Gospel. If we look at the 6th verse we read, "And Jesse begat David the king; and David the king begat Solomon of her that had been the wife of Urias; and Solomon begat Rehoboam; and Rehoboam begat Abia; and Abia begat Asa;"

And on it reads down through history until Matthew records in the 16th verse, "And Jacob begat Joseph the husband of Mary, of whom was born Jesus who is called Christ."

The rightful king of Israel was relegated to the role of being a simple Exception village carpenter in Nazareth. No don't know how old Joseph was only that he must have been older than Mary. xxxxxx We first looked at the announcement to Zacharias that he and his wife would be able to have a child in their old age and that child was to be John the Baptist, the one who would go before, or preceed the Messiah. John was to prepare the way for the deliverer of Israel. Then we looked at the announcement to Mary that she was being honored by God with the privilege of bearing the Messiah. In each of these instances Zacharias and Mary were told to "Fear Not." Mary went to visit her cousin Elizabeth and we read in the 1st chapter of Luke that she stayed with her for 3 months. Now if we figure again as we did last week we come to the conclusion; Elizabeth became pregnant and went into hiding for 5 months; then Mary was visited by the angel in the 6th month of Elizabeth's pregnancy; and then Mary went ot visit her and stayed with her for 3months. Added together that makes nine months and time for Elizabeth to give birth to her son. So before this took place, Mary left to go home to Mazareth. Arriving back home she probably told Joseph the events which were taking place in her life. Whether she confided to Joseph that the baby she was going to have was the result of God's Hely Dicit or not, we do not know. But we do know that this bit of news from Mary must have troubled him deeply. Matthew tries to explain it in this way, "Now the birth of Jesus Christ was on this wise: Then as His mother hary wis exposed to doing', before they one together, the second with child of the Holy pirit." In Israel, marriage was taken very seriously. They not only worked at keeping the marriage sacred, but the time before the wedding was just as importan to them. Most marriages were arranged by the families. This didn't rule out a fellow and girl falling in love and seeking to get married. But it was a means for the families to get the best possible mate for their sons or daughters. Whatever arrangements had been made by Mary's family and Joseph's we do not know. But we do know they were involved in an engagement period when Mary suddenly returned home, very obviously pregnant. The period of being espoused, or engaged as the word meant was for one year. After the one year waiting period the bridegroom appeared at the family residence of his bride to be and they were married and he took her to the home he had prepared for them. So Joseph was looking forward to claiming his bride. In all probe bility he had prepared a humble house for them to live in. He was perhaps spending that year making furniture and ecuipping that house with everything he possibly could provide to make his bride happy. Each thing that he did was not work, or a chore, but was done with love and devotion. So you can well imagine what he must have felt when he learned that the girl he loved so very much, the girl he had looked upon as pure and clean and decent, suddenly turned up pregnant. The phrase that Matthew uses in this 19th verse, "Defore they came together," simply means that there was no physical relation ship between Mary and Joseph. The one year waiting period was as binding as the subsequent marriage itself, yet, it involve no physical relationship during that time.

So Matthew then explains, "Then Jospeh her husband," Now how could he be considered her husband? The engagement period was so binding that the engaged couple were called husband and wife even before that their marriage was actually soleminzed. And we see the seriousness of this as we read on in this 19th verse. "Then Joseph her hisband, being a just man, and not willing to make her a public example, was minded to put her away privately." First we learn that Joseph was a "Just man." That means that according to to the Jewish law he observed it as any wood Jew should. It means that Joseph was an honorable man and he wanted to do what was right. He didn't want to declare Mary publicly as being an immoral woman and perhaps see her stoned for committing adultery, and so he decided that he would quietly divorce her. That meant he would draw up a divorce paper and before two witnesses he would declare he was divorcing her and then she could have her illegitimate child and suffer the disgrace and embarrassment involved in this situation. When we consider that even though he was only engaged to Mary that it required a divorce to sever the relationship, we can see the serious intent the Jews placed on the engagement. It was as binding as the marriage itself.

Joseph must have thought long and hard about this situation and Matthew tells us, "But while he thought on these things, behold, the angel of the Lord appeared unto him in a dream, saying, Joseph, thou son of D_vid, fear not to take unto thee Mary thy wife: for that which is conceived in her is of the Holy Spirit.'" verse 20.

Although Matthew tells that this is a dream, it must have been more real than any dream that Joseph ever had. The angel must gave Joseph the very same message he had given to Zacharias and Mary. That message was, "Fear Not." But notice that the angel refers to him as "Thou son of David." That meant that Joseph was the successor to the throne of D'vid. The

He had a right to that throne, but since it had been perverted through the years and the wrong people were on that throne, Joseph could lay no claim to it. But here the angel was reminding him of what was rightfully his. The dream always was that the rightful successor would come along and assert his right to sit on throne and to rule forever. That person was to be the Mess-iah and all good Jews when that. 'o for Joseph this just might be that a son of his was to be that king. Put we can understand Joseph's confusion when he knew that if Mary were to have a son it would be illegitimate and not be themse starts.

So now the angel has reminded bin of his ancestral lineage and he says, "Fear not to take unto thee Mary thy wife: for that which is conceived in her is of the Poly Ghost." Joseph is being told to marry Mary and legitimize the birth of her child.

He is also being told that all of this is from fod. Then the angel goes on, "And she shall bring forth a son, and thou shalt call his name, JEBUB: for he shall save his poorle from their sing."

Now there is another revelation that Joseph and all Jews for that matter would find hard to swallow. The Messiah according to their expectations was not to have this role. Although this redemption, or atogenent was one of by Joi Firoughout Tis corelations of Theorem 1, the principle role of the Messiah was conceived as being more political. The Messiah was going to come as a conquering here. He would assume the role of their king much like David, who would overthrow their enemies. But God had told them over and over that the Messiah would "save them from their sins." One example of this is to be found in Jeremiah 31:34, (read this). Here God is explaining in this chapter His new covenant with Tsrael and as the verse points out, He will "forgive their inicuity, and will remember their sin no more."

Then Matthew adds his editorial comment which is typical for him throughout his Gospel by saying, "Now all this was done, that it might be fulfilled which was spoken of the Lord by the prophet, saying, 'Behold, a virgin shall bring forth a son, and they shall call his name Emmanuel, which being interpreted is, God with us.'"

The prophet Isaiah had given the prophecy over 300 years before that God would come to earth and be born through a virgin. The fulfillment of this prophecy in this manner is what makes the birth of Jesus so unique. Matthew and Luke both stress this important doctrine for us and the reason was that in this manner God sets the birth of Jesus apart from all mankind. The miracle of Jesus' virgin birth makes it possible to believe that God actually came into our midst and lived among us. ""at is what Emmanuel means, "God with us."

And so because of this dream, Matthew adds, "Then Joseph being raised from sleep did as the angel of the lord had bidden hum, and took unto him his wife."

Here we see the importance of dreams in the lives of the people of Israel. In some of their writings it is pointed out that if a person sleeps for 7 days and does not dream he was to be called wicked. Alfred Edersheim in his book, "The Life And Times Of Jesus The Messiah," states: "A rood dream was one of three things popularly regarded as marks of God's favor; and so general was the belief in their significance, as to have passed into this popular saying: 'If any one sleeps seven days without dreaming (or rather, remembering his dream for interpretation), call him wicked (as being unremembered by God)."

The three things which were marks of God'S favor were: A good king, a fruitfu ful year, and a good dream." So we can see the significance placed upon dreams. Thus Joseph arose from his sleep and did as the angel had told him in this dream. Joseph was so convinced this was zompletely of God that he immediately took Mary as his wife. This broke all of the customs of the day since the one year waiting period had not elapsed. But Joseph was willing to suffer the shame along with Mary that she was going to have a baby which was conceived before she was married. By marrying Mary, Joseph also set the stage for their future departure to Bethlehem to observe the census, at which time Jesus was born. All of these future events were of course unknown to Joseph and Mary. Extrifx Marx End X with Joseph with extrining married x Exkin Mary and Joseph could not have traveled together to Bethlehem without being married. So we see that God took care of all of the details one by one.

Then there is one final point that Matthew gives us in this Scripture and we read in the 25th verse: "And knew her not till she had brought forth her first-born son: and he called his name JESUS."

The Greek word here for "knew" is EGINOSKO which has a sexual connotation. It literally means that Hoseph did not have sexual relations with Mary until after Jesus was born. Joseph was an honorable man chosen by God to be the one claimed as the earthly father of Jesus. He was willing to take the shame and humiliation thrown his way that he had to get married because his fiance was going to have a baby before they were legally married. Joseph married Mary in spite of the problems he knew would come their way because he wanted to to what God wantel from him. So trusting God all the way, Joseph named this son of Mary's, JESUS as the angel had instructed. This incident in the life of Joseph gives us an important insight into of life.

(Illustration of college student Paul, his new car given by his brother) It was Christmas Eve and Paul a college student came out of the house in which he was living at the time. As he stepped out the door he saw a street urchin walking around his shiny new car and admiring it. "Is this your car mister?" he asked. Paul nodded, "My brother rave it to me for Christmas." The boy looked astonished. "You mean your brother gave it to you and it didn't cost you nothin? Boy, I wish" He hesitated and Paul knew what he was going to wish. If was going to wish he had a brother like that. But what the boy wished startled Faul completely. "I wish," the boy went on, "That I could be a brother like that." Faul fooked at the boy in astonishment and then asked, "Would you like to go for a ride in my new car?" "Oh, I'd love that," the boy said. After a short ride the boy asked, "Mister, would you mind driving in front of my house?" Faul smiled because he thought he knew that the boy wanted to show off to the nieghbors that he was riding in a new car. But Faul was wrong again. "Will you stop right where those two steps are, and stay there til I come back out?" he asked. He ran into the house. In a little while Paul heard him coming back, but he wasn't coming fast. He was carry-ing his little polio-crippled brother. He sat him down on the bottom ing his little polio-crippled brother. He sat him down on the bottom step, squeezed up against him and pointed to the car. "There she is bud-dy, just like I said. His brother gave it to him for Christmas and it didn't cost him a cent. And someday, I'm gonna give you one just like it. Then you can see for yourself all the pretty Christmas windows that I've been telling you about." Ber Paul got out and lifted the little to the front seat of the car. The xkim shiney eyed older brother climbed in beside him and the three of them began a memorable holiday ride. That Christmas Eve Paul learned what Jesus meant when He said, 'It is more blessed to give, than to receive.'"

The older brother was thinking not of himself, but of making his brother happy. His welfare was his concern. This is exactly what Joseph did in looking after Mary's needs. He could easily have walked away from this situation, angel or no angel visitation, and said, "Not me! Find someone else. I don't want the responsibility." But he didn't and so he provided for the needs of the woman he loved enduring the shame which was inherent upon his actions. This in small measure is illustrative of what God did through Jesus for mankind. We are told in Cripture that He endured the shame of the cross in order to redeem mankind. Here was God going through the humiliation and shame of dying in a manner that was repulsive to His chosen people.Israel. The very people Jesus came to save. And the message coming from the sacrifice of Jesus was "Fear Not." The angel said to Joseph, "Fear not Joseph, to take unto thee Mary thy wife." And is saying to mankind through Jesus, "Fear not anyone and everyone, to take unto thee Jesus thy Saviour." God reached down into the world pick mankind out of the depths and His message is, "Fear Not, for I have loved thee with an everlasting love. Fear not!"

"Fear Not, Shepherds"

Scripture: Luke 2:8-20

(Illustration of Christmas play and actors elsewhere)

A man tells that his daughter was selected to portray Mary in a Christmas pageant. On the morning of the first rehearsal they overslept and he got his daughter there late. The director listened to their apolories and then wearily said, "It doesn't matter. Joseph went ice-fishing and the shepherds have hockey practice.

Well fortunately for us the first the deris weren't pffxer at hockey practice or some other pursuit of entertainment. They were at their jobs and God was able to use them. This morning we are locking the last individuals to hear from the Angel about the birth of Jesus.

Our Scripture begins with the Eth verse of the 2nd chapter of Luke. It is there that we read, "And there were in the same country shepherds abiding in the field, keeping watch over their flock by night."

Luke explains that a group of shepherds were in the same area near Bethlehem which is what he means by being"in the same country." These shepherds were doing the work which was theirs. Their job didn't end with the five-o'clock whistle. Theirs was an around the clock job. But more importantly, these shepherds were probably very special people for the Jews. That the Messiah was to be born in Bethlehem was a known fact as prophesied in the book of Micah. It was also believed that the Messiah was to be revealed from what the Jews called, "The tower of the flock." This was not to be just the ordinary watchtower for the ordinary flocks around Bethlehem, but was to be from the flocks which lay very close to town. T, ese flocks were tended by special shepherds because these sheep were destined for the temple sacrifices. The sheep as well as the shepherds had to be srecial. And since the shepherds were special, they had special privileges that exempted them from the legal observance of the Jewish religious code.

is these shepherds were about the tark of benling the cheep which would be at the very place where the Messiah was to be born, used for the lord came upor them and the clory of the lord shone round about them: and they were sore afraid."

One of the problems with this verse has always been that the main portion of it has always been downplayed. We studied about Zacharias, and Mary, and Joseph each being visited by the angel of the Lord. But in none of those instances did we read what is found in this 9th verse. Look at it carefully, it says, "And, lo, the angel of the Lord came upon them." But then Luke adds. "And the glory of the Lord shone round about them." Nowhere else do we read of this taking place in the lives of Zacharias, Mary, or Joseph. In those in instances it just says the angel appeared to them. But here wexare the Light of God is being talked about. Throughout the history of the Jews God's Light played an important role in their lives. God went before them in the promise land as a "Fillar of Fire," and as a "Cloud." Then He appeared in the Tabernacle shining on the Mercy Seat. His Clory filled the temple in Jerusalem, later on. In all of these instances we are talking about what was called the "Shekinah Glory." It was God's supernatural presence which nften appeared as Light. And isn't it ironic that at the announcement of the birth of Jesus the Light of the world, God should announce it with His own Light of Glory? Thus we can readily see why the shepherds were, "Sore afraid." They knew they were in the presence of Almighty God, Mand not just an angel. "And the angel said unto them, 'Fear not: for behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people."

The message is the same as the angle Gabriel had delivered to the others. "Fear not, Theoherds." The duty of Gabriel was to convey fod's message and to allay any fears the receiving people may have because of this.

the metage was, "For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Shvist the Lord."

The city of David was beinheleem as the shepherds well knew, and the announcement gave them the assurance of that what had been prophesies about this dose in as now come to pass. After all the years of waiting had bed bent Him. This news was to be for all people which made the shepherds aware that this announcement was not just to them.

They were told, "And this shall be a sign unto you; Ye shall find the babe wrapped in swaddling clothes, lying in a manger."

This narrowed the field quite a bit for them. If this baby were born in a regular house, He certainly wouldn't be found in a manger. And where was a manger found? Someplace where there were animals to be fed. So they knew they had to look for a barn or stable to find this baby. But before they could go in search of this child, "And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God and saying, "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men."

All of God's domain was joined in the joy that the Messiah had come to earth, and the very heavens rang with that song of praise. And just as quickly as they had come, "It came to pass as the angels were gone away from them into heaven, the shepherds said one to another, 'Let us now go even unto Bethlep hem, and see this thing which the is come to pass, which the Lord has made known unto us."

And so they set off for the town of Pethlehem. The son was ended, the light was gone and they were alone. 'e don't know how much trouble these common shepherds had finding the stable in which Jesus was to be found, but I believe we can be certain that God directed them in some way that they didn't have a difficult search for Him. Just as sure as the angel appeared to them, I believe the angel directed them to the exact spot where Jesus was in Bethlehem. But with our scientific thinking we discount things like ministering angels.

In his book "Angels, God's Secret Arents," Billy Graham relates an incid-ent about some Marines during the Korean War. A group of Marines were trapped up North. The temperature was around 20 degrees below zero. They were close to freezing to death and had not had anything to eat for six days. Furrender to the Chinese seemed to be their only hope. One of the men was a Christian and he talked to the men about the Bible and told them of Scriptures of hope. He even taught them a song of praise to God. Thortly after this they heard a crashing sound in the brush and they saw a wild boar charging toward them. They all moved to get out of his way, and one of them raised his rifle to shoot, but before he could the boar dropped over dead. That night they had roasted meat. The next morning at daybreak they heard another noise and they thought a Chinese patrol had found them. But it turned out to be a Korean who spoke english and he said, "I'll show you the way out." He led them through the forst and the mountains to safety behind their own lines. When they looked around to thank him, he had vanished.

Was he an angel God had sent to deliver them from their enemies? The knows? I'm sure everyone may form an opinion of something like this. But I personally believe that God does indeed send angels at many times during our lives to direct us.

ifter the shepherds came to the stable we learn, "and when they had seen it they made known abroad the saying which was teld them concerning this child. what was the saying which was told them concerning this child? It was the message the angel gave them, "For unto you is born this day in the city of David, a Saviour which is Christ the Lord."

The Messiah had come. He was no longer to be looked for or anticipated. It was no longer, "Someday the Lord will come." That moment had arrived and the shepherds were overcome by it. But more so we learn, "and all they that heard it wondered at those things which were told them by the hspeherds."

This news was too much for the average person. They were amazed, they marvelled, they wondered at what was told them. It was too good to be true. Luke tells us, "But Mary kept all these things and pondered them in her heart Mary knew what she had been told by the angel and how she had been entrusted by God with this special task. Now she thought about what she had to do in future days to bring this Messiah to adulthood. We can be certain that she took her newfound role of a mother very seriously.

Luke adds, "And the shepherds returned, glorifying and praising God for all the things they had heard and seen as it was told them."

These men had been privileged to see and hear heavenly things and for this they praised and glorified God. We don't read of it in Scripture, but quite probably these men asked the same question that Mary asked, and Zacharias asked, and Joseph asked, "How is this possible? Why me?"

(Illustration of shepherd in Montana and miving him an "1")

A Montana sheepherder wrote to a radio station in Chicaro with a strange request. He said he lived alone with his dog, 4000 sheep, a battery radio and a violin. He loved to listen to the symphony orchestra and wished he could play along with it with the parts he knew, but his violin was out of tune. He asked, "Sometime before you start the next program would you have the orchestra play A for me?" Just before the next Chicago Symphony broad-cast, thousands of startled listeners heard these words, "The orchestra will now play "A" for a sheepherder in Montana."

This is exactly what God did. He provided the answer ofr every lonely heart with the birth of Jesus Christ. The only thing keepimexeepietexexter many people had was the hope of a Saviour to come. To the lonely shepherds God gave them the one thing they needed. He tuned their lives to Himself by sending their long looked for and awaited deliverer. It was to the common, the ordinary that God God gave the message. Why did God do this?

(Illustration of Camden, Maine paper and two pictures, reversed captions) In Camden, Maine the newspaper ran two pictures onwthe same pape. One was of the town officials and the other of a flock of sheep. Unintentionally the captions were reversed. Under the picture of the sheep the caption identified them EX left to right as town officials. Shile the EXE caption under the photo of the town fathers grouped around a table read, "The sheep Fold - naive and vulnerable, they huddle for security against the uncertainties of the outside world."

Now even though that was a mistake, there is more truth to it than possible if it had been inher ional. Isn't every person in this life like a sheep in need of a sherherd? Aren't all people lost without a Saviour? And you see, this is precisely what God saw in mankind. This was the meed lowers filfilling in Jeus Christ. I believe this is why all of it came about and through common men and common means. Had it happened any other way, it would not have been as acceptable. Extrant Paul sums it up in his letter to the church in Corinth where he states in the first chapter of his first letter, "But God hath chosen the foolish things of the world to confound the wise; and God hath chosen the weak things of the world to confound the things that are mighty." vs 27.

God has visited mankind in such a simple way and His message is, "Because of this, Fear Not."

"Who Would Have Thought?"

Scripture: Luke 2:7A

Picture if you will, an elderly man approaching a table of a small sidewalk cafe in Jerusalem. At the table is another man and the conversation begins. Hi, mind if I sit down? It's nice to find someone who is a little congenial which is a rare commodity these days. My name's Samuel. I'm glad to meet you John. This year has certainly been an eventful one for me and it is one which I shall not forget too easily. What makesxitxes has made it so eventful? Do you really want to know? Don't say I didn't warn you in case you get bored. I suppose I should start at the beginning, but there are so many loose ends. Let me begin by saving that I'm a retired shepherd. The years I spent watching sheep were years I enjoyed. One reason was that I had the privilege of tending the sheep which were used for the temple sacrifices. The priests and the 'abbi's weren't too difficult to deal with as long as we made sure the sheep remained unblemished while in our care. And ouite truthfully, we had it made because we could dispense with much of the strict observance of the law. Our hours were such that it was impossible to attend Sabbath worship and the feast days. So we were granted the privilege enjoyed by very few. We were an elite group in that respect.

- So after watching sheep all of my life I have had the distinction of being able to retire just as the priests and Rabbis do. But my experiences are memories I will treasure for years to come. But back to what made this year so special. This past Spring is where it all started. I came to Jerusalem to celebrate the lassover. This town was absolutely packed and to make matters worse, the Jewish authorities were having some sort of dispute with the Remans oversome criminals. I had eaten my breakfast and was wandering around enjoying the sights and sounds of the growded city when I was drawn to the Temple area by the large crowd gathered there. Upon closer inspection I discovered that some sort of trial was being held in the souare in front of the judgement seat of the Roman Procurator. I elbowed my way to the front as far as I could go and it was then that my suze became fastened upon two men. One of the men was the prisoner a man named Jesus. The other, was the Roman Frocurator a man named lontiur Pilate. What struck me was that both men were about the same are. The only distinction between them was naturally their manner of dress, but also their demeanore as they both portrayed their individual roles. Perhaps the word "Role" is not cuite right, since neither of them were playacting.
- I had heard some things prior to my retirement as I watched and tended the sheep just on the outskirts of Bethlehem about this Roman. You know, the usual stuff about who he was, where he came from, what he was supposed to be like. H had come to Jerusalem and within a short period of time he had engendered the wrath of the Jewish populace. When he marched into Jerusalem he had done so with each legion carrying the standards on which were emblazoned the image of Caesar Augustus. Atop the standards was the golden eagle of Rome. He had to know full well that this was in complete defiance of all Jewish tradition and particulary it was an insult because of the Mosaic Code which stressed not having idols or images. The Jewish authorities complained to him and when they received no results, they aired their complaint to Rome. In the meantime, I; late had surrounded a large group of the more militant Jews and when he threatened to kill all of them, they simply laid on the ground baring their necks, so the Roman soldiers could slash their throats. Talk about nerve! Pilate didn't dare kill all of them or he would have had a mass insurrection on his hands. So he told them to disperse which they did. Chortly thereafter he received word that he was to remove the Roman standards from Jerusalem and the Temple area and take them to his summer residence at Ceasaria where they were to remain. 'o the Jews had won a battle of sorts, but not the war because it engendered in Pilate a deeper hatred for them than he had before. lilate had been a protege of Sejanus who was one of the most ardent anti-Jewish men to arrive in Jerusalem. But just as he was at his highest point of power, Tiberias had him slain and many of his followers with him. Fince Pilate was one of these followers, his situation became a limite precarious. This was one reason he handled the situation with Jesus in such a fingerly fashion. fo it became an interesting observation to see the manuvering taking place between Filate and this Jesus. Or at least, Pilate thought it was maneuvering.

But there was lilate, the Roman Governor in his most cplendid attire seeking to gass correct judgement on this Jew. And there was Jesus bedraggled and worn from his rodeal of a trial and beating, but looking more like a King than Pilate. Pilate's questions were sharp and to the point. While the answers of Jesus were cuiet and subdued. What he said was without force or impact and yet, it was easy to see who was the real master of the situation. But since he controlled the destiny of every prisoner, and since he could not take the chance of offending the Emperor, Filate bound Jesus over to the Roman soldiers to be executed.

It was interesting for me to make comparisons because I knew much about this Jesus and had rathered much about Filate. They were a study in contrasts. Their ages were very close to being the same. Put there the similarities ceased. Filate had been born a Roman and educated in the Roman schools. He had shown promise so that he was singled out for a role of leadership. He had started at the bottom gradually working his way up until he had reach ed this pinnacle as governor. He had had all of the advantages which being a Roman citizen entitled him to.

Jesus on the other hand had come from very simple circumstances and this is the unique thing which made this past year so interesting. I had lost track of some events which took place many years and. It was in the winter near the end of December and I was with a group of shepherds tending sheep very close to the town of Bethlehem. A census had been called by Cyrenius the governor in order to get more taxes for Rome. Bethlehem, like all towns was packed with people. This one particular night was cold and crisp and we welcomed the warnth of a fire. Only one thing had stood out from all the other events and that was one brilliant star had been shining in the eastern sky for sometime. But since we didn't study the stars too much we just observed it being there and let it go at that. We wpeculated that it probably had some significance but other than that we didn't know.

Our silent watch was interrupted by a brilliant light around us and the appearance of an angel in our midst. Naturally we were completely terrified. The angel tried to put us at ease by telling us that we were the recipients of good news. His message had to do with the coming of the Messiah. We had all heard of the prophecies of His coming, but no one ever thought He would come in this manner. That manner as it turned out was that He was born in a stable somewhere in Pethlehem. Naturally, all of this didn't add up to what was expected of this Messiah's coming. But since we were singled out for this news we decided it was worth investigating. After the angel departed from us and the heavenly light had gone out, and the heavenly choir was gone, we tried to calm ourselves and make some sense of this news. To say we were frightened, would be to put it mildly. After some time we decided we should investigate, which we did.

W seemed to be drawn to a certain part of Bethlehem and when we arrived, after futher incuiry we were directed to a stable in back of an inn. There we found a newborn baby had been laid to rest in a manger. The mother's name was Mary we learned and her husband was named Joseph, a cargenter. They were from Nazareth. So if this was the Messiah, we saw Hin firsthand and we bowed before Him and accepted Him on that basis. Later we heard that He was born completely of God through God's Folge wirt' facing Him within this virgin, Mary.

Will, one day followed another and the years rolled by and nothing seemed to be different for any of us. Then, about three years are we began to hear of m someone coinc from town to town and village lock magnetic ordereds things. He was called a faith healer, a marician, a sorcerer and all sorts of things. But one thing was certain, He was performing miracles and there were plenty of people to prove it. It was then I learned His name was Jesus-and upon further investigation 1 discovered We was the higher had been cold about and had visited in Bethlehem. This made it all the more interesting for me. So I watched with interest as His career unfolded in time. From time to time I had to go to Jerusalem to deliver sheep and on several occasions I saw Him and heard Him preaching and teaching there. He certainly was authentic appearing. And it was because of His claim to the Messiahship that He got into difficulties with the Jewish authorities, which culminated in His death.

But the most startling event took place following His death and that was He literally came back to life. I saw Him and heard Him and this removed any doubts I may have had about His being the Messiah. And all of this drew me back to the day of His birth. I couldn't help but make the comparison between Him and Filate. Now, I never saw the baby Filate, but I did see the baby Jesus. And I'm sure as babies they were very similar as all babie are. I thought back of how I had held the little hand in mine and "who would have thought" that little hand could touch disease, or illness and remove it from that person; or who would have thought He would stretch forth that hand to bring someone back to life; or who have thought that baby woulddie on behalf of others? Or who would have thought that a similar pudry little hand would be used to pass sentence on the life of another man to have him put to death? And so you see John, this has been some year for me. But you say it has also been cuite a year for you? You were with Him as one of His followers? And here I am telling you about Him. Well, who would have thought that we could share this good news and with the telling pass it on? The message of the angel has come to pass, "For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord."

Scripture: James 4:13-17

(Illustration of time like a football same, figured in a year) I'm sure we are all familiar with the same of football and how the clock is used to prolong time. Not too many years and it took approximately five minutes to run off the last two minutes of play. But professional teams have perfected thi to a science and it takes approximately twentyfive minutes to run the last two rinutes off the clock. Now if we firured the year in a sixty minute cycle, each minute would take about six days and that would mean that we are now living in the Tast two minutes. The final two minutes of 1985 started on the 20th and the clock is slowly winding down.

Someone has anonymously written:

The clock of life is wound but once.

- And no man has the power
- To say when the hands will stop;
- At late or early hour.

Regardless of who we are, time ofr each of us is of the essence.

(Illustration of Jeanne Doering, and letter to her dad) A girl named Jeanne Poering tells know about her father. Her mother had recently died leaving him alone and she was scheduled to start graduate school in the fall, which would leave him all alone. The told how he had school in the fall, which would leave him all alone. The told how he had given up a very secure job to move his wife to California so her asthmatic condition would be helped by the warm climate and how he had tended his wife through all of her illnesses until she died. Now he would be all alone, but Jeanne had to go on with her life. The felt the need to write him a letter and tell him her inner most thoughts and feelings. So she wrote: Dear Daddy, I know this will be a very lonely September 29 for you without Mom. I wish I could be there to comfort you. I greatly miss her too, and as I write this the tears are coming so fast I have to blot my face every few words. I don't know what it's like to celebrate an anni-versary with one you love. Though I would like desire to be married, God has not granted that privilege. But We did grant it to you and som, and along with it He sent the sorrows and joys that stretched you, refined you, and perfected you." (T'en she wrote some personal things about the family), and then added: "While we wait-either for the hope of Mic calling or the hope of Mis coming - we can wait confidently that neither death nor life things present or things to come...anything...in fact, nothing shall be able to separate us from the love of God, which is in Christ Jesus our Lord. I love you in a deep way...and God loves you infinitely. Jeanne."

Time! How do we spend it? It seems that there is never enough time to do the things we want to do. Dutx20dxsxxxxxxdoxbauexting But how often do we make our plans apart from the will of God? In fact, how often do we include God in the plane we make? This is the issue James was dealing with in the portion of cripture we are looking st this morning.

"Vinding Down"

Coripture: James 4:14-17

źłłżwetratienzefzWictorzRorzezandzhiszężenozbeżnązebłeztoztelłztirejz If the year were reckoned in time like the same of football reckons time, we would be working and living in the twoxxingte last two minutes of the game. In fact, the final two minutes started on the 20th

James was speaking to businessmen, who were probably Christians because the words in verse 17, imply they knew right from wrong, when he writes, "Therefore," which means all that has gone before is now summed up here. "Therefore to him that knoweth to do mood, and doeth it not, to him it is sin." The businessman, or men, is a typical person doing what he thinks must be done without any thought given to God at all. James begins the J3th works with the words, "Go to now," which actually means, Xixtenxnex "Now listen." "Fow listen, we that say, 'Today or tomorrow we will go into such a city and and continue there a year, and buy and sell, and get gain.""

Isn't this the usual procedure? Don't we say, "I'm moine to do this or that. without may thought that the Lord may have other plans for us?

James adds, "Thereas ye know not what shall be on the morrow. For what is your life? It is even a vapour, that appeareth for a little time, and then vanisheth away."

There are no guarantees that tomorrow is promised to us. 'e can make all the plans we want to for tomorrow, but tomorrow may never come. Remember the parable Jesus told of the man who tore down his barns and built binner and better ones and then thought that he could relax and take life easy? Jesus said of him, "Tonight, thy soul shall be required of thee, then they will itess to " James said, "For that ye ought to say, 'If the Lord will, we shall live, and do this, or that."

" need to add to our plans, "Tod willing," is what James is saying. There is nothing wrong with plans or making plans as long as this isn't all that our lives consist of. Jesus knew that we cannot just live for this present moment that we must make some provisions for later. But with some people tomorrow becomes an obsession and all of life is spent making the future secure because of "What if?"

Then James adds that these businessmen prided themselves on their plannings and plans and he says, "But now ye rejoice in your boastings: all such rejoicing is evil."

They planned and executed shrewd deals and then they bragged about them. Again, there is nothing wrong with making good deals, but to glory in how shrewd a wheeler-dealer one can be is to glory in self and this is sin. And this is exactly what James was saying as he ends this chapter, "Therefoe, to him that knoweth to do good, and doeth it not, to him it is sin."

If a person knows right from wrong and persists in doing the wrong, it is sin and there is not excuse before Cod.

A we ponder the message God was trying to impart through James I believe it is self-evident that how we spend DEEX our time is all important. Sime should have special meaning because it in given by God. But how do we trust God with time?

(Illustration of God's providence questioned) youn man who needed tirty financial help while preparing to no into Christian service prayed that the Lord would help him.

Le next day he received a large check in the mail which helped him to further his studies. He was very happy that God had answered his prayer. But then he looked at the postmark on the letter and saw that it had been written several days before his prayer and he was disappointed. But he was reading Isaiah 65 a short time afterward and in the 94th verse read, "And it shall come to pass, that before they call, I will answer; and while they are yet speaking, I will hear."

God knows our circumstances. He will provide for all of our needs, but we must be willing to trust Him for that providence. His providence must also comes according to His timing, not ours.

As we think of time, we must think of all that Cod has done for us and given us this year almost ended. hat has happened this year for you from God? An unknown writer puts it this way: That do you have this year you didn't have last year? A bill paid off? Food in the freezer? A job? You reached a goal? A savings account? A new baby? The did you thank for it? God? xiixxixxixixxxxx Or Master Charge?

Ill of these things are gifts from God in Mix Fire. And how do we spend the time He gives us? As the year is "Minding Down" and WEXNEXEXING the final seconds are ticking away, what could we have done that we didn't? Who could we have helped?

(Conclusion of illustration of Jeanne Deering and letter to her father) e had shared a letter a sirl named Jeanne Deering wrote to her father. Ifter she had mailed it, the wondered if her father had read it. About ten weeks after he got it he died of a heart attack. Jone friends told her he had shared it with them and he had cried. But she wondered if it meant anything to him. She had to wuit graduate school to come home and straighten out the affairs at home. The began sorting through everything and disposing of things little by little. As she moved among her mother and father's possessions, she didn't run across the letter. Had he destroyed it because it upset him so much? January went past, then February, and in March she began to clean out the closet in which the luggage was stored. She took down a battered old suitcase her father always used. In fact, he had used it on a short trip just a week before his death. The opened it and in the pocket of the suitcase was her letter. He had taken it with him and had read it over and over because it was dor eared from use. The said she cried amain, but thi time it was tears of thanks that she had written and told her father of her love - in time.

.hat have we delayed doing that should be done? The have we neglected telling of our love? The have we neglected to tell of the Daviour's love? Time is "inding Down" as each second is ticked off the clock. But that time can be well spent if we use it as God intended.

PERSONAL TESTIMONY

Ralph C. Link

I am the youngest of five children. I was born just prior to the onset of the Depression. Our family was very poor. My father was an alcoholic and my mother was a very religious person who was searching for the Lord. During my childhood she did her best to teach me the things of the Lord. Later in life she came to a personal relationship with Him.

I grew up in the Evangelical and Reformed Church where salvation by grace alone was not preached nor taught. I knew all about Jesus, what He did, how He lived, His miracles, His death and resurrection, but I didn't know Him personally.

My life had many ups and downs and all the while I was attending church and striving with my good works to please God. At a very low point in my life when we were deeply in debt and my wife and three children were all ill, I came to the crossroads. I watched a Billy Graham Crusade on television from some distant city and the message he preached seemed to be directed right at me. I wrestled with making that commitment to Christ, but didn't. The next afternoon and evening at work on the 4 to 12 shift I came to the conclusion that I needed to make that commitment to Christ. It seemed like there was no other choice if life was to have any meaning. That night when I came home from work at 1:00 A.M., I laid face down on the living room floor and told God that I couldn't live my life in my own strength and I accepted the gift of salvation from my Savior Jesus Christ. My life has never been the same.

Through several meaningful circumstances I was called by God to serve Him in the Christian Ministry and to help spread that wonderful message of salvation through the shed blood of Jesus Christ. What a wonderful and rewarding time it has been and I give Him all the praise for my salvation and the opportunity to serve Him.

STATEMENT OF FAITH

Ralph C. Link

I believe the Bible, both the Old and New Testaments to be the inspired inerrant Word of God. I believe the Bible is the complete revelation of His will for the salvation of men and it is the final authority for the Christian faith and life.

I believe in one God, who is eternally existent in three persons: Father, Son and Holy Spirit.

I believe in the Diety of the Lord Jesus Christ that He is true God and true man. I believe that He was born of the Virgin Mary, that He lived in sinless life, that He performed the miracles recorded in Scripture, that He died on the cross as a sacrifice for our sins, that He bodily arose from the dead, that He ascended on high where He is at the right had of Almighty God as our intercessor.

I believe in the Holy Spirit and that He comes and indwells each believer at the time of conversion. I believe that He lives in each believer to lead, to instruct, and to convict so that a believe may live a more godly life.

I believe that through the shed blood of Jesus Christ and through His resurrection, this is the only ground for justification and salvation for all who receive Him A Lord and Savior and to such as receive Him, they are born of the Holy Spirit and become children of God.

I believe water baptism and the Lord's Supper are ordinances of the Church but are not means of salvation.

I believe in the personal and premillennial and imminent coming of the Lord Jesus Christ.

I believe in the resurrection of the dead, for the believer to resurrection of life and joy with the Lord, for the unbeliever to resurrection of judgement and everlasting punishment.
